Hart Gives Arraignment Order in Case of Man Held.

PRATT IS SATISFIED BY CAPTAIN'S STORY

Precinct Head Denies Attack on District Attorney Over Rum Issue.

Holding that a "speak-easy" is a public place, Assistant United States Attorney David Aiken Hart, who is in charge of prohibition enforcement in the Police Court, yesterday ordered the arraignment of Frank J. Smith, 23 years old, who was arrested Thursday by Third Precinct police in a warrantless raid admittedly designed as a test case. Later, Maj. Henry G. Pratt said Capt. William G. Stott's explanation of the raid was satisfactory.

Smith pleaded not guilty to a charge of first offense possession, as of March 5, a charge of second offense possession, as of March 27, and a charge of nuisance since January 1. He demanded trial by jury and Judge Isaac R Hitt fixed his bond at $1,000. Smith was represented by Attorney Denny Hughes.

Mr. Hart praised Capt. Stott for his initiative in making the raid and said the Government would prosecute the case to the limit.

Ownership Is Questioned.

He announced that due to the fact that Smith was said to have told the police he did not own the establishment on Eighteenth street near L street, but was merely "selling liquor" for a man who was out of town, he had instructed the police to ascertain the identity of the owner if possible and to place him under arrest. Smith refused to divulge the name.

Mr. Hart explained that due to Smith's alleged statement he could not plead that his constitutional rights had been violated by fact of the police action in raiding without a warrant. "That plea can only be made in the case of the owner of the establishment," the prosecutor said. He also pointed out that Smith does not live at the address.

Mr. Hart indicated that efforts would be made to learn if the owner of the premises was aware that the prohibition law was being violated on his property in which event he, too, would be prosecuted.

Record Shows Recent Arrest.

A check-up of records in Mr. Hart's office yesterday revealed that Smith had been arrested March 5 on a charge of nuisance and possession and this led to the booking of the second offense charge as an aftermath of Thursday's raid.

The inquiry into the warrantless raid by the Third Precinct captain, begun yesterday by Maj. Pratt was brought to a quick conclusion by a statement from Capt. Stott and the action of the district attorney's office in issuing papers in he case.

Capt. Stott in a report to Inspector T. R. Bean declared that he had been misquoted in a news story appearing in a morning paper in which was attributed to him a declaration that he intended to "go to the mat" with the district attorney's office. He made no such statement, Capt. Stott reported, adding that he had been correctly quoted in yesterday morning's issue of The Post.

Cosgrave's Ministry Quits Following Two Adverse Votes in Dail.

HIS REELECTION LIKELY

Dublin, Irish Free State, March 28 (A.P.). — William T. Cosgrave, president of the executive council of the Irish Free State and head of the oldest ministry in postwar Europe, announced the resignation of his government today as a result of its defeat by two votes on an oppositon pensions bill in the Dail Eireann last night. The Dail then adjourned until next week.

The prevailing opinion in political circles tonight was that he almost certainly would be reelected president of the council when the Dail reassembles on Wednesday.

Under the novel, and still experimental, ministerial system of the Free State, the way is open for his reelection. Resignation of a government does not necessarily result in a general election, and since Mr. Cosgrave's voting strength in the Dail was not really impaired by his defeat yesterday, there will be no call to the country.

The chief opposition party, the Fianna Fail, which has 57 members in the Dail, has sent for its leader, Eamonn De Valera, now in the United States. Sean T. O'Kelly, leader of the Fianna in Mr. De Valera's absence, who called on Mr. Cosgrave to resign after the defeat yesterday, announced that the Republicans would nominate Mr. De Valera for the presidency of the council.

The appearance of a third candidate tonight, in the person of T. J. O'Connell, parliamentary leader of the Irish Labor party, decidedly decreased Mr. De Valera's chances of being elected. The Fianna Fail, outnumbered by the followers of Mr. Cosgrave, must have the help of the Labor votes.

According to the Free State constitution, the president of the executive council, which is responsible to the Dail and usually consists of six or seven ministers, is selected by the Dail. Candidates are nominated in the Dail and the voting goes on until some one obtains a majority.

The present composition of parties gives a decided advantage to the

"Places Property Rights Above Human Ones," Green Says.

Mining Injunction Case Decision Centers Opposition.

BORAH AND NORRIS STUDYING RECORD

Despite Protests, Friends See Confirmation to Supreme Bench.

(Associated Press.)

President Green, of the American Federation of Labor, announced last night that the organization would oppose confirmation of Judge John J. Parker, of North Carolina, to be an associate justice of the Supreme Court.

Examination of Judge Parker's decisions as a member of the Federal Circuit Court of Appeals by labor officials, Mr. Green said, showed "that he placed property rights above and superior to human rights."

The decision of Judge Parker in the Red Jacket injunction case was the target of labor's criticism. In this decision, Mr. Green contended that Judge Parker "approved an injunction which virtually reduced the conditions of the miners in West Virginia to a point approximating industrial servitude."

Senator Overman (Democrat), of North Carolina, chairman of the judiciary subcommittee considering the Parker nomination, said he would grant a hearing to the labor officials. He will call the committee together, probably next Tuesday or Wednesday, after the senate reconvenes.

Borah Studies Decisions.

Senator Borah (Republican), of Idaho, a member of the subcommittee, has been giving close scrutiny to the Parker decisions in labor cases. He was not prepared last night to announce his conclusions. Chairman Norris, of the judiciary committee, also has been studying the Parker case, but he, too, was not ready to announce his views.

A protest against Judge Parker also was received yesterday from the Conference for Progressive Labor Action through its president, A. J. Muste, of New York.

Prior to opposition from labor there appeared to be a clear road ahead for Judge Parker's confirmation in the Senate. Despite protests against him some of his friends are confident of confirmation.

The statement of Mr. Green follows:

"The American Federation of Labor will oppose the confirmation of Judge John J. Parker, of Charlotte, N. C., for appointment as a member of the Supreme Court of the United States. This opposition of the American Federation of Labor is based upon the judicial record of Judge Parker as a member of the United States Circuit Court for the Fourth District.

Death of Two Wives Of Major Under Quiz

Inquiry Into Passing of First Mrs. Shepard Is Launched.

Denver, March 28 (A.P.).—Department of Justice agents tonight began an investigation into the alleged mysterious death in California seventeen years ago of the first wife of Maj. Charles A. Shepard, Army surgeon accused of poisoning his second spouse at Fort Riley, Kans., last June.

The first Mrs. Shepard is said by her brother, James Childs, of Needles, Calif., to have died "under mysterious circumstances while Shepard was enamored of another woman."

Childs, who wrote Sardius M. Brewster, United States district attorney for Kansas, requesting an inqury into his sister's death, was quoted as saying she was seized with spasms while eating breakfast and died nine days later.

Maj. Shepard, held in jail here pending action by the Federal grand jury in Kansas in connection with the charge that he killed his second wife, vigorously denied there was any mystery in the California death. He refused to go into detail.

The 50-year-old Army officer, a Canadian by birth, married Clara E. Childs, at Lewiston, N. Y., in 1897. Four years after her death in 1913, he married a second time.

The allegation that the first wife died while Shepard was "enamored of another woman" and the history of her fatal illness as reported by her brother, parallel in some respects the alleged circumstances surrounding the death of the second Mrs. Shepard.

The second Mrs. Shepard died at Fort Riley after being treated for an illness by her husband. Post authorities became suspicious and had an autopsy performed over Maj. Shepard's protest. Traces of poison are reported to have been found in the vital organs.

In denying that he poisoned his wife, Shepard said she was a "victim of an unfortunate habit." He has not outlined his defense, but it is reported he will contend that his wife drank liquor to excess and that the poison reported to have been found in her viscera probably resulted from a mouth wash she used in the treatment of "trench mouth."

MARYLAND YOUTH HELD FOR FORGERY

Claude B. Sweezey, Jr., One of Trio Accused in Money-Order Swindle.

FORMER WARDEN'S SON

New York, March 28 (N.Y.W.N.S.)—Claude B. Sweezey, jr., son of Col. Sweezey, former warden of the Maryland Penitentiary, and Henry A. Lauer, member of a prominent Cincinnati family, are two of three defendants accused of robbing a postoffice and cashing 52 forged money orders. They were presented to the Federal Grand Jury today. The third defendant is George Silberman, alias T. A. Harrison, alias J. F. Thomas.

The operations of the trio, said to have begun March 7, when they left Chicago, where Sweezey stopped with his young wife at the exclusive Park-Dearborn Hotel, for Detroit. There they registered at a hotel under assumed names, according to Federal authorities.

Having stolen a pad of 70 blank money orders from a substation in a Detroit drugstore, the gang, according to Postoffice Inspector Gurnie A Smith, came to New York and registered March 9, at the Hotel Roosevelt.

Within an hour they had passed two blanks, filled in for the maximum of $100 each, upon the management. A postoffice rubber stamp, alleged to have been stolen in Chicago, made the money orders look real. Before the three men checked out of the hotel three days later they had passed 23 more orders for $100 each.

Two days later complaints began to reach the postoffice, and Chief Inspector Clarahan assigned Mr. Smith to the case. Mr. Smith was able to trace back the trail of the trio to Chicago, where he became convinced Sweezey was one of the fugitives. He interviewed Sweezey's bride, but she was certain her husband was an attorney.

The trio, leaving New York, stopped in Pittsburgh, where they cashed ten money orders. Continuing to make quick jumps the band arrived in Cleveland, March 14.

Here advance warnings of their operations had preceded them. A shop-

SECOND EXTORTION CHARGE FACES TRIO

EVIDENCE IS GIVEN JURY

Another charge of attempted extortion at a disorderly house, implicating Fourth Precinct Policeman Ardie Swortzel, James Crotts and John C. Elgin, now awaiting trial for attempted "shakedown" at a disorderly house March 19, is embodied in evidence presented yesterday to the grand jury now in session.

Two Negro women, it was authoritatively learned yesterday, submitted information declared to have linked the three men with an alleged effort to extort so-called "protection money" from a house on T street northwest. According to their story, they followed two men in the case to an automobile, which they claimed was identified as a car owned by Swortzel, now under suspension from the Police Department.

The three men are out on bond of $1,000 each pending trial on extortion charges emanating from their alleged attempt to get $30 from Marie Foster, inmate of a First street house, and the principal witness against the three at a recent preliminary hearing in Police Court. Crott was shot and seriously wounded by Detective S. F. Gravely, who arrested the trio with the assistance of Detective W. F. Burke. Gravely was

Diamonds Worth $900 Are Reported Missing

Jewelry valued at $900 was reported missing last night from the apartment of Mrs. Helen H. McSeney, of the Woodley, 1851 Columbia road northwest.

Mrs. McSeney told the police the jewelry was mislaid or stolen between March 24 and yesterday. The jewelry missing included a lady's yellow gold ring set with a large blue white diamond valued at $450, and one lady's gold ring, diamond shape setting, with three large diamonds across center and surrounded by numerous small diamonds, valued at $450. The case is in the hands of Detectives Weber and Ogle, of police headquarters.

NEGATIVE NAVY PACT PLANNED BY SECRETARY

"Harmless Alliance" to Be New Suggestion of Stimson.

OBLIGATION IS FELT ON POLITICAL TREATY

Under Proposal America Would Aid Article XVI of League.

COVENANT VIOLATOR WOULD GET NO HELP

Another Project Is One to Put Teeth in Kellogg Agreement.

By ALBERT W. FOX.

Secretary Stimson will propose a new form of political pact or "harmless negative alliance."

It develops that both Secretary Stimson and Ambassador Dwight Morrow feel under an obligation to proceed with the political pact discussion because of pledges they made to Prime Minister MacDonald to cooperate with him in a joint plan to break the deadlock at the conference.

There are two proposals, among others, which are being considered by Mr. Stimson and Ambassador Morrow as substitutes for the form of consultative pact which has been abandoned. One is a positive proposal putting teeth in the Kellogg pact. The other is a negative alliance whereby America agrees not to interfere with the carrying out of Article XVI of the League of Nations, as amended to suit France.

Aid Would Be Denied.

The negative form of alliance would pledge America to ally herself with the league powers, against a violator of the league covenant or the Kellogg pact to the extent of denying assistance, financial, economic or otherwise, to the nation or nations opposing the league powers. This latter form of alliance would be more valuable to Europe than any form of consultative pact so far publicly suggested.

President Hoover's attitude toward new suggestions from Mr. Stimson concerning political pacts will be the same as it was last Tuesday, it is indicated. The President will not attempt to curb his Secretary of State, who is in the midst of a delicate and difficult task as head of the American delegates at London. But Mr Hoover will not encourage or indorse proposals which he knows to be contrary to the wishes of the American people and which are doomed in advance to failure in the Senate.

President Hoover had received Mr. Stimson's statement concerning the consultative pact, based on the Pacific treaty, early Tuesday and before the President's opposition to any form of consultative pact became generally known. Mr. Stimson had been insisting that the conference would fail and that America would be blamed for the failure unless something was done to break the deadlock.

Premiers Ready to Work Together.

Mr. MacDonald was ready to yield on the subject of a security pact with France if Mr. Stimson would do his share and yield on a consultative pact. It was not suggested by Mr. Stimson that anything definite would ultimately come of the consultative pact discussion, but it was urged that an abandonment of America's posi-

SECURITY PACT MAZE CLEARED BY U. S. ENVOYS

Washington and London Misunderstanding Is Ironed Out.

TONE OF AMERICANS IS MODIFIED SOME

Any Consultative Treaty Drawn Not to Follow Pacific Accord.

BRITISH AND FRENCH WORKING ON TERMS

Hope of Five-Power Agreement Revived in Face of Gloomy Outlook.

By JOHN L. BALDERSTON.

London, March 28 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—While British and French experts continued today their exploratory work directed toward framing a security agreement mutually acceptable to France and Great Britain, the highest American authority authorized a statement that our delegation has no intention of following the form of the four-power Pacific treaty in any consultative pact which may be concluded here.

A treaty modeled on the Pacific agreement negotiated at Washington in 1921-22 is regarded as far too entangling in relation to European affairs. Article 2 of the Pacific treaty provides that if the right of contracting parties are threatened by any other power, all signatories of the pact shall consult in order to arrive at an understanding.

Attempts were made today in American quarters to make clear that the Ritz Hotel, headquarters of the American delegation here, the White House and the State Department are once more in accord after an admitted misunderstanding.

American Position Defined.

From these explanations the American position regarding a consultative pact, as it stands tonight, may be thus defined unofficially:

1. The United States has not offered and will not offer anybody any consultative pact.

2. Suggestions that such a pact be entered into by America will not be welcomed unless and until the British have accorded France sufficient security to bring the French figures low enough to result in a five-power pact, because an American consultative pact is useless excepting in connection with a five-power agreement.

3. If and when the United States makes a consultative pact it will not obligate America to consult about every European difficuly whether the United States is interested in it or not, and the consultation provided for will be much more limited in character than in the four-power Pacific pact where any serious controversy would force all powers concerned into discussions.

French to Present Security Formula.

The British and French experts who are not regarded as acting for the conference, it is oyicially stated, but upon whose efforts the possibility of a five-power accord depends, did not succeed in their meeting today in doing more than tabulating their respective views regarding article 16 of the league covenant.

On Monday, however, the French are expected to present a security formula arising out of article XVI, making action against an aggressor compulsory instead of optional.

Publication here of Washington dispatches pointing out the confusion resulting from conflicting statements made by high American authorities divided by 3,000 miles have naturally caused some suspicion in British circles that Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald may have been misled by American delegates regarding the consultative pact proposal or suggestion.

Differences Frankly Stated.

Instead of denying that the Ritz and the White House did not see eye to eye on Monday and Tuesday, the

M'FARLAND RESIGNS CHURCH COUNCIL JOB

Quits in Order to Relieve Embarrasment From Movie Connection.

HAD PASSED ON FILMS

New York, March 28 (A.P.).—Bishop Francis J. McConnell, president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, today announced that Dr. Charles S. Macfarland had submitted his resignation as general secretary of the council "with a view to relieving" the council's policy committee of "embarrassment" over services rendered by Dr. Macfarland to the motion picture industry.

Bishop McConnell's statement was made [illegible] Council's administrative committee at a meeting today.

The policy committee reported, Bishop McConnell said, that "while accepting fully Dr. Macfarland's good faith in his course and in his explanation of that course, in its opinion Dr. Macfarland has committed a very great error in taking pay for services rendered the motion picture producers while acting as a salaried officer of the federal council."

Bishop McConnell spoke of "the criticism of some weeks ago which appeared both in the religious and secular press concerning the relation of the federal council to the motion picture industry."

"Certain charges," he said, "were urged against particular persons employed by the federal council. These charges were openly met and statements were made to the public which threw upon the questions involved all the light available to the officers of the federal council itself.

"After these cases had been disposed of, Dr. Charles S. Macfarland, general secretary of the Federal Council, of his own accord came to me, as president of the council, and told me that for a period of some months preceding July, 1929, he had rendered certain services to the motion picture group in the way of reviewing films which the producers were thinking of putting before the public. Dr. Macfarland feels that his viewing films and passing judgment upon them constituted a real service to the producers and to the public. For that service he states that he received through a period of possibly 18 months a moderate compensation."

Acting on the recommendation of the policy committee, the adminis-

Department Head Held as Run Follows Shortage of $285,000.

Northampton, Mass., March 28 (A.P.).—The Hampshire County Trust Co., suffering a shortage of approximately $285,000, closed its doors today less than two weeks after Harold R. Newcomb, manager of its savings department, was arrested charged with theft of its funds.

Newcomb, who of nights was the leader of a popular jazz orchestra, was arrested on March 17, specifically charged with the theft of $15,000. He was held in default of $30,000 bail. The disclosure resulted in heavy withdrawals of deposits, developing to the proportions of a run which resulted in the State banking department taking over the bank's affairs.

An excited group of more than 100 persons, moved by rumors of a shortage, milled about the doors of the banks this morning and it was neces-

Woman Grand Juror Halts Rum Raid to See Warrant

Police Report Finding 10 Quarts of Whisky in Neighbors' Rooms.

A woman member of the present grand jury yesterday halted a liquor raid long enough to demand if the police were armed with a warrant.

Sergt. Oscar J. Letterman reported that he and his squad were raiding an apartment on the seventh floor of an apartment house on S street near Sixteenth street northwest when Mrs. Harry Givens, a member of the grand jury and a neighbor of the couple raided, demanded proof that the raid was being made legally.

The couple arrested gave their names as Eleck Harmon and Mrs. Dona Harmon. They were charged with the possession of ten quarts of whisky, which police say were found in the apartment.

"They live in the next apartment to me and are very dear friends," Mrs. Givens told The Post by telephone "I have nothing more to say."

Sergt. Letterman said that, in addi-

Man Is Held After Alleged Half-Gallon of Liquor Is Sold Officer.

In one of the first cases in months in which a police captain or lieutenant has made a liquor buy in connection with a raid, Fourth Precinct Lieut. F. M. Dent early last night observed two colored men enter a suspicious looking F street shop near First street southwest, followed them, and made a purchase of a half-gallon of liquor, accordnig to his report.

A short time later, armed with a search warrant, he returned to the shop with Detective H. G. Thayer and Policeman John Auffenberg.

William S. Mackell, colored, 32 years old, of First street near I street southwest, was arrested as proprietor and charged with sale of one-half gallon and possession of one pint which they said they salvaged when the man attempted to dump out the contents of bottle during the raid.

frank statement of difference in points of view of Americans here and Americans at home represents the only way of solving the puzzle that has so bewildered opinion on both sides of the Atlantic.

President Hoover, it seems clear, was not fully aware of the consultative pact talk indulged in between Secretary of State Ttimson, Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow, Senator Joseph T. Robinson, Premier MacDonald and First Lord of the Admiralty A. V. Alexander at Downing street Monday morning.

This was because of the time element. MacDonald had given up hope of a five-power agreement and was about to liquidate the five-power conference. American initiative prevented this and despite politics since, the five-power conference still lives and lives only because of the Stimson-Morrow move. If the Americans had waited to argue out the situation with Washington, the conference would have died in the interval.

That much can be told of the inside story of this week. Tuesday's semiofficial utterances in Washington were made in ignorance of what had happened in London, and ever since much time and ingenuity have been expended in restoring the United States front.

Where Difference Lies.

That there has been any friction or any intention on the part of American delegates to act in opposition to the will of the President is wholly untrue. I wrote that with full knowledge. But there is a difference in viewpoint at present, or was until today, and it boils down to this: That Washington last week gave up hope of a five-power agreement and was concentrating on a three-power pact. Similar views were entertained by American delegates here until last week-end, but at present the American delegation as a whole believes a five-power pact possible, while Washington apparently has not changed its opinions as opinions here have changed.

These facts, coupled with the necessity for quick action Monday to save the five-power conference, partially explain the mix-up. Detailed explanations must be withheld. Those who are conversant with all the facts know the divergencies existing are no more serious than indicated in the general terms above, and full explanations, recommendations and warnings are now constantly passing between London and Washington.

It is undeniable, of course, that the tone of the Americans here has been modified by Washington, but the idea of a consultative pact as the coping stone of the conference has not been abandoned and this indicates that there has been no desire on Hoover's part to dictate to the delegation.

New Optimism Is Mystery.

While some of the mysteries dealt with cursorily above may not be particularized, there is a more fascinating and important mystery that can not be explained by any information obtainable by the New York World News Service up to the present. It was stated that the Americans here changed their minds and became optimistic as to a five-power treaty, after all, but throwing up the sponge. Why?

The reaction of MacDonald to the consultative pact suggestion only partially explains the new optimism. Now that our attitude has perforce been modified, with a probable dampening effect on foreign statesmen, who, however, continue to go through security motions, logic and common sense seem to require that the five-power conference having been kept alive beyond its time by extreme measures should now drop the security idea based on illusory hopes and peacefully expire.

The inexplicable fact remains that most intelligent Americans in the best position to know the facts proclaim themselves more optimistic of a five-power agreement today than at any previous time in this conference.

Facts Seem to Point Other Way.

All the facts obtainable by outsiders, however, point directly to the contrary conclusion — the growing opinion here against military commitments, the French demand for security with teeth in it, the hardening of the Italian attitude, the reaction at home against American helpfulness and the uncertain behavior of Japan.

The New York World News Service correspondent could indulge in some guessing as to the possible effect on the Americans of certain influences and the optimism in high foreign circles, but there has been more than enough guessing in press dispatches and it would be impertinent to suggest that American negotiators of world-wide and deserved fame are allowing other optimists or their own fervent wishes to deceive them.

U.S. ENTRY IN COURT IS PLEA OF KELLOGG

THREE-POWER PACT SEEN

New York, March 29 (A.P.).—Frank B. Kellogg, former Secretary of State, expressed a hope tonight that the London naval conference would result in a reduction of armaments, not an increase toward parity.

At the same time, in an address before the League of Political Education in Town Hall, he pleaded for the entrance of the Unied States into he world court.

"I know that the people of this country are hopeful for the success of the London conference," he said, "but I believe it would be unfortunate if there should be a general increase in the aggregate armaments of the world instead of a decrease.

Increase of Armament Hit.

"Increase of armaments of the big naval powers will not meet the situation. It will not convince the world of our intention to keep peace. It will not meet the frequent pledges of nations since the World War to reduce armament. It will not prevent competitive building. I will go far to mainain the whole system of balance of power, of military alliance, and of maintenance of peace by increasing armament.

"In the reduction of armament there is perfect safety. No one or two nations can dominate the world. The control of the seas by one power is now an impossible dream.

"The security of the world can only be obtained by mutual consideration, confidence and the advance of pacific settlement of disputes.

Hope for Three-Power Pact.

"If a five-power treaty can not be made, then I hope they may enter into a three-power treaty on the basis of the tentative understanding between Great Britain and the United States with a reduction of battleships between now and 1936. This would be a step in the right direction and would manifestly save the United States several hundred million dollars over what we would otherwise spend under the present building program and would save Great Britain and Japan corresponding amounts."

Referring to the World Court, Mr. Kellogg said:

"If the United States wishes for the creation of an international court, there is no other way than to join the one now existing and which has been functioning for years.

U. S. Policy Is Upheld.

"It can not be expected that all the rest of the world will subordinate its views to a new creation simply to obtain adhesion of the United States."

He referred to criticisms directed against the American administration for the part it played in the administration of the Kellogg peace pact in warning Russia and China against fighting in Manchuria, saying: "It was certainly the business of the United States to do everything it could to prevent violation of a treaty which it and the other nations had signed."

STIMSON TO URGE NEGATIVE TREATY

Whatever President Hoover may have thought of Mr. Stimson's reasons, it is now indicated that the President was not impressed with the political pact idea but, at the same time, was not disposed to interfere with the Stimson-Morrow program. In other words, the American delegation was left measurably free to work out its own problem. The result of the consultative pact announcement and the reaction among senators here have fully justified President Hoover's position and have made it necessary for Mr. Stimson to abandon his consultative pact and announce this abandonment to the press.

Senator Swanson, ranking Democratic member of the foreign relations committee, yesterday issued a statement emphasizing his unalterable opposition to any form of political pact, harmless, consultative or otherwise. Any such pact is a "snare and a delusion," Mr. Swanson said, adding that such a pact constituies an alliance with the powers of Europe.

Conflicting Contentions Seen.

"In America," said Senator Swanson, "it is contended that it means nothing, that the United States assumes no obligation under such a pact. In Europe it is contended that such a pact would be very effective in furnishing security to France and Italy, and consequently they could afford to reduce their naval strength. Both contentions can not be right. If it means nothing, as claimed in America, it is difficult to understand why the European powers are willing to accept it as a guarantee of security. If it means something, as European nations believe, it involves the United States in political obligations in Europe, which it would be honorably compelled to discharge. If it means nothing as contended in America it is a snare and delusion, giving fancied security to European powers that the United States has no intention of discharging. Great nations in their dealings with other nations should be frank and honorable and should not indulge in creating false hopes.

"A five-power pact of this kind constitutes a special alliance, which both Washington and Wilson warned against. It is a return to the old concert of power that controlled Europe for many years, and which was the father of many wars and many injustices. All political alliances of the past have been camouflaged under the guise of meeting for consultation. Back of them has always been concealed force in order to make effective conclusions reached by the consulting powers."

In concluding his statement, Senator Swanson said:

"It would be far better for the conference to adjourn as suggested in order to meet under more propitious circumstances than to enter into a limited political pact at this tmie."

Detective Is Injured In Automobile Crash

In an accident in front of the Washington Hotel, Fifteenth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest, Fuller L. Arrington, 33 years old, of 4121 Fourteenth street northwest, detective attached to the Fifth Precinct, was slightly cut about the face when his automobile collided with Edward E. Taylor, 50 years old, of Detroit Mich., last night. He refused hospital treatment.

At the First Precinct Taylor was charged with operating a car having District tags with a Michigan permit, and he was released to meet Arrington in court this morning.

FRENCH NAVAL AIMS GET AID IN CHAMBER

"MORAL" PACTS SCORED

Paris, March 28 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—France's security demands as put forward at the London naval conference by Foreign Minister Aristide Briand received indirect support today from Paul Boncour, president of the foreign relations commission of the Chamber of Deputies, in the course of that body's discussion of the bills providing for ratification of the Young plan and The Hague accords.

M. Boncour, who long represented France brilliantly at the League of Nations, declared in favor of agreements backed by force and not by "mere platonic wishes." European security is based on the League of Nations, he said, and it is necessary to increase the league's power to carry out its decisions.

"We must bend all our efforts," he told the chamber, "to turn the League of Nations away from mere moral obligations. It is evident that the league in future will be our only safeguard."

Therefore, he continued, the league and the World Court should develop contacts, forming a solid body of law for the perpetuation of peace, backed by the force to carry it out.

M. Boncour was speaking in favor of ratification of The Hague accords. He combated the argument that France needed to occupy the Rhine to assure continuance of reparations payments from Germany. Under the provisions of the Treaty of Versailles, he pointed out, the Rhine would be evacuated, anyhow. The important consideration, he said, was to have an organization at Geneva sufficiently strong to survey the Rhineland and prevent any form of armament there. For that, he argued, general disarmament was necessary, and simultaneously the League of Nations must have its power increased to oblige obedience to its efforts to maintain peace.

She is survived by her husbnad and three children: Maurice R., of New York; ohn H., of this city, and Mrs. Doris Healy, of Los Angeles.

Marshal Snyder Due for New Term

Hoover to Send Nomination to Senate Next Week; Work Is Praised.

President Hoover has decided to appoint United States Marshal Edgar C. Snyder for another term and will send the nomination to the Senate as soon as that body meets again, it was learned at the White House yesterday.

Attorney General Mitchell told the President that Mr. Snyder had conducted his office in an efficient manner, and to this indorsement was added many others from citizens and lawyers.

Mr. Snyder has been rashal here since 1922. He has been a resident of the District for years, and prior to his appointment as marshal was the Washington correspondent of the Omaha Bee.

Convict at Auburn Is Doomed to Die

Prisoner sI Found Guilty of Stabbing Prnicipal Keeper to Deaht.

Auburn, N. Y., March 28 (A.P.).—A jury here today convicted Anthony Mortelito, Auburn convict, of the murder of Principal Keeper Edward B. Beckwith, who was stabbed at the prison March 5. Sentence of death will be passed March 31.

Mortelito stabbed Beckwith with a secretly fashioned knife as he entered the prison mess hall at noon. There were 43 guards and 875 prisoners in the room at the time.

Beckwith was the third principal keeper to die at the hands of a convict in three years. Mortelito, 31 years old, is serving a twenty years' sentence for a murder at White Plains in 1922.

20,000 IN PROTEST ON U.S. LACE DUTY

Calais Workers Parade in Silent Demonstration Against Tariff.

WAR TIES ARE RECALLED

Calais, France, March 28 (A.P.).—A silent procession of 20,000 marched today in protest of the increased lace duties in the new American tariff measure and to picture to the French nation the seriousness of the threatened industrial crisis.

While this one-third of the population marched the other two-thirds lined the streets in front of the closed stores and cafes.

The parade was quiet—not a banner was flown, not a shout was heard. And afterward a delegation called upon the American Consul to reiterate that there was no thought of hostility toward the United States, but that the demonstration was a simple cry from the heart of a people who were menaced by sudden ruin of their industries. The spokesman said half of the 50,000 persons employed in the lace and allied trades would be out of work if the increases went into effect.

The parade started from "Place Crevecoeur," which means "Heartbreak Place," after Charles Ravissy, vice president of the lace manufacturers' syndicate, had told the assembled thousands through loud speakers that they must be silent and dignified.

He recalled that "during the war, under most violent bombardments, this valiant population continued work to produce beautiful lace of world renown."

"This is our heritage," he said, "the great American Nation would not wish by this unjustified measure to plunge our people into misery. We have hope that the American Senate will not maintain its position. We ask you then to be calm, orderly and silent and not to make a single gesture except to uncover when passing the monument of the soldier dead.

"Remember that Americans fell beside our brothers and that the families of those glorious sons of America will not permit that the sons of our dead suffer injustice."

PARLEY IS DUE SOON ON RETIREMENT BILL

Senate and House Conferees to Meet Next Week, Dale Announces.

TARIFF IS OUT OF WAY

The long-delayed conference between representatives of the Senate and the House on the new Dale-Lehlbach civil service retirement bill will be held early next week.

Announcement to this effect was made yesterday by Senator Porter Dale (Republican), Vermont, chairman of the Senate civil service committee. He had withheld announcement of a meeting time until the tariff bill was out of the way and there seemed no other legislation likely to interfere with the conference.

Senator Dale will head the Senate conferees on the retirement bill. With him will be Senator James Couzens (Republican), Michigan, and Senator Kenneth McKellar (Democrat), Tennessee.

Representative Frederick N. Lehlbach (Republican), of New Jersey, chairman of the House civil service committee, and chief House conferee, has been ready to meet with the Senate conferees ever since the retirement bill passed the House, and so have his fellow conferees—Representative Addison Smith (Republican), of Idaho, and Representative Lamar Jeffers (Democrat), of Alabama.

Once the conferees have reached an agreement on the bill, the Senate and House will ratify it immediately and the bill then will go to the White House.

Inasmuch as it was President Hoover who sponsored the bill, there is no doubt that he will sign it and thus give it the status of a law.

Dietetic Experts Meet at Banquet

National President Is Guest of Honor at Dinner in Capital.

The local American Dietetic Association held a banquet last night in the garden house of the Dodge Hotel with 50 members and guests present.

Miss Anne Boller, national president, was guest of honor and speaker; Miss Grace Bulman, chief dietitian of the Veterans' Bureau, and president of the locla association, presided; Miss Clyde Schuman, head of nutrition service of the American Red Cross, was toastmistress, and Miss Elsie Fitzgerald, dietition at the Episcopal Ear, Eye, Nose and Throat Hospital, was chairman of arrangements.

Others attending were Dr. Lillian Storms, president of the local Home Economics Association; Miss Grace Hunter, dietitian at Walter Reed Hospital; Miss Romena Roberts, chief dietitian at Sibley Hospital; Miss Mary Lindsley, managing director of the Dodge Hotel; Miss Lurena Perrine, secretary of the Dietetic Association, and Miss Alice Edwards, executive secretary of the American Home Economics Association.

Georgia Society Presents Dance

Arlington Hall Glee Club Entertains at First Spring Affair.

The Georgia State Society gave its first dance of the spring season in the roof ballroom of the Washington Hotel last night. The Girls' Glee Club of Arlington Hall, directed by Mme. Vicairns, sang a number of songs. Music for the dance was provided by the Carolinians.

Among those present were Representatives W. W. Larsen, Charles Edwards, E. E. Cox and Charles Rutherford, Senator and Mrs. W. F. George and Lieut. Col. Jacob Miller Kenyon.

Maj. S. G. Greene, assisted by Mrs. H. Wallace Witcover, Maj. Charles Dasher, Mrs. Theodore Tiller and Mrs. A. E. Turner, had charge of the affair.

Senate Hears 4,500,000 Words in Tariff Debate

Boston, March 28 (A.P.).—The story of the troublesome tariff bill was told in statistics tonight by Dr. Alfred P. Dennis, vice chairman of the tariff commission at Washington.

Impressing the ramifications of tariff making upon the Boston Export Club, he cited figures as follows:

20,000 items are embraced in the pending bill.

4,500,000 words spoken on it in the Senate alone.

2,800 pages of Congressional Record devoted to the debate.

2,363 witnesses heard by House and Senate committees.

1,800 pages filled by testimony taken.

2,750 pages filled with additional data.

REPUBLICANS ARGUE PROGRAM ON TARIFF

Leaders, Unable to Agree in Conference, Will Meet Again Today.

G. O. P. BILL IS SOUGHT

Associated Press.

Unable to reach an agreement yesterday on legislative procedure under which the tariff bill is to be considered by the House next week, Republican leaders again will meet with Speaker Longworth today in an effort to eliminate differences of the various factions within their ranks.

Ten months to a day after the House sent the measure to the Senate the powerful steering committee held a long session to discuss the demand for a rule that would satisfy the Republicans, particularly those from Western and Northwestern agricultural States, who desire separate votes on sugar, lumber, cement and shingles. The steering committee is an unofficial group of House Republicans from various States who determine the legislative program of the House.

Although Republican leaders virtually are certain that their 102 majority is sufficient to force the measure directly to conference, regardless of a possible vote of a group of Western representatives, they desire to formulate a rule that would permit separate votes on possibly four controversial items.

On the other hand, leaders are faced by a substantial group of administration followers which is urging the sending of the bill immediately to conference.

Speaker Longworth and Chairman Snell, of the rules committee, have made known that they are not adverse to legislative procedure which would allow separate votes on sugar, shingles, cement and lumber. They have taken the attitude that a rule to enable Western members to place themselves on record on these votes would avert a possible loss of between 30 and 40 Republican votes and would make the measure a strictly Republican bill. They desire a unanimous majority for the bill.

Representative Ramseyer (Republican), Iowa, a leader of the farm bloc, yesterday said he had placed the demands of his group before the leaders. He predicted the rule would permit at least four separate votes.

Walter Johnson, Jr.'s Condition Held Better

The condition of Walter Johnson, jr., son of the manager of the Washington Baseball Team, who was injured March 13 when he was struck by a car driven by George Peter, of Rockville, Md., was given last night at Georgetown Hospital as satisfactory. It was said that he had spent a comfortable day, and also that there was slight possibility of his having his leg amputated, as had been reported yesterday.

The attending physician, Dr. B. C. Perry, stated that the danger was passed, so far as he could see, and that the leg should knit and grow stronger within the next few days. In the meantime Walter, jr., is seeing his friends daily, and attending nurses say that the novelty of being in the hospital has not become boresome to him.

Two Youths Arrested; Accused of $15 Hold-up

As the aftermath of a holdup on the night of March 15 at a shop on North Capitol street, near First street, in which Max Reikes, the proprietor, was slightly wounded, Ninth Precinct police last night placed charges of robbery of $15 and assault with a dangerous weapon against William J. Rogers, 17 years old, of Massachusetts avenue, near Sixth street northeast, and Matthew W. McKinney, 18 years old, of A street, near Seventh street southeast.

Policemen C. C. Stepp and W. B. Satterthwaite took Rogers in custody Monday and McKinney on Thursday. Reikes suffered wounds in his upper arm when two men held him up while he was preparing to close his shop.

Coeds Ask to Govern Selves in State School

Raleigh, N. C., March 28 (A.P.).—Coeds at North Carolina State College do not like student government if the boys have anything to say about the rules.

The Pioneer Club, composed of 72 girl students, has been organized with the purpose of setting up a student government separate from the one which now controls both boy and girl students. A plan of government for girls only has been drawn up and will be submitted to the student council for its decision.

Girl Seriously Hurt When Struck by Truck

Serious injuries were received by Helen Hrbet, 8 years old, of R. F. D., No. 1, Benning, yesterday morning along the Marlboro pike near the District Line, when she was knocked down by a truck operated by Charles W. Pumphrey, of Fourteenth street near W. street southeast, according to Fifth Precinct police.

The child, suffering from internal injuries, injury to the pelvis, and abrasions about the knees and ankles, was admitted to Casualty Hospital.

Car, Rum Seized in Chase.

An automobile and cargo of 144 half-gallon jars of liquor were seized by Fifth Precinct Policeman W. S. Beck early yesterday morning in a lengthy chase, which ended when the unidentified Negro driver deserted the rum car after crashing into a traffic sign at First and B streets southeast.

DEMOCRATS ASSAIL RECORD OF HOOVER

Caraway, Garner and Byrns Bitterly Attack Tariff and Dry Enforcement.

PROSPERITY IS DOUBTED

(Associated Press.)

A triple onslaught upon President Hoover's record in the White House was made last night by Democratic congressional leaders who charged "utter collapse of the administration," disorganization of the Senate Republican majority due to "lack of leadership capacity" and a poor legislative record in Congress.

Senator Caraway (Democrat), Arkansas, and Representative Garner, of Texas, the Democratic leader, made their charges in statements issued through the Democratic national committee, while Representative Byrns, of Tennessee, chairman of the Democratic congressional committee, voiced his contentions in an address over the National Broadcasting Co.'s chain.

The Arkansas senator said President Hoover's assertion in greetings to the Maine Republicans at Bangor, March 27, that the Republican party's record of legislation and administration "justified the continuing confidence of the people," made one doubt whether "to smile or grieve."

Asserting that the telegram was the "most disquieting thing that has come out of the White House," Mr. Caraway asked "what can the country expect—because if he is not aware of the utter collapse of the administration, both legislative and administrative, he is the only intelligent person that is not."

The farmers, the Arkansan said, were in "a bad way" if "one can be satisfied with the legislative achievements of this administration which has to its credit only the so-called farm relief and tariff bills, neither of which promises the slightest relief to oppressed agriculture."

"At this time," Mr. Byrns said, "it appears that the crowning achievement of the early period of the Hoover administration will be the President's signing of the Grundy tariff bill. * * * Now we are advised that the President is quite prepared to accept the Grundy tariff, in face of the revelation before the Senate lobby investigating committee of the processes by which the favored industries obtained the rates they wanted."

Assailing the administration's treatment of prohibition, the Tennesseean described the Law Enforcement Commission as a "caricature of Mr. Hoover's genuine faith in scientific inquiry," and declared that "he had not been true to himself" in dealing with the problem.

Ridiculing the attribution to the Republican party of credit for prosperity, Mr. Byrns said the past year had witnessed an unprecedented number of bank and commercial failures "and the greatest industrial depression we have had for many years."

INDEPENDENT CABS SPURN UNION THREAT

35-Cent Cabmen Challenge Organized Labor to Halt Expansino.

TAXI WAR IS IMMINENT

Replying to the Central Labor Union's promise of blacklist their drivers unless they entered the union, officials of 35-cent cab companies yesterday challenged the union to prevent their expansion if they proved tha they could operate profitably both to the public and to themselves.

The local Chauffeurs' Union recently demanded that the 35-cent companies adopt the 40-per-cent-to-drivers system used by meter cabs in favor of the 50 per cent system that the cut-rate firms have inaugurated. In several instances, however, the 35-cen lines said that they would continue the 50 per cent rate, and would greatly enlarge the number of cabs under their operatiog.

With 500 meter cabs of a normal fleet of 1,600 reported idle, E. C. Rayford, business agent of the union, announced that the situation was "critical." Conditions, he said, were closely analagous to chain store monopolization, and indications are that a cab war of serious proportions will enaue.

Referring to the blacklisting of the 35-cent cab drivers, N. A. James, financial secretary of the Central Labor Union, said that the nonmeter cab companies had informed him that they had no intention of entering the union, and were not interested in union labor.

Mr. Rayford said that congressional action was necessary to effect a remedy.

DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Met at 12 and recessed at 12:05 to 12 Tuesday.

Senator Swanson (Democrat), Virginia, and Senator Harrison (Democrat), Mississippi, suggested a change in the Senate rules to prevent repeated votes upon the same amendments such as were taken while the tariff bill was under consideration.

Senator Swanson, ranking Democrat on the foreign relations committee, opposed an American signature to a consultative pact at the London Naval Conference.

Before beginning work, Tuesday, on Muscle Shoals, leaders will seek adoption of the conference report of the Dowell bill increasing appropriations for Federal roads from $75,000,000 to $125,000,000.

HOUSE.

Not in session.

Steering committee failed to reach an agreement on the form of the rule under which the House will consider the tariff bill.

Representative Hoffman, of the military committee, advanced a plan under which the Government would retire veterans' bonus certificates as rapidly as funds become available.

The Merritt bill establishing textile foundations was approved by the interstate commerce committee.

Postoffice committee approved the Kendall bill providing a 44-hour week for postal employes.

Agriculture committee approved the Summers bill bringing brokers, commission merchants and dealers in perishable farm produce under Federal regulation.

Representative Britten (Republican), Illinois, announced he would introduce a bill on Monday renaming the bridge across Rock Creek Park, generally known as the Million Dollar Bridge, in honor of William Howard Taft.

Telegraph Operator Found Beaten to Death

Duffield, Va., March 28 (A.P.).—His head severely battered, the body of J. W. Draper, 50, night telegraph operator at the Southern Railway station here, was found slumped on his desk by a train crew early today. His watch and money were missing.

Later three hoboes were taken off a freight train at Clinchport, Va., and were held for questioning.

GRUNDY IS IN FIGHT TO STAY, HE STATES

Senatorial Candidate Plans Energetic Campaign for May Primary.

LEADERS PLEDGE HELP

Philadelphia, March 28 (A.P.).—Joseph R. Grundy, candidate for the Republican nomination for senator, issued a formal statement this afternoon that he would conduct an energetic campaign. This was the first statement Mr. Grundy has made since his running mate, Samuel S. Lewis, withdrew on Wednesday for the Republican nomination for governor.

"When I accepted appointment to the United States Senate last December," said Mr. Grundy, "I stated unqualifiedly that I would be a candidate in the May primary for the balance of the unexpired term. I am a candidate and shall conduct an energetic campaign for the nomination."

Asked whether he would run by himself or with a full ticket, the senator said: "I have nothing else to say at this time. My statement is all for the present."

Thus Senator Grundy apparently set at rest talk of his withdrawing from the senatorial race as a result of Mr. Lewis getting out.

Mr. Grundy, since Mr. Lewis' retirement, has been in touch with business and political leaders in different parts of the State, and all of them urged him to stay in the fight. County leaders with whom he talked described him as "most emphatic" in his expressed intention of remaining in the contest "to a finish."

The senator's principal opponent at this time is Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, who has the support of the Philadelphia Republican organization.

One Dies, Trio Wounded In Family Pistol Affray

Nashville, Tenn., March 28 (A.P.).—An estranged husband late today killed his mother-in-law, shot his wife and wounded his father-in-law before he was finally shot down by a 14-year-old brother-in-law.

Lying on a hospital bed, probably fatally wounded, Raymond Stone, 27, told police how he killed Mrs. Jeff Poindexter, 44, wounded his wife, Roxie, 23, and shot her father, Jeff Poindexter, 50, before his wife's brother, Dave Poindexter, 14, grabbed his pistol and shot him down.

POLICE FIND $9,500 PAID TO KIDNAPERS

Part of Fund Paid to Ransom Millionaire Found in Kansas Banks.

ONE MAN INVESTIGATED

Kansas City, Mo., March 28 (A.P.). Edward P. Boyle, chief of detectives, said today that approximately $9,500 believed to have been given by Michael Katz, millionaire druggist, to a gang of extortionists who are reported to have kidnaped him recently, had been located in Kansas City banks.

Chief Boyle said he had established that the Katz Drug Co., through a confidential agent of the bank with which it does business, obtained $100,000 in currency about the time Michael Katz, the company's president, was reported to have been abducted March 18.

The kidnapers are reported to have been paid the $100,000 for Katz's release. Katz has refused to confirm the kidnaping. His abductors are said to have exacted a promise of silence by threats that further harm would come to him if he talked.

Part of the $100,000, which was traced through records kept at the Federal Reserve Bank, began to make its way back into circulation in the city Tuesday. The first definite evidence was obtained, Boyle said, when detectives learned twelve $100 bills, known to have been in the currency obtained by the Katz Drug Co., had been paid to the Duke Motor Co., in exchange for an automobile.

The sale, Chief Boyle said, was made to a young Italian. The youth, whose name was not revealed by police, said he bought the car for a man whose identity he did not know.

Volstead's Office May Be Abolished

Dry Official in Minnesota Says He Will Resign if Change Is Made.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 28 (A.P.).—The Tribune today said it has learned from an authoritative source that a shake-up is impending in the Northwest prohibition enforcement division and that it would include Andrew J. Volstead, legal adviser of the department.

The proposed changes, the Tribune said, may mean removal of S. B. Qvale, district administrator, and Mr. Volstead, through abandonment of the divisional offices in St. Paul which would be incorporated with another, possibly in St. Louis.

Mr. Volstead, the Tribune said, admitted changes were being considered, but said he was unable to say just what would take place. He said, however, he would nuot go to St. Louis, but would leave the department if such a shift is ordered.

WETS WILL NOT ASK PREMIER TO TESTIFY

Diplomatic Action Would Be Necessary to Get Ferguson Here.

CANADA RUM FLOW LESS

(Associated Press.)

Disclosures that it would require diplomatic representations to secure the appearance of an official of a foreign government before a congressional committee dimmed the hope last night of wet forces that the testimony of Premier George H. Ferguson of Ontario Province, Canada, on government liquor control might be offered in the prohibition hearings before the House judiciary committee.

In addition, reports from Toronto indicated that Premier Ferguson would not accept an invitation to testify as a rebuttal witness to the charges of former Premier E. C. Drury, a witness for the dry forces, that government control was a failure in Canada. As a consequence, the wets, led by Representative Linthicum (Democrat), Maryland, now plan not to extend the invitation.

In that connection, F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Antisaloon League, in a statement last night, said that the offer of Premier Ferguson to "try to come to the rescue of the Ontarion liquor sales system" was not to be unexpected.

Mr. Ferguson said his government would be glad to furnish the judiciary committee with information regarding the government liquor control system, and added that the people of the province had repudiated the prohibition policies of former Premier Drury.

The Ontario premier was declared by Mr. McBride to be "clearly demonstrating what former Premier E. C. Drury emphasized in his testimony before the House judiciary committee to the effect that the socalled Government control system grips and controls the officials of Government.

"The testimony of Mr. Drury," Mr. McBride said, "has proven a knockout blow to the wets' pet scheme which they have been holding up as a successful substitute for prohibition."

While the House judiciary committee planned to hear the drys Wednesday, plans were made for the Senato inquire both wet and dry organizations, and a Senate judiciary subcommittee prepared to begin hearings next week on the Williamson bill to transfer prohibition enforcement from the Treasury to the Justice Department. The measure recommended by the law enforcement commission, was passed by the House several weeks ago.

Senator Overman (Democrat), North Carolina, announced that representatives of legitimate uses of industrial alcohol, drug concerns and employes of the Prohibition Bureau, had asked for hearings on the Williamson transfer measure.

In connection with prohibition enforcement, the Treasury announced yesterday that liquor imports by the United States from Canada decreased in February as compared to the same month a year ago. In February a year ago, intoxicating beverages imported amounted to 282,985 gallons with 150,997 gallons for February, 1930.

Indictment Names 40 In Julian Oil Stock Quiz

Los Angeles, Calif., March 28 (A.P.). Blanket indictments against approximately 40 persons were returned by the county grand jury tonight following two weeks' investigation of the Julian Petroleum Corporation stock over-issue, which caused the collapse of the company in May, 1927, with a loss of over $100,000,000 to investors.

The names of those indicted were not announced, nor were the charges contained in the true bill revealed. Superior Court Judge Walton J. Wood, before whom the indictments were returned, issued bench warrants for the arrest of those named.

Edge Visits Marseilles On French Inspection

Marseilles, France, March 28 (A.P.). Halfway through his industrial inspection tour of southeastern France, Ambassador Walter E. Edge was today received by the chamber of commerce and then inspected the principal industries of the city.

Georges Bernier, president of the chamber, said that Mr. Edge was following a precedent established in the eighteenth century by Gouverneur Morris, and then read a letter from Morris asking for information about trade in Marseilles. Morris was American Minister to France from 1792 to 1794.

Alleged Drug Smuggler Returned to New York

New York, March 28 (A.P.).—Accused of attempting to smuggle $500,000 worth of narcotics into this country, Jacob Blum, alias John Bell, alias John Boss, today was returned to New York in custody aboard the French liner France.

Two trunks in which the narcotics were found were seized when the France docked here several weeks ago. Blum was arrested aboard the France on its last outward voyage and held a prisoner aboard the boat.

SYNOPSIS.

Thus far the story covers the early struggles of the free-lance saxophone player, his organization of his own orchestra, his ideas of what should be played and how and his way of pleasing the majority.

CHAPTER VII.

"YOU CAN'T PLEASE EVERYBODY"

A wise orchestra leader studies his crowd and finding that it is either a young crowd or a middle-aged crowd dancing, watches the length of his dances and punctuates them accordingly.

When to end the affair, if it is a society dance, is always quite a problem to the host. If he is a wise host he will leave it to the discretion of the orchestra leader, providing that the orchestra leader impresses him as having good judgment.

For every hour of dancing over the agreed hour of termination the orchestra receives a very high recompense, due to union regulations. That is when the orchestra leader makes his real profit, and so it is naturally to his advantage to have the affair go over the scheduled time. But it is a foolish orchestra leader indeed who counsels a longer dance when his wisdom and foresight for future parties tells him that the party should end as per schedule.

The dance that ends in the wee hours of the morning with every one happy and gay and wanting more, is the dance that is never forgotten; and the host or hostess of such a dance will aways be credited with an affair that was a huge success. But the dance that is allowed to straggle on for a few unusually enthusiastic and possibly "tight" individuals until it dies a natural death is the dance that is forgotten quickly. The dawn finds a few couples struggling along with tired and wan faces, and it requires a good hypocrite to say at the door, "Oh, Mrs. So-and-so, it was delightful," or "This is the best dance of the year!"

Unhappy Engagement Is Told.

Of course, sometimes, an extra hour when it is really begged for by the majority, and especially when the majority is composed of young folks, may be absolutely essential to the success of the party.

One of my most unhappy engagements was at a big country club, where the manager, when sober, insisted that I make the dances very short and cater to the elderly people, even though the younger folk outnumbered them four to one, and, due to the "cutting in," wanted long dances. This self-same manager would get very tight, "cut in" on some young, attractive girl, and then give me orders never to stop!

The head of the household engages his cooks as cooks and leaves them to take care of the kitchen. Except for specifying the delicacies that will delight his taste, he does not tell the cook how to prepare them. Probably if he did, the cook would leave. It is just as exasperating for the manager or president of a club or gathering to tell the orchestra how to play, and there is nothing worse than playing for meddlesome persons.

I delight in playing the pieces that people ask me to play, and I dislike accepting anything for so doing. After all, we are there to entertain the guests, and very often suggestions from the crowd save me a lot of worry and wonder as to what they might like to hear.

Party "Pests" Are Described.

However, there is a type of person whose requests can spoil things for almost every one else; that is the person who asks for his particular, favorite tune, not twice during the course of the evening, but five and sometimes six or seven times. When it is the daughter of the host, I don't mind, especially if the party is being given in her honor. But the remarkable thing is that usually the young person for whom the party is being given does not come near me all evening! It is generally some one who probably came to the party without even an invitation who takes it upon himself, or herself, to tell the orchestra just what it shall play and how many times to play it!

Of course, the orchestra leader is very much akin to a clerk or even the manager of a department store, whose slogan is, "The customer is always right." It has been very difficult for me at times to control my temper when an unreasonable person has done or said disagreeable and unreasonable things.

For instance, the slow type of dreamy music we play has come to be popular with many of the young folks, who have no trouble dancing to it, and is a fad even among the middle-aged. But the elderly type of person seems to have no success with this tempo. If they only knew that they could dance to it easily, by continuing to dance as they would to a regular fox trot, they would have no trouble. But because we are playing slowly, they believe they, too, must dance strictly in accord with the obvious tempo, and barely move. Watching the younger crowd should make them realize that some of the young folks are dancing even faster to this type of music than to ordinary fox trot music.

Tastes in Dance Music Varied.

It is not unusual for elderly people to come to me and very bitterly denounce the type of dance music we are playing, forgetting that when I play a waltz for them, I usually antagonize a lot of the younger folk. The latter, as a rule, do not care about waltzes and would rather just dance fox trots.

At the college fraternity dances at most of the smart Eastern colleges, the waltz it practically taboo, which is a tragic trend to me because I love waltzes, they are one of my best mediums of expression.

Then there are those who want only "hot" music; if everything is not jazzed up or pepped up, it's dull and boring. These are usually the young folks who have had a few drinks. And then, conversely, there are those who like the sweet, dreamy music.

Either extreme is boring and monotonous. The clever orchestra leader is he who makes his program up of a few sweet soft tunes, with occasional vocal choruses among the instrumental, followed by a wild peppy tune, played ever so softly, because pep is not volume and loud raucous notes have never delighted the ear of any one.

I have played a certain note barbaric in quality on my saxophone very softly, and have watched its effect upon a crowd, the livening up of young legs and feet.

Paul Whiteman's Technique Lauded.

I once knew of a dance hall where the clarinet was forbidden, due to the fact that it seemed to have a degenerating effect upon the dancing of a certain type of young person who went there, especially when it was played in Oriental fashion against tom-tom beats.

So I am firmly convinced that it is not the volume that makes for pep but rather the type of music and the style of the rendition, and I have come to believe that a happy medium in length of dance, selection of tunes, volume and tempo will lead to success as a dance orchestra director. All these things are decided by the director himself, and he is especially responsible for the tempo at which the band plays. One of Paul Whiteman's attributes is his marvelous tempo, which his men follow by watching very closely the movements of his knee.

I no longer worry about the loose odds and ends, and the extremists, who would give me gray hair if I listened to them.

You can't please everybody!

Acid and Creosote in Rum Blamed in Paralysis Cases

Product of Unscrupulous Bootleggers, Branded 'Jamaica Ginger' Held Responsible by Prohibition Commissioner Doran for Southern Epidemic.

(Associated Press.)

A drink of crude carbolic acid or creosote and alcohol flavored with ginger and sold by unscrupulous bootleggers as Jamaica ginger was said by Prohibition Commissioner Doran yesterday to be the concoction that had caused hundreds of cases of paralysis in Southern and Southwestern States.

The commissioner made his announcement after Prohibition Bureau chemists had tested more than a hundred samples of "Jamaica ginger" collected in localities where cases of paralysis have been reported. He said that while it was hard to understand how any one of the ingredients in the mixture alone could have caused the paralysis, the combination had resulted in quick paralysis to those who had used it as a beverage.

Tests made by the bureau chemists, the commissioner said, showed that three-fourths to seven-eighths of the solid contents of the drink had been either creosote or carbolic acid and that the alcoholic content was as high as 80 or 90 per cent.

"Some scheming bootlegger who wanted to get rich quick devised the mixture and distributed it widely in the Southern and Southwestern States, where biting drinks have always been a favorite," Doran said. "We have traced the stuff to three focal points, two of which are in Cincinnati and St. Louis, and we expect to follow the trail until we have the perpetrators under arrest.

"The mixture is little better than sheep dip, used to disinfect flocks of sheep."

While Commissioner Doran was explaining the result of the chemical tests, he held up the index finger of his right hand. The nail and tip was discolored to a dark brown and smelled of carbolic acid.

The commissioner explained that he had placed the tip of his finger in some of the "Jamaica ginger" sent here to be tested. Three washings, he said, had failed to take off the stain or smell.

"And that," he added, "is what some persons are drinking as an intoxicating beverage."

Milk-Driving Row Thought Settled

Difficulties which led to the retirement or dismissal of nearly one-half of the Chestnut Farms Dairy drivers Thursday were believed settled yesterday when officials of the dairy and the dissatisfied drivers met to adjust differences arising over union enrollments. Approximately 30 drivers who left the dairy's employ Thursday said that officials of the company had told them to withdraw their newly acquired union affiliations or "get out."

E. N. Brawner, vice president of the dairy, denied that any such order had been issued, adding that the firm is not opposed to union labor. Milk was delivered on schedule Thursday and Friday with the aid of drivers from other dairies, and although officials of the Chestnut company could not be reached for a statement following the meeting last night it is believed that the union recruits will return to work today.

J. E. Toone, union organizer, announced that he would continue his work among the Chestnut employes and those of other major dairies in the city.

DE VALERA IN RACE AS CABINET QUITS

DAIL ACTS WEDNESDAY

Cuman-Na-Gaedheal, or League of the Gael, which is Mr. Cosgrave's party. It numbers 63 members against 57 for the Fianna Fail. The Labor party, which is moderate in policy and strictly constitutional in methods, has thirteen.

To keep the balance of power hitherto, Mr. Cosgrave counted on the votes of eleven Independents, led by three Conservatives. In addition to this fairly constant support the Farmers party, mustering six votes, has been closely allied with the Cuman-Na-Gaedheal. The National League has two members.

20 Absentees Are Needed.

In discussion of the government's defeat last night on the bill for extending the scope of old-age pensions, it was pointed out today, as Mr. Cosgrave himself already had done, that though the government lost by 2 votes, 64 to 62, there were 20 absentees. These will be present when the nominations for the presidency of the council are put before the Dail on Wednesday.

The Fianna Fail therefore has slim chances of placing Mr. De Valera at the head of the Free State government. The consensus tonight was that Mr. Cosgrave, after being reelected, would nominate again the members of his resigned council, including Finance Minister Ernest Blythe, who is also vice president of the council.

One report suggested that Mr. Blythe might be nominated for the presidency by his party, Mr. Cosgrave then stepping aside. But probabilities were against this.

Last Election in 1927.

The last general election in Ireland was in September, 1927. Mr. Cosgrave was nominated by the Dail in October of that year, but has served as president of the council since December, 1922. Before that he was chairman of the provisional government.

The Cuman-Na-Gaedheal is chiefly composed of Sinn Fein members, who accepted the Anglo-Irish treaty of 1921.

The Fianna Fail has cabled Mr. De Valera in Chicago, informing him of the government's defeat and resignation. But as the party is unable to guarantee his election, it is thought likely here that he will await the result of Wednesday's balloting before deciding whether to return.

Mr. Cosgrave made plain today that he would not consent to resume the responsibility of government unless the old-age pension bill on which he was defeated was dropped entirely. This may embarrass some members of the Dail who voted for the bill, but normally support Mr. Cosgrave and desire his reelection.

De Valera Waits Developments.

Chicago, March 28 (A.P.).—Eamonn De Valera tonight was awaiting developments in Ireland. The one-time president of the Irish republic said he would accept the presidency of the Free State should the Dail Eireann summon him.

Here on a speaking tour in the interest of a national daily newspaper in Ireland, the leader of the Fianna Fail (Republican party) was prepared to cancel all scheduled addresses and return home.

"The Cosgrave party and its allies still have a majority in the Dail which could carry the reelection of Mr. Cosgrave or elect a member of his party," Mr. De Valera said. "If I am selected, I will form a Fianna Fail government."

He outlined as the general policies of such a government:

Irish unity and independence.

Rebuilding of Irish industry so that Irish needs may be supplied by Irish labor so far as possible—this to end unemployment and its consequent emigration.

Would Retain Funds in Ireland.

Retention in the Irish treasury of millions of dollars, the property of the Irish people, now being unjustifiably sent to England.

Appointment of an advisory economic council or "economic headquarters staff" to assist the government in carrying out its economic program; and subsequently suspended to await trial on an assault charge, and Burke was also suspended when it was charged that he had shown "undue interest" in Marie Foster by having a disorderly conduct charge against her nolle prossed. Inspector Thaddeus Beane later recommended that Burke be brought before the Police Trial Board for conduct unbecoming an officer.

Restoration of Gaelic as the spoken tongue of the land and general fostering of the culture "which has distinguished Ireland among the nations."

The grand jury's report of the muddled affair, based on the testimony of more than a dozen witnesses, will probably be returned Monday.

Burke's case will be called before the trial board Wednesday, it was learned yesterday.

JAMES D. DUNGAS RITES.

Native of Washington to Be Buried Here Tuesday Morning.

The body of James Douglas Dungas, 55 years old, of Philadelphia, Pa., will arrive in Washington Monday afternoon, where funeral services will be held at St. Paul's Catholic Church, Fifteenth and V streets northwest, at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Mr. Dungas was borne in Washington, the son of the late William Oswald Dungas and Florence Dungas. He had been a resident of Philadelphia for many years, where he was engaged in the brokerage business. He was well known in Washington, where he had visited relatives and friends frequently.

Surviving Mr. Dungas is his widow, Mrs. Florence Tybout Dungas, and one sister in Washington, Mrs. Mary Hodgson, of the Portner Apartments.

RITES FOR W. E. BUSH.

Native of West Virginia to Be Buried Here Monday.

William E. Bush, 64 years old, a resident of the District for more than 50 years, died yesterday at his home, 1504 Monroe street northwest, following an illness of several months. Death was caused by heart trouble.

Mr. Bush was born in West Virginia. He came to this city when a youth. He is survived by his wife, Mary E. Bush, and a son, Clarence L. Bush, both of this city. Services will be held Monday morning at 9 o'clock in Sacred Heart Church. Burial will be in Cedar Hill Cemetery.

trative committee of the council decided "that the resignation of Dr. Macfarland be received by the administrative committee, transmitted to a subcommittee of the administrative committee to be appointed for the purpose—this subcommittee to report back to the administrative committee at such time as the administrative committee itself may deem best."

The policy committee also reported "that it is quite certain that there are now no connections whatever between the staff of the Federal council or any member of the staff and the motion-picture industry."

In a statement, Dr. MacFarland said:

"For a time I rendered personal service to the Motion Picture Producers Association in an advisory capacity up to about nine or ten months ago, when I withdrew. I asked for release on the completion of the organization of the Federal council's commission on motion pictures because I felt that the Federal council's commission should have a survey of the whole situation made by the department of research and that no officer of the Federal council should be in any relationship whatever with a body to be included in the survey.

"I had originally accepted the position of counselor at a time when the relations between the Motion Picture Producers Association and the church bodies were cordial and I secured my release before, and entirely independently of the attacks which followed.

"My relation was entirely confined to study and recommendations regarding religious films and those implicating religion, with special reference to the former caricaturing of the Protestant clergy, reflections on religion and religious workers and similar problems, my service being entirely that of criticism, counsel and advice."

tion to the whisky, he seized 500 bottles of beer in the apartment.

He said when the raid was at the height Mrs. Givens approached him and demanded: "Have you a warrant?" The policeman replied that he had and proceeded to direct the raiders.

The Harmons were released at the Eighth Precinct Station on $500 bond each.

The arrest warrant used by Sergt. Letterman in making the raid had been obtained to arrest a suspected bootlegger who was reported to be living at Meridian place near Fourteenth street northwest, Sergt. Letterman explained last night. After going to the address at Meridian place, Sergt. Letterman said that he learned that the person he wanted had moved to the apartment house at 8 street. While looking for this suspect at the 8 street apartment, Sergt. Letterman and his squad apprehended the Harmons, it was explained.

Sergt. Letterman added that the warrant could have been used to make an arrest in one alleged violation of the prohibition law just as well as another. He said that his informant was not a member of the grand jury and denied that he had been called upon by Maj. Pratt for an explanation of the raid. The original bootlegger sought by the vice squad is still at large.

SITE OF NEW JUSTICE BUILDING UNDECIDED

Archives Structure May Be Erected on Land for Triangle Unit.

MELLON IS CONSULTED

Will the Archives Building and the Department of Justice Building in the proposed triangle area exchange sites?

That is a question under discussion in the offices of the Treasury Department Board of Architectural Consultants at the present time. Some say "Yes." Others say "No." No one seems certain, and the discussion which was to take place between the Secretary of the Treasury and the architectural consultants yesterday afternoon had to be postponed because of the illness of several members of the board, so that the question will probably not be settled until late in April, when another meeting will be called.

In the original plan, it was proposed to erect the buildings for the Department of Justice on the site of Center Market, which runs from Seventh to Ninth streets and from Pennsylvania avenue to B street. Then came the revelation that the site was too small, that the building would have no grounds if it were placed there.

Working with the layout of models which have been prepared for the department consultants and which are on exhibit in the Treasury Building, it was then proposed to bring the Archives Building (in model) from the site it had originally been given, between Ninth and Tenth streets and Pennsylvania avenue and B street to the Center Market site, and put the Department of Justice where the Archives Building formerly had been, which was done.

The plan, according to the architects, is a better one than the first, and it will work out more harmoniously with the group. The plan is said to have the approval of Secretary Mellon, and it is thought that it will have his support when the change is proposed before the board and Congress.

Incidentally, it has never been definitely decided just what is to be stored in the archives. It may be that all old records from the different departments will be stored there, or it may develop that only records of unusual historical value will be placed in the fireproof and dampproof building. Congress will decide, say the architects, and they hope it will be soon, for there has been a great deal of discussion as to what will constitute requirements for permanent storage there.

Surgeons to View Cancer Treatment

Clinical Results of Two California Doctors to Be Observed.

San Francisco, March 28 (A.P.).—A committee of eminent surgeons authorized by the executive committee of the American College of Surgeons, will be assembled in San Francisco immediately to observe the clinical results of the Coffey-Humber experimental cancer treatment.

Dr. Franklin H. Martin, director general of the college, and Dr. Bowman C. Crowell, assistant director and director of the department of clinical research, announced the personnel of the committee here today.

The surgeons who have accepted the invitation of the two San Francisco cancer research physicians and the appointment of the college board are Dr. George W. Crile, Cleveland; Dr. Frederic A. Besley, Dr. Charles H. Mayo, Rochester, Minn., and Dr. Frank W. Lynch, San Francisco. Others of prominence remain to be heard from. The observing committee will cooperate with Drs. Martin and Crowell, who have been in the city following the clinical experiments for several days.

Dague Tells Jury Story of Killing

Man Accused With Gunwoman Admits Firing Shot, but Says He Missed.

Newcastle, Pa., March 28 (A.P.).—W. Glenn Dague, jointly accused with Mrs. Irene Schroeder in the killing of Highway Officer Brady Paul, told the story of the slaying on the stand today and admitted he fired at Paul, but said he did not hit him. Paul was shot when he and a fellow officer stopped an automobile on a road near here last December while seeking store robbers.

Mrs. Schroeder, who last Friday was convicted of first-degree murder with the penalty fixed at death by the jury, told on the stand at her trial that she, too, fired at Paul, but that she did not know whether the bullet hit him.

The Commonwealth rested its case about noon today and Dague was the first witness called by the defense. Cross-examination of Dague by Special Prosecutor Charles J. Margiotti, was in progress when court adjourned this afternoon, and Margiotti was expected to complete his questioning tomorrow morning.

Margaret P. Peticolas Will Filed for Probate

Margaret P. W. Peticolas, who died March 23, under the terms of her will filed for probate yesterday in District Supreme Court left her residuary estate to Margaret Shirley Clark, of Beverly Hills, Baltimore, Md. No estimate of the value of the estate is given.

The Protestant Episcopal Cathedral Foundation is left $1,000 and all jewelry of the deceased. The jewelry, under the terms of the will, is to be converted into cash, which is to be used to erect a chalice in memory of Margaret E. W. Fenhagen, a deceased cousin. A $1,000 bequest is also made to the vestry of Epiphany Parish. Elwood P. Morey and the National Savings & Trust Co. are named executors.

District Chiefs Favor Taft Name for Bridge

Approval of the proposal to rename Connecticut Avenue Bridge the William Howard Taft Bridge in honor of the memory of the late Chief Justice and former President was expressed by the District Commissioners yesterday in a letter to the Women's City Club where the proposal originated.

The Commissioners said they were "heartily in favor" of the proposal but suggested that the renaming of the bridge should be accompanied by some ceremony including the unveiling of a memorial tablet. Introduction of a bill in Congress providing for this was suggested.

Pity the Officers

Shortly after the armistice the 121st Field Artillery, Thirty-second Division, had withdrawn from the front lines and were billeted about a mile from the railroad in the vicinity of Gondrecourt.

One afternoon a freight train was wrecked near us and upon investigation we found plenty of high-grade campagne strewn along the right of way. Word soon spread of the find and every one in the outfit was making for the railroad and carting bottles of champagne back to the camp. The officers soon learned of the incident and a guard was thrown out around the camp with orders to pick up any one bringing in champagne from the wreck. Well, there were many who got by the guards with pockets bulging and hands full. In order to keep what they brought in it was necessary to hide the stuff, for if found by the officers it was confiscated, so champagne was hidden in every place imaginable—in bunks, in trees, in the woods and some even dug holes in the ground and buried it. Well, after the excitement abated somewhat, it was found that we still had a good supply of champagne hidden around and a good time was had by all for several days.

Life's Darkest Moment

I went across on the U. S. S. Pocahontas, formerly the German mail packet Barbarossa, one of the convoy leaving New York in March, 1918. We were but a few days out when we ran into a gale that swept the decks and kept all on one side of the ship. A few days later the whole convoy turned about and headed back for America. Wild rumors swept through the ship that the war was over, &c. Later during the day we turned back again and the next day we were met by a number of destroyers. All went well until just before dusk of the next day, when we suddenly came to a stop and the rest of the convoy made tracks and left us as if we were stricken with yellow fever. There we tossed, two destroyers circling us with signal lights blinking and winking. We were in the danger zone, and it was the favorite time of the German subs, during that particular part of the day. The destroyers escorting us had dropped a depth bomb the day before, which seemed to prove that the enemy submarines were in the neighborhood. After an hour of tossing we learned that the ship had broken a propellor. We stayed there until the middle of the next day, when we limped into a French port. You may be sure no one slept that night.

Preparedness

We were about four days out of Baltimore, on H. M. S. Keemun, an old English freighter, which prior to the war was plying between Liverpool and Shanghai. It was a warm summer evening in late June, 1918, and we were headed for "Frog Land." It was my misfortune to be assigned to "K. P." duty the day in question and we were just preparing the evening's "chow" for the troops in the galley and, believe it or not, we had pork chops that evening for supper. While pulling the pans in and out of the ovens, watching the pig parts I accidentally shoved one of the pans back too hard with the result that some of the hot grease overflowed and caught fire. It wasn't long before the whole galley was on fire and about 200 hungry Artillerymen were around trying to put out the fire. When they found out who was the cause of it they would have liked to have shot yours truly. Well, in trying to extinguish the blaze with a 50-pound sack of salt I scorched my arms and was on my way back to the sick bay to get them bandaged when I spied a big, dark-complexioned fellow perched high up on the railing on the port side ready to take a swim in the old river. He had his life jacket on, a new pair of shoes under one arm and a loaf of bread under the other. I stopped and asked him what the idea was, to which he replied: "Look heah, white soldier, you all sees dat fire ober dere, don't cha; well, when I goes ober into dis old Atlantic I wants sumpin to walk wif when I gets to sho and when I does hit dat sho I aint takin' no chances on starvin." It was about 25 minutes later before some of the officers finally got him down from his perch, as he was a civilian cook for the officers and I suppose they were getting a little hungry.

A Real Record

The one time in my life when I was certain that mother wouldn't have to sell the old homestead; just collect the $10,000 insurance and remark to the sewing circle what a good boy "Alex" had always been, the good ship U. S. S. San Diego was steaming along through a calm blue sea headed for good old New York City, and we were all talking about the coming liberty in the big burg. When bang! there was an explosion like the crack of a 3-inch gun on the port quarter. I was in an office which happened to be right over the explosion. It threw me up in the air and when I came down I was going full steam ahead and headed for the wide open spaces. In the meantime, general quarters had been sounded, followed by submarine defense and every man was at his station. This happened to be a day when all the mess tables were up on the top side being cleaned, and when general quarters were sounded the ship cleared for action; tables and anything that hindered efficiency were thrown overboard. As soon as the different objects floated clear of the ship, a submarine might have been hiding among them, consequently the 3-inch, the 6-inch and the 8-inch guns were blazing away and we were so interested in the objects at which they were firing "a sub might have been there," that we stood over, under and around the guns and never heard them crack. The ship was sinking fast and the next bugle call was to abandon ship which was executed with military efficiency, every man at his station and on the job. So, with a calm sea and a sunny day, and with a crew of 1,098 men we abandoned ship in the open sea after having been mined with a loss of only six men who it was thought had been killed in the explosion.

Hawks Makes Test Hop For Gliding Across U.S.

Los Angeles, March 28 (A.P.).—Capt. Frank M. Hawks, piloting a plane-towed glider from San Diego to Los Angeles, landed at Mines Field today, completing a test flight preparatory to a transcontinental glider-towing stunt.

"There's nothing to it," Capt. Hawks said. "It's a lot easier than flying a real plane. I do not expect to have any trouble and believe I will make my trip across the country in record time."

Wakefield Survey Made by Officers

More Elaborate Plans for Restoration Will Be Drawn Later.

A preliminary survey for the restoration of Wakefield, the birthplace of George Washington, was made yesterday by officials of the Wakefield National Memorial Association and the Division of National Park Service of the Interior Department.

An appropriation of $50,000 recently made by Congress will be augmented by an equal amount from the Wakefield association. Officials who visited Wakefield yesterday made a cursory survey and will plan elaborately at a later date.

Those who comprised the inspection group were: Mrs. H. L. Rust, Dr. Charles Moore, Edward W. Donn, and H. P. Cammerer, all of the Wakefield National Memorial Association; and H. M. Albright, A. B. Cammerer, A. E. Demaray and W. B. Lewis, of the Division of National Park Service. Wakefield is 36 miles east of Fredericksburg.

U.S. to Aid Eckener In Dirigible Flight

Graf Zeppelin Commander Will Look at Proposed Air Terminals.

After spending yesterday in conference with naval officials relative to tentative plans for a transatlantic flight this summer in the Graf Zeppelin, Dr. Hugo Eckener and his son, Knut, will motor to Baltimore early this morning to inspect a proposed terminus for an ocean dirigible service that may be organized in the near future. On the way they will stop for a short time at Laurel, Md., to look over another suggested site for the terminus.

At the Naval Communications Office yesterday Dr. Eckener was assured of full cooperation in the matter of supplying weather reports and the like for his contemplated flight to North and South America this summer. Capt. S. C. Hooper told the commander that if Acting Secretary of the Navy Jahncke approved, naval stations at Washington and the Canal Zone would maintain constant contact with the Graf while it was flying between Germany, Pernambuco, Brazil and Lakehurst, N. J.

In the afternoon Dr. Eckener visited the Weather Bureau, where he was promised special weather service, including frequent reports to be broadcast to the dirigible in flight.

50 on Committee Plan For Child Health Day

More than 50 members of the summer round-up committee of the District Congress of Parents and Teachers in a meeting yesterday at the Burlington Hotel laid plans for participating in the annual Child Health Day on May 1 and for the committee's summer campaign to prepare children physically for entrance into schools next fall.

Mrs. H. N. Stull, as chairman of the committee, told the group that on May 1 many physicians here would cooperate in examining children preparing to enter school for the first time in September, and that the parents or guardians in each instance would be notified of any physical defects in order that they might be corrected before school opens.

Tax Error Is Seen By Commissioners

Plan to Change Date for Auto Assessment Is Called Wrong.

Arguments of the United States Bureau of Efficiency opposing the plan of the District Commissioners to fix December 1 instead of January 1 as the date for assessment of automobiles for taxation have convinced the Commissioners they were wrong, they told Senator Capper, of Kansas chairman of the Senate District committee, yesterday.

Advancement of the date for assessment of automobiles was advocated by the Commissioners as a means of facilitating distribution of automobile license tags. Under the new law, which became effective January 1, tag purchasers must show a receipt for payment of personal taxes on their automobiles before they may buy a tag.

Under the law they may not pay their tax before January 1. The Commissioners thought it would be better to permit assessment of the machines as of December 1; but after considering the Bureau of Efficiency report, said that the bureau was right in its opposition and asked Senator Capper to withdraw the favorable report his committee had made on the bill proposed by the Commissioners.

$1,890 Haul Made At Landon School

Theft of Cash and Stocks Is Reported to Police by Headmaster.

Disappearance of $1,890 in cash and stock from the desk of Paul L. Banfield, headmaster of the Landon School, was reported to police yesterday by the headmaster.

There were $90 in bills and 36 shares of stock of the Emerson Institute, Inc., totally valued at $1,800, Mr. Banfield told police. He said he did not suspect any one of having taken the money.

Headquarters detectives have been detailed to investigate all places where stocks may be sold in an effort to trace the missing shares.

COL. B. K. ASHFORD IS KOBER LECTURER

Medical Corps Officer Is Heard by Audience of Capital Scientists.

DEAN RECEIVES PLAQUE

Col. Bailey K. Ashford, of the Army Medical Corps, one of the leading authorities in the country on tropical diseases, delivered the annual Kober Foundation lecture last night in Gaston Hall at Georgetown University before an audience composed largely of scientists and members of the District Medical Society.

Col. Ashford was chosen as the lecturer this year by the Association of Military Surgeons of the United States and his subject was "Significance of Mycology in Tropical Medicine," which he teaches at Columbian University and the University of Porto Rico. It was in Porto Rico that he determined, in 1899, the cause of the ailment that afflicted the agriculturists of the island, later proclaimed as "hookworm." Col. Ashford and his associates treated 300,000 persons for the disease and reduced the death rate of the island by 90 per cent.

Announcement was made by Dr. George M. Kober, who provided for the foundation in 1923, that the annual medal for scientific research was awarded this year to Dr. James B. Herrick, professor of the Rush Medical College, Chicago, and one of the leading authorities on internal medicine.

Last night was the eightieth birthday of Dr. Kober and he was singularly honored by his associates on the Georgetown medical faculty, of which he was dean for 27 years. Dr. W. Coleman Nevils, S. J., president of the university, presented him with a bronze plaque bearing his likeness, a gift from the medical professor. The plaque was the work of Henry K. Bush-Brown, Capital sculptor.

Dr. Kober, formerly an Army surgeon, has resided in Washington for more than 40 years, and formerly was president of the District Medical Society. He himself is an authority on public health and hygiene, and formerly was on the District Board of Public Welfare. For years he has been an active campaigner in the fight against tuberculosis. Upon his retirement from active teaching, Dr. Kober was made a regent of the university, whose hospital he has benefited for many years.

Funeral Arranged For Mrs. Johnston

Wife of General Will Be Buried in Arlington Cemetery.

Mrs. Henrietta V. Johnston, wife of Brig. Gen. John A. Johnston, commander of the Thirty-fourth Division, A. E. F., and former Commissioner of the District, who died yesterday at her home, 2111 Massachusetts avenue, will be buried Monday in Arlington Cemetery. Services will be held at the home at 3 o'clock.

She was a member of the Army Relief Society, the Navy Relief Society, the Woman's Army and Navy League, the National Memorial Foundation, the Chaumont Unit of the American Women's Legion, the League of Republican Women, the Washington Club and the Army and Navy Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Blair Spencer, and two grandsons. Mrs. Johnston was a member of St. John's Episcopal Church for 30 years.

Judge O. Barber Dies in Bennington

Retired Jurist Had Served Here From 1910 to 1928.

Word was received here yesterday of the death of Judge Orion Metcalf Barber, who was on the bench of the United States Court of Customs Appeals here from 1910 to 1928. Judge Barber died in Bennington, Vt., where he lived.

Judge Barber was appointed to the court by the late President Taft, when it was organized in 1910. He retained this position until 1928 when he retired shortly before the designation of the court was changed to Customs and Patent Appeals.

He is survived by his widow, two daughters and a son. While in Washington the family resided at the Wardman Park Hotel.

MRS. WOLHAUPTER RITES.

Funeral Services Are to Be Held This Afternoon.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon for Mrs. Sarah A. Wolhaupter, 84 years old, widow of Dr. David P. Wolhaupter, who died yesterday in the Washington Sanitarium after a long illness. Mrs. Wolhaupter was a native of Alexandria. She had been active in the work of the Presbyterian Church and was a member of the Gunton-Temple Memorial Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Wolhaupter is survived by a son, David P. Wolhaupter, and a granddaughter, Mrs. E. S. Frazier, both of this city. Services will be held at the residence, 3506 Macomb street, this afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock. Burial will be in Glenwood Cemetery.

Porter Gets Two Years For Admitted Thefts

Frank E. Ford, colored porter, who is alleged to have made wholesale inroads on the dress stocks of an F street store, was sentenced yesterday in Police Court by Judge Isaac R. Hitt to serve two years in jail on eleven charges of petit larceny.

Ford, according to testimony, stole 163 expensive dresses, valued at $1,566, since the first of the year. Ford himself admitted stealing seventeen dresses and selling them at low prices. The man was arrested Saturday.

MISSISSIPPI GRAFT LAID TO TAX CHIEF

Impeachment of Official in Antitrust Suit Scandal Is Urged.

GOVERNOR'S PARDON HIT

Jackson, Miss., March 28 (A.P.).—Impeachment of Lester C. Franklin, chairman of the State tax commission, on eleven charges of gross misconduct in office, was demanded today in a resolution introduced in the Mississippi House by Representative Sam Anderson. Anderson is chairman of the legislative committee investigating payment of an $80,000 distribution to avoid a State antitrust suit.

The committee charged that Carl Marshall, fugitive from the Legislature, and under pardon from Gov. T. G. Bilbo for a contempt jail sentence, received the money in big bills from George B. Crafts, general counsel for Warren Bros., road material firm of Boston, and that "Marshall paid to Franklin in a large part, if not all, of the $62,000 (unaccounted for) regarding which the witness Marshall refuses to testify."

"Franklin," said the report, "has displayed a distinct unwillingness to aid in the investigation * * * and has impeded and obstructed this committee in its efforts to discover the truth."

The report recommended that Marshall be barred from the practice of law.

The governor's action in pardoning Marshall within two minutes after he was adjudged in contempt of the House was described in the report as "an effort to block the work of the committee rather than aid it in its investigation."

ARTIST MADE DEATH HINT, SQUAW AVERS

Indian Woman Asserts He Said He Did Not Care if Wife Lived.

TELLS STORY IN CAYUGA

Buffalo, N. Y., March 28 (A.P.).—Old Ann Snow, withered little Cayuga Indian woman who didn't like Henri Marchand, the artist, because he "bothered" Lila Jimerson, her niece, related in court here today that she had heard the artist say he did not care whether or not his wife lived out her days.

The wife, Clothilde Marchand, since that time has been killed, the result of what the white man's government says was an Indian plot. Lila Jimerson is on trial accused as an accomplice in the slaying, to which the aged Nancy Bowen has confessed.

The State contends that Lila told the aged Nancy Mrs. Marchand was a "white witch" who had invoked her magic to bring illness and misfortune on Nancy. Marchand testified yesterday to an intimacy with Lila and the State is trying to prove that Lila plotted to dispose of Mrs. Marchand so that she would win the exclusive affections of the artist.

Ann Snow today muttered her testimony in the ancient Cayuga tongue and a stolid Indian interpreter told the jury what she had said. Her testimony was not clear, even after the interpreter had listened closely to her muttering and had attempted to put it into English.

It seemed Henri Marchand had come on one of his many week-end visits to the Cattaraugus Reservation. His wife was with him on this particular trip, the court understood, but at the moment of the conversation conserning her had left the room. There also was present "another party," the interpreter thought an Indian woman, by name Ada Wheeler.

The court stenographer and the Indian interpreter said this was the only way Ann heard the talk of the white artist:

"Only one time he says when he and his wife came there to the house, they stopped, and he came to the house and he mentioned something about that he didn't care if his wife didn't live, and that there was another party there at the time heard this. * * * He didn't care if his wife was out of the way. Then he saw the other party and went out of the way."

After the aged squaw's testimony the prosecution rested its case.

Marchand again appeared on the stand today to undergo the questioning of John V. Maloney, of defense counsel. He came to tell once more of his relations with the 35-year-old defendant only as a "professional necessity," by which he said he meant the plan he used to overcome the native disinclination of Indian women to pose for his museum figures.

He had lied, "oh yes," he said. He had lied about making love to Lila to bend her to his will. The defense attorneys accused him of molding the Indian woman's will as he had molded her figure, and the French sculptor mildly agreed to the statement.

Marchand finally was released from the inquisition of the attorneys and went to a chair to watch his youngest son, Henri, jr., 12, take his place in the inclosure beside Judge F. Bret Thorne. The boy, leaving his pad of courtroom sketches with his sister, made his way to the stand. He did not cry while the prosecutor, in a quiet voice, led him verbally through the scene he had found when he returned from school on the afternoon of March 6 to find his mother dead at the foot of the stairs with an overturned radio on top of her.

With the conclusion of the case for the State, court was adjourned to Monday morning.

U. S. TREASURY AID SUED FOR SUPPORT

Internal Revenue Auditor Is Asked for Maintenance of $100 Monthly.

INFIDELITY IS ALLEGED

Declarations that at the time she and her husband were married he was earning only approximately $100 per month and it was necessary for her to work to help him get through school and get a foothold; that, although now through her help he is able to support her, he has not only deserted her, but shows no interest in her welfare, financially or otherwise, featured a suit for maintenance filed yesterday in District Supreme Court by Lola M. Ratteree, of 214 Spruce street, Takoma Park, Md., against Riley J. Ratteree, of 518 Ninth street northeast.

They were married June 27, 1917, and were separated October 15, 1928, when, the wife states, she was advised by letter from her husband that "he was leaving her permanently, and that he thereafter would send her $100 per month for her support and maintenance." The agreement has not been kept since October, last, the wife asserts.

Mrs. Ratteree says that as a result of her husband's alleged actions she has been forced to discontinue her studies at the Washington College of Law and her health is now so bad that she can not much longer continue her work at the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Ratteree, the wife alleges, is a chief of section in the audit division of the Bureau of Internal Revenue and makes $5,800 a year. She states that he owns an expensive automobile, lives at expensive hotels and apartments and is now associating nightly with another woman. The wife expresses the belief that her husband's alleged infatuation for the woman caused him to leave her. Attorney John C. Kramer appears for the wife.

ENTANGLING AMERICA.

In a recent radio address, Representative Louis T. McFadden, chairman of the House banking and currency committee, took occasion to warn the American people of the danger in the proposed Bank for International Settlements. As soon as the organization is perfected, he said, almost the first business will be to supervise the floating of $300,000,000 of reparations bonds, mostly in the United States. It is estimated, he added, that in the next five or six years the United States is to absorb between $5,000,000,000 and $6,000,000,000 worth of these bonds. Thus Americans are to take over Germany's debt to the former allies.

Since the war the nations of Europe have redoubled their efforts to involve the United States in their affairs. Having failed by direct approach through conferences and treaties, they are now at work in the financial field. Once the United States becomes seriously involved in Europe's finances, self-defense will compel it to become entangled in political schemes. In his speech, Mr. McFadden said:

> The League of Nations was designed for three things: To disarm the United States and transfer to either the league or the four dominant members of its council the war-making powers of Congress; to persuade the United States to obey the decisions of its advisory court, made in advance of the issue in the absence of positive treaty agreement, and allow such decisions to fix the status of international practice in dealing with every question involving the policy of the open door and commercial spheres of influence; and to induce the United States to furnish its central banking resources and its gold to create a revolving fund to be used in the organization of a world bank to stabilize the finances of its council members.

The case for the Bank for International Settlements, as made by America's international bankers, carefully avoids all mention of possible economic and political ramifications. The bankers contend that the project was conceived not only to help European nations save themselves but to secure for the United States her dues. But Thomas W. Lamont, one of the bankers who helped in the formulation of the Young plan, in a recent magazine article, let the cat out of the bag. The bank's directorate, he said, in time should be able to "minimize and even prevent through cooperative methods the development of perilous economic or exchange conditions." He continued:

> With a common aim from the very start, namely, the maintenance of currency and credit stability throughout the world, and, within the limits proper, the promotion of trade and prosperity, these men should come to know, appreciate and collaborate with one another in a manner and to a degree not heretofore considered possible. We must not forget that the regular functioning of the international banking system is largely dependent upon the maintenance of the gold standard.

The McFadden and the Lamont statements, considered together, reveal how rapidly and effectively the international banking interests are involving the United States in European finance. This accomplished, the next inevitable step is to make the United States responsible for maintaining peace in Europe. At London the American delegation is promoting this international entanglement scheme by negotiating for a "consultation pact."

CHILDREN'S SANATORIUM.

Between April 1, 1929, when the institution was established, and February 1 last, 1,981 children were X-rayed and thoroughly examined in the special children's tuberculosis clinic, and 159 new cases of the disease were discovered and definitely diagnosed. Since the Municipal Tuberculosis Hospital does not admit patients under 14 years of age, and since a city ordinance bars the admission of tuberculous patients to general hospitals, these 159 little sufferers have no place to go for medical and nursing attention. Washington is the only large city in the United States that has not made provision for the care of tuberculous children.

Bearing lay and medical endorsement and entirely unopposed, an act to provide for the construction of a children's tuberculosis sanatorium was approved by Congress in March, 1929. The District appropriation bill for 1930 contained an item of $1,500 for the study and preparation of plans for such a sanatorium with the stipulation that the plans should be submitted to Congress for its approval. The study was carried through by experts with the result that the $500,000 appropriation made available in the bill was found to be inadequate for the construction of a first-rate institution. The sum would be sufficient for the hospital itself, but it would not provide for a nurses' home or a superintendent's residence. The investigating committee recommended that the appropriation be increased to $625,000, and a bill to that end has been introduced and favorably reported by the District committee.

With an appropriation of $625,000 it would be possible to establish a modern institution, located in the country where the little patients would gain the benefit of uncontaminated air and pure sunshine, to build a comfortable nurses' home and to provide service facilities that would make possible expansion beyond the 150-bed limit when the demand required. The measure should be approved at an early date.

DISTRICT-FEDERAL RELATIONS.

Representative Moore, of Virginia, has introduced a bill that would create a permanent commission empowered to recommend to Congress the amount which the Federal Government should contribute to the expenses of the District government, and to report on the subject of this fiscal relationship at four-year intervals. In the ten years he has been a member of Congress, says Mr. Moore, the subject of fiscal relationship has been in constant dispute. The controversy can not be appreciably quieted so long as a view of any one member of the House or Senate, however able or well informed, or the view of any small subcommittee, is to be accepted as final. It is the duty of Congress, says Mr. Moore, to make the government of the District as satisfactory as possible and to remove, if it can, any ground for continual doubt and agitation in respect to a matter of major importance. In order to proceed in that direction he introduces a bill to give Congress the benefit of the opinions and advice of an agency constituted and equipped to investigate all of the facts with respect to the fiscal relationship.

The commission contemplated would be composed of the chairman of the Senate and House District committees and the Senate and House appropriations committees a member of the Board of Commissioners, the director of the Budget Bureau, and three citizens of the District appointed by the President. The commission would have broad powers and authority and it would be empowered, in its discretion, to make recommendations to Congress relative to general legislation for the District or with respect to the administration of District affairs.

The desirability of an authoritative investigation of the fiscal relationship is not open to dispute. Every bit of legislation affecting the District precipitates a dispute as to finances, in which, generally, the most absurd contentions are palmed off as facts. Take, for example, the fundamental question as to the proportion of the Federal contribution to the total budget. Chairman Simmons, of the appropriations subcommittee for the District, ingeniously "proves" that the Federal contribution amounts to 25 per cent of the total; others have figured it at less than 20 per cent.

There are two defects in Mr. Moore's proposal. The proposed nine-man commission would be packed against the District. Now and again a senator or representative appears on the scene who grasps Washington's problems and aspirations, but the run of congressmen are interested only in their home districts and are decidedly out of sympathy with the District. On the proposed commission there would sit four congressmen and the director of the Budget Bureau. The will of these five men would prevail against that of the three citizen commissioners and the District Commissioner.

The authority of the commission to make general recommendations to Congress with respect to District legislation and the administration of the District would inevitably lead to abuse. The Moore commission probably would try to become a supergovernment. With the broad powers that would be granted the Moore commission to compel authorities and employes of all administrative agencies of the District government to supply any information that might be requested, the way would be paved for meddling and interference of the most obnoxious nature. If a fiscal relationship commission is created, it should be limited to its primary purpose. The commission should be solely a fact-finding body.

SENATOR WAGNER'S SUPERCONGRESS.

Senator Wagner has encouraging news for Congress. He believes that the legislative body will never again be called upon to sweat and toil over a tariff bill that is certain to draw praise and condemnation whichever way it turns. Out of the sorrow, the distress, the bitter struggles and the grim disappointments of the last six months a new era will arise in which tariffs will be written scientifically.

The bill that is now going into conference, according to Senator Wagner, is unscientific. "Members of the Senate," he says, "can not possibly be informed upon all the different questions which we are required to pass upon, involving in many cases complex business affairs, and the result is that instead of making a tariff according to facts scientifically and judiciously ascertained you have a tariff act which largely results from vote trading and log-rolling and lobbying. I think that this last exhibition is well-nigh a scandal, and I predict that public opinion will insist that tariff making be taken out of politics. It does not belong there."

It is a good thing that Senator Wagner has brought up the subject now, because it will need a good deal of thought before the next tariff bill is enacted. At present the only exhibition of what might be called scientific tariff making is done by the President when he changes rates in accordance with the recommendations of the Tariff Commission. But the party which Senator Wagner represents is opposed to this plan, and succeeded in eliminating it from the Senate bill.

Unfortunately the plan for dealing with tariff rates "scientifically" has not been divulged. The senator from New York mentions a "judicial body of men of high type and character in whom the public will have confidence." That seems to mean that Congress is made up of men who are lacking in public confidence. How would this supercongress be appointed? By a Republican or a Democratic President? Would it use Democratic or Republican, Western, Eastern, Southern or Northwestern tariff principles in fixing scientific rates? If Senator Wagner has a scheme by which a thoroughly American, pure-bred tariff applying to all products can be substituted for the present method of compromise among sectional interests, by all means let him expound it to the country. Then Congress need no longer struggle with tariff measures, but can devote its energy to a new code of law for biology and astronomy.

FLORIDA AND THE FLY.

Now that the episode of the Mediterranean fruit fly has been virtually brought to a close, Florida is beginning to sum up its losses. The smallest of these losses is the damage actually done by the fly. The people of Florida realize that they were certainly the victims of some pest, but they now know that it was not a fly.

After the first eradication campaign, which cost several millions, a delegation came to Washington in feverish haste and demanded an appropriation of $26,000,000 to carry on the fight. Florida was pictured as heroically battling a foe that threatened the whole country. The Budget Bureau was sympathetic, but cut down the sum to $15,000,000. Then the estimate was reduced to $7,000,000, and Senator Trammell succeeded in having an item of that amount inserted in the agricultural appropriation bill.

Chairman Will R. Wood, of the House committee on appropriations, conducted an extensive investigation in Florida. He found that the fly had disappeared. Entomologists of the Department of Agriculture testified that "not a single larva, pupa or living fruit fly is in Florida today." The State had been thrown into hysteria over an imaginary menace multiplied a hundred-fold by persons interested in obtaining big appropriations for "fighting the fly."

The $7,000,000 item will be deleted from the agricultural bill in conference, although a reasonable sum may be granted for precautionary measures. The fly has been eradicated along with many valuable orchards and great quantities of fruit. Florida horticulturists are pondering over how much more destructive was the remedy than the disease. Immense damage has been done to a great fruit-producing State by direct destruction and loss of a market.

The dislocated jawbone of that skull found in China and classified as Sinanthropospekinensis, probably got that way when its owner attempted to explain who he was.

Chairman Wickersham holds that the dry law can be "measureably enforced." All that's needed is the yardstick.

The Senate lobby committee will resume hearings April 1. No foolin'!

"NOBODY WANTED IT"

By SIR HERBERT RUSSELL,
Principal Adviser of the British Admiralty,
In the Naval and Military Record, Feb. 19.

If the plain truth is told concerning the international conference upon the limitation of naval armaments, the whole thing is distasteful to the vast majority of the people of this country. They may accept it, in common with a good many other political movements of the age, in a spirit of passive resignation. But this is not to say that they like it. Their objection is not based upon the faintest desire for any more war. It is simply rooted in the patriotic instinct which feels that it is the business of every great nation to order her own affairs in her own way and not to pool them with other great nations.

When President Coolidge issued his invitation to Geneva in 1927, France and Italy flatly declined it. When, with the approval of President Hoover, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald asked them to come to London, they cheerfully accepted.

I say they cheerfully accepted. This refers to the friendly language in which their answers were couched. But neither France nor Italy wanted this conference. Japan did not want it. The British nation as a whole did not want it. None of these four powers was in any way threatening one another; none of them saw any necessity to internationally agree not to threaten one another. They had already conformed to another great American "stunt" (borrowed from M. Briand) known as the "Kellogg pact." There could be no harm in signing this beatific document. When nobody is thinking about war, it calls for no particular effort of conscience to formally renounce it to the accompaniment of gold fountain pens and plenty of champagne. A nation does not jeopardize its self-determination by promising not to regard "war as an instrument of national policy." It may regard it as a blessed nuisance—and so enter upon it without violating the pedantic wording of this beatific document. But when it comes to "scraps of paper" involving that naval strength which is the material symbol of nationalism and self-determination, we are getting into very different waters. We are exchanging the generalities of idealism for a very definite sphere of practical realities. I admit that realities may react to idealism, but not under what amounts to a process of dictation.

Every sea power has its own specific needs in the matter of naval power. It is the best and, indeed, the only arbiter of these needs. Heretofore there has been an unwritten interdependence of international naval policy. We have had phases of acute rivalry and phases of mutual relaxation, always brought about by political conditions. Are we to take it for granted that there will be no more "situations" in political conditions?

I have said that every nation is the best judge of her own naval needs. America is a good example in point. She came to London with her requirements all cut-and-dried. She wants parity with this country. She has never told the world why she wants this parity; on what practical grounds she deems it necessary. She simply wants it; the reason why is her business. This is self-determination. She is not going to disarm, but to arm up to the level of the strongest sea power, which has become the strongest sea power from self-evident necessity.

International agreement only serves to bring out in strong relief the anomaly (to us) of this policy. Had America quietly built all the ships she thinks she needs, without any accompanying process of incessant and wholly unnecessary comparison, she could have achieved her purpose without arousing that latent feeling of resentment which, talk as the highbrows will, is felt in this country at the open bartering away of our greatest national heritage.

And so in the case of France and Italy. So, in lesser degree, in the case of Japan. These three nations came to London with the avowed intention of bargaining, of maneuvering for better positions than they were holding in the naval balance. A conscious sense of rivalry is the result. A legacy of dissatisfaction with compulsory restrictions will be the inevitable aftermath. None of the five conferring powers, with the exception of the United States, has been able to say that its naval needs are its own affair and that it intends to order its own affairs in harmony with the general peace of the world, but in a strict spirit of independence. I think that common sense and independence are infinitely preferable to putting ourselves in chains in the name of brotherly love. There is too much political showmanship about the whole business.

The Socialists are always croaking that we must assure the peace of the world. There is no menace whatever to the peace of the world so far as the great naval powers are concerned. I fear there will be more friction and acrimony as the result of any pooling of self-determination in naval affairs than ever there would have been without it. Can any great, strongly individualistic nation accept a communal yardstick stunt with equanimity? I suppose the next step will be an international commission for measuring displacements and gun calibers—with the United States as the onlooker. The political pacifists may "muck about" with our weapons, but, thank heaven, they can not do any negotiating with the spirit of the British navy. That, at any rate, is parity proof.

BEGGING A LADY'S PARDON.

You have pity for the deaf, you have pity for the blind,
And I know that you have pity for the lame,
Then I beg you, lady fair, if I've met
you anywhere
Forgive me if I can't recall your name.

I confess to my regret, several times
we may have met,
And your lovely face is one I should recall,
Lady, do not be so cross; mine's the pain and mine's the loss, Names are things I can not seem to keep at all.

It is not my disposition, it's my memory that's bad,
It's your pity I deserve and not your

So be gracious and be sweet, and the next time that we meet
Please forgive me if I can't recall

Another Letter From a Bald-Headed Dad to His Flapper Daughter.

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

MY dear Louise: In your school work and your daily reading you come across many ideas that conflict with one another and seem to lead in different directions, and soon or late you will begin to wonder what the truth is and where it can be found.

When that time comes you will stand at the fork of the road.

Most people, as you will learn later, solve the problem by the simple process of refusing to think about it.

Others, mentally as lazy, follow the first guide who appears and let him do all the thinking.

You can follow their example and be with the majority, but the majority never gets very far or amounts to much—and it doesn't get much out of life.

When you stand at the fork of the road you will say to yourself: "What is it all about? What are we here for? By the time we have learned to live we are ready to die. Life is so short and so full of suffering and struggle and sorrow. Surely we aren't placed here just to labor and feed ourselves and die. That would seem so profitless and unreasonable! What is back of it all? What is expected of us?"

Many teachers will try to answer those questions for you, and some of them, I am sure, will teach you things that aren't true.

Your choice of beliefs probably won't matter much, except as it affects your own life. Belief in falsehood doesn't change facts, and the untold millions of men who have lived and died in ignorance haven't affected the truth.

You can't know the whole truth, for it isn't discovered yet. And the ideas you make your own—the faith you adopt and the cause you follow—will not greatly matter if you see and understand the one great fundamental truth.

That truth will guide you through life and explain away most of your problems.

Simply and briefly it is this: That the creation of the universe is not in the past tense, but in the present and future.

God did not create the world, but is creating it.

Growth and development are everlasting—without a beginning we can comprehend—without an end we can conceive.

All things on earth are part of the divine plan—forever growing and building to reach some ultimate perfection—and you are a unit in that great scheme.

You may drift through life and be no more than a soft stone rejected by the builder, or you can do your utmost, however humble your lot may be, and thus serve God as a useful detail in the development of His plans. Love,

DAD.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS.

GET READY FOR THE CENSUS.

("The fifteenth United States census, to be taken beginning April 2, will involve more questions of a personal nature than were ever asked in a national census before."—News item.)

1. How many persons are there in your family, and have you any complaint?

2. State who is the head of the family as of the last argument on the point. Is this still subject to dispute?

3. Is your home owned or rented? If owned, is it for any reason other than that you can't find a purchaser?

4. Why don't you paint the front porch and trim the hedge?

5. What do you consider the value of the home? Would you take less for cash?

6. What did you pay for the property, and were you in your right mind?

7. If your home is rented, how long has the plumbing been defective and how much coal do you think the man upstairs takes from your bin each winter?

8. Is there a radio set in your home; and if so, where do you go when you want to think?

9. Do you ever dare shut off Boop-oop-a-doop for a presidential message?

10. How far do you figure you could throw the set if there were no opposition?

11. At what age were you married?

12. Is there any other reason for thinking it a big mistake?

13. How many of your children are married and how long do you think it will be before their husbands find homes for them?

14. Is your wife living? If so, is it a source of mutual complaint?

15. Did you ever go to college? If so, give your college and class and state whether you ever got much out of it except the right to cast a straw ballot in prohibition polls?

16. Are you able to read and write? If not, do you attribute this to the college education?

17. If born outside the United States, state what induced you to come here—the desire to see Babe Ruth? Newspaper stories of Carnera's ring earnings? Pictures of Greta Garbo's Hollywood mansion?

18. Are your family relations happy, or does the wife play bridge?

19. Do any male members of your family work or do they hold city positions?

20. Do any female members of your family work, and, if so, how many times a day do they remind you of it?

21. State how many members of your household (including yourself) are wage earners and how many play golf.

22. Is your family lacking in any particular brilliancy or have you a son who can cut his own hair?

23. How many members of your family sleep with their mouths open? On their right sides? On their backs?

24. Do you wear pajamas or a nightgown?

Have you noticed that in all the talk of business depression nobody restores the 5-cent shoeshine and 25¢ haircut?

PROBLEM.

The new German liner Europa broke all records for an Atlantic crossing, but one of the major mysteries of life is why (the difference in beer what it is) anybody should be in such haste to travel from Germany to America.

Immunity Abused by Naturalized Armenian, Who Went Back to Turkey and Made Mischief.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: While making wry faces at swallowing a few doses of recklessness from diplomatic immunes it might be well to recall that the American Government forces other weaker governments to grant immunity to deliberate criminals posing as "Americans."

On an Oriental cruise some years ago the Daughters of the American Revolution arranged a Washington's birthday celebration while we were on the Mediterranean. Col. C. M. Dickinson, of New York, and this scribe were the two speakers chosen. Col. Dickinson to tell about the Turks (he spent years in Constantinople as consul) and myself to talk about Washington. Col. Dickinson told an incident that explained a lot of the mawkish sentiment about the "poor" Armenians as the victims of "the unspeakable Turks." Word came to him that a naturalized Armenian—that is, an Armenian that had come to America, stayed long enough to get his papers as an "American" citizen, and gone back to Turkey to kick up what devilment he could, had written a seditious letter against Turkey. The American consul took up the matter with the Porte and asked him why the matter had not been reported to the American consulate. The reply was that in previous cases such procedure amounted to nothing. Dickinson then asked that a translation of the alleged seditious letter be furnished him. He was told to take the letter and have his own translation made. He did so and found that the charge was fully sustained. He then asked the Porte what punishment it wished inflicted. The reply was that it wanted the fellow to leave the country.

Summoning the treacherous Armenian, Dickinson told him that while, of course, he had no authority to make him leave Turkey, if he did not leave, severe punishment would be inflicted upon him. But the Turkish government dared not lay hands on an "American" citizen.

"Radio Fan" Is All Wet: Average Intelligence of Listener That of 8-Year-Old Imbecile—Hurrah for Findings of Committee!

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In your yesterday's issue, a poor fish with a radio-inferiority complex signing itself "Radio Fan," takes exception to the findings of Secretary Wilbur's advisory committee on education by radio. If the statement has been made that the intellect of the average radio listener is that of a child only 13 years of age, it has been grossly exaggerated. It should have been "an imbecile of eight years."

All so-called radio fans are in reality mentally deficient when they waste valuable time listening to the abominable trash generally broadcast from radio stations. The things worth while could easily be condensed to fifteen minutes from a four-hour evening nightmare.

The loudspeaker has blasted the happiness of the home circle; it has caused domestic infelicity in half the households in this country; it has driven right-thinking, strong-minded men to drink, and when they escape from the torments of it at home, they run amuck of the vile thing on the streets, from every house, every shop, every restaurant the blatant monster howls its awful wail.

May "Radio Fan" with its eight-year-old complex enjoy itself. May he, she or it continue in the fellowship of the noble army of asininos who waste four or five hours of each precious day of God-given life, listening to the inane vaporings and squawkings of cheap radio artists. Three cheers for the findings of the advisory committee.

ANOTHER LUNATIC.

Dr. William Tindall Has Been in District Service 61 Years and Should Be Kept in Harness.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Representative Bowman has introduced a bill in the House to permit Dr. William Tindall to continue in the service of the District. Dr. Tindall has served the District for 61 years, and is still going strong. Mr. Bowman's bill would suspend the law in Dr. Tindall's case and allow him two more years of service.

Dr. Tindall is far more efficient than any young man who could be selected to take his place.

The only opposition that has developed is based on the argument that this personal exemption would set a bad precedent. A precedent against turning out faithful public servants while they are still efficient ought to be established. Congress recognizes the folly of trying to measure all human beings by the same standard. Leaders in the movement for retirement legislation and the Civil Service Commission have pointed out the waste and injustice of keeping some disabled employes on the pay roll at full salaries and forcing others in the prime of their usefulness into retirement just because of a similarity in age. The arbitrary age limit at which retirement becomes compulsory should be abolished for a common sense rule based on individual capacity. In so far as it would lead to this action the bill in behalf of Dr. Tindall would be a benefit to all Government and District workers as well as to himself.

R. J. CAROTHERS.

PAINFUL IMPRESSION.

There is no real pain when you cut your finger, Prof. Pieron, of the College of France, informed the International Congress on Psychology. What you have, then, is just the impression that there is a pain. A real pain, the professor explained, is a sense level reached when specific sense organs are stimulated. Whether toothache, lumbago or a punch on the jaw stimulate these organs we do not know, says the San Francisco Chronicle, for the professor did not go into such particulars. But what we do know is that the impression of a pain hurts just the same.

HAITI REPORT TERMS ADOPTED BY HOOVER

Diplomatic Relations Would Follow Marines' Gradual Withdrawal.

ECONOMIC PHASES CITED

Associated Press.

President Hoover yesterday adopted as his administrative policy the gradual withdrawal of the United States Marines from Haiti and the substitution of diplomatic relations for the present military commission. The recommendations of the Forbes Commission to this effect, which further suggested recognition of a provisional government, were accepted by the chief executive two months after the appointment of the group to study United States policy in the island republic.

With immediate withdrawal of the marines found inadvisable, the commission recommended gradual withdrawal in accordance with arrangements to be made between the two governments and with the advice of the commandant of the Haitian garde.

A minister would be assigned to Haiti to succeed Maj. Gen. John H. Russell, American High Commissioner, at the expiration of his tour of duty. Russell's term is limited by the pleasure of the President, or by the treaty authorizing marine occupation, which lapses in 1936.

"Less Intervention" Provided.

Also, under the recommendations, the minister would be charged with negotiating agreements "providing for less intervention in Haitian domestic affairs."

The commission recommended that the detail of naval and marine officers for all Haitian services be made for a minimum of four years. Further, it recommended that "an effort be made to secure Americans who will agree to continue employment in these services, so that upon the expiration of the treaty a force of American doctors, engineers and police officers will be available for continued assistance to the Haitian government, should it then desire it."

Regarding the economic situation, the commission recommended the Haitian government be urged to approximate for maintenance of existing roads before constructing new ones; and that only roads most urgently needed to develop settled regions under cultivation be undertaken until the present economic depression has passed.

Customs Duties Reduction Asked.

Furthermore, the report urged that the American Government interpose no objection to a moderate reduction of the customs duties, internal revenue taxes, especially those imposed upon alcohol and tobacco, or to a reduction or elimination of the export tax on coffee, if the treasury condition warrants.

Employment by the Haitian government of one American adviser in each administrative department, with the American Government maintaining them as an act of grace, also was recommended.

3,500 Made Homeless After Japanese Blaze

Tokyo, March 28 (A.P.).—Fire swept the fishing village of Komatsu today, destroying 700 of its flimsy wood and plaster houses, the homes of 3,500 Japanese poor people. The loss was estimated at 1,200,000 yen (about $588,000). One fireman was killed and three others injured when their machine overturned.

Approximately one-fourth of the villagers lost their homes. Komatsu is on the shore of the Japan Sea and is in Ishikawa Prefecture of the main island of Japan.

Youth Gets Life Term In Murder-Guilt Plea

Butte, Mont., March 28 (A.P.).—Melvin W. Payette, 18, today pleaded guilty to the murder of Mrs. Christina Wilson, Butte widow, and was sentenced by District Judge J. J. Lynch to life imprisonment in the Montana Penitentiary.

Mrs. Wilson, wealthy residential hotel operator, was strangled to death the night of March 11, last. She had been beaten about the head with an iron bar and her body was tied to the four posts of a bed. Her apartment had been ransacked.

Chaliapin Reported Improving.

Milan, Italy, March 28 (A.P.).—Feodor Chaliapin, noted basso, who has been suffering from a bad cold with complications was reported better today.

The Listening Post

By CARLISLE BARGERON

SENATOR BROOKHART was roundly criticized several days ago when he formally filed with the Senate the report of the investigation of the Southern patronage committee. The report, it was contended, dealt with conditions that no longer existed, as the administration had cleaned them up.

Mr. Hoover himself explained that the matters referred to in the report had all been straightened out. This was, of course, the information that had been given him.

But to say that Mr. Hoover undertook a herculean task when he essayed to clean up the Republican party in the South is to express it mildly. For unless Mr. Hoover cares to give up all his other duties and devote his personal attention to this one matter the party will continue to be in the South as it has been over the last 50 years.

* * * * *

IT so happens, for example, that hardly had Mr. Hoover gotten his most recent words on the subject out of his mouth when there was a meeting here of the President's advisers and Georgia leaders for the purpose of effecting a compromise with those very forces that the Brookhart committee and the administration have condemned.

In the so-called clean-up process down there, one Josiah T. Rose emerged as the patronage dispenser recognized by the administration. But as time wore on and the State convention approached, it developed that Rose, even with his patronage power, was not in control. Postmaster General Brown sent his investigator, Durelle Chaney, down there, and this gentleman's report, in effect, was that unless something was done, the convention would be found to be in the control of the enemy headed by Ben Davis, the Negro, who was ousted as national committeeman at Kansas City.

Davis is the one upon whom the Brookhart committee report turned. He is the old order that was to be displaced.

* * * * *

NOW, inasmuch as the administration naturally wants to control this convention, its lieutenants decided that a compromise would have to be effected with Davis.

So he was called here and along with Rose, M. O. Dunning, of Savannah, and others, conferred with Postmaster General Brown and Secretary Walter Newton.

Here is one piece of the bargain: Davis will be recognized as an authoritative voice in Georgia party affairs, and his chief lieutenant, G. S. Flanders, of Swainsboro, will be given the place of United States marshal for southern Georgia, now held by George B. McLeod.

This trade is the only reason given in any quarter as to why McLeod should be displaced. If Flanders gets the place he is supposed to line up the southern and middle Georgia Negroes for the administration at the State convention next month. He is here now expecting his appointment to be sent to the Senate any day. If it is then it is idle to refer to Georgia as a cleaned-up State.

FUNDS OF COOLIDGES HIT AS BANK CLOSES

sary to call several policemen to maintain order.

Former President Calvin Coolidge and Mrs. Coolidge have accounts at the bank, but were not disturbed over the conditions at the institution. A statement from the office of the former President said that Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge had not withdrawn their money and felt that it was "perfectly safe."

Arthur Guy, State bank examiner, said the trust company has deposits of $600,000 in its commercial department and $1,575,000 in its savings department, a capital of $150,000, and undivided profits, including surety coverage, of $312,000.

In a joint statement, Ralph Hemenway, president, and John W. Mason, chairman of the directors, said: "There are assets enough to pay the depositors in full."

Newcomb, whom officials blame for the bank's plight, organized and, until his arrest, personally directed one of the most popular jazz orchestras in New England. He outfitted his musicians regally at his own expense, providing them with evening clothes, and transported them in a luxuriously fitted bus. He drove an expensive automobile and provided a finely furnished home for his bride of a year.

Investigators said that the high fees which the orchestra was said to have obtained were, in some instances, fictitious. The orchestra's first engagement after Newcomb's arrest was said to have revealed that he contracted to play for only $50, although it was previously believed that he was to receive $150.

Agenda for Shipping Conference Announced

(Associated Press.)

Saying "American shipping men have at last gotten together on a program which is bound to restore the American flag to its rightful place on the ocean," T. V. O'Connor, chairman of the Shipping Board, yesterday announced the agenda for the third national conference on merchant marine, to be held in Washington April 23 and 24.

Among the subjects to be considered at the conference are mail contracts, marine insurance, Government aid to American ships not benefited by mail contracts, methods of increasing patronage for American ships and merchant fleet corporation activities.

Live Stock Sent to Wales' Ranch.

Manchester, England, March 28 (A.P.).—The steamship Manchester Division left this port along the ship canal bound for Canada with a valuable cargo of live stock for the Prince of Wales' ranch at High River, Alberta. Thirty Hampshire Down sheep and 40 pedigreed Shorthorn cattle were on board.

yellow dog contracts to become members of the Mine Workers Union.

"This decision showed that Judge Parker placed property rights above and superior to human rights. He approved an injunction which virtually reduced the conditions of the miners in West Virginia to a point approximating industrial servitude.

"The officers and members of the American Federation of Labor believe that the attitude shown by Judge Parker in this injunction case reveals a judicial state of mind which totally unfits him for service as a member of the Supreme Court of the United States.

"Labor will file its written objections with the Senate judiciary committee and it will ask for the privilege of presenting argument in opposition to the confirmation of Judge Parker's appointment. Labor will also call upon the members of the United States Senate to refuse to confirm the appointment of Judge Parker."

PRESIDENT IS ASKED TO UNVEIL CARVINGS

Head of Washington and Part of Coolidge History to Be Ready July 4.

HOOVER CONSIDERS TRIP

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover has been asked to unveil on July 4 the 60-foot head of George Washington and two paragraphs of Calvin Coolidge's celebrated 500-word history of the United States, chiseled in the granite of Mount Rushmore in the Black Hills of South Dakota.

Gutzon Borglum, sculptor for the Mount Rushmore National Memorial Association, said yesterday the President has taken the invitation under advisement and that Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge have indicated they wish to attend the ceremonies. The unveiling of the Washington head will mark completion of the first portion of four figures to be blasted out of the mountainside. Mr. Borglum expects to work in order on figures of Thomas Jefferson, Abraham Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt.

He said the first two paragraphs of Mr. Coolidge's history will deal in 20 to 40 words each with the Declaration of Independence and the adoption of the Constitution. Other points to be covered will be the Louisiana Purchase, the annexation of Texas, the entrance of the Oregon Territory to the Union, the Civil War and the construction of the Panama Canal. Mr. Borglum said the association believes these to be the salient points in United States history.

The sculptor also announced the association has been incorporated, and that its membership will not be limited to commissioners appointed by the President as in the past. Joseph S. Cullinan, president of the commission, urged the incorporation in order that 500 life memberships can be granted, Mr. Borglum said, increasing interest and facilitating the collection of funds to aid in the $500,000 project. The Federal Government is to pay half the cost of the memorial.

Ten Persons Are Hurt In Warehouse Roof Fall

Cincinnati, March 28 (A.P.).—Ten persons were injured today by the collapse of a four-story warehouse near the business district. Police said the roof caved in and the debris crashed through the floors to the basement. The building was filled with roofing paper and hardware.

Harry Havercamp, clerk, suffered a fractured skull and internal injuries. John Stephens, 18, Latonia, Ky., stenographer, was thrown out a window and fell into a street. He was taken to a hospital.

DR. KERNAHAN PLANS MANY SUNDAY TALKS

Columbia Heights Address to Be Broadcast in Lay Evangelism Drive.

MASS MEETING PLANNED

Workers in the pending visitation evangelism campaign, an outgrowth of the religious census recently taken in the District, will be addressed Sunday afternoon in Constitution Hall by Dr. A. Earl Kernahan, when instructions will be given to the canvassers.

More than 150 churches of the District and nearby Virginia and Maryland will be represented by the 4,000 workers, who will conduct the drive of lay evangelism. The Rev. Jason Noble Pierce, general chairman for Washington, will preside.

Dr. Kernahan's speaking engagements for Sunday include morning addresses at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, Calvary Baptist Church, Luther Place Memorial Church, Vermont Avenue Christian Church, Concordia Evangelical Lutheran Church, Mount Carmel Baptist Church and the Columbia Heights Christian Church. The latter address will be broadcast.

In the morning a representative of Dr. Kernahan will speak at Wallace Memorial Presbyterian Church, Petworth Baptist Church, Petworth M. E. Church, Calvary M. E. Church, First Reformed Church and the Florida Avenue Baptist Church.

In the evening Dr. Kernahan will speak at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, First Congregational Church, Mount Vernon Place M. E. South, McKendree M. E. Church and the Mount Airy Baptist Church. A representative of his will be at the Vermont Avenue Christian Church, Calvary Baptist Church, Epworth M. E. South, North Carolina Avenue Methodist Protestant Church and the Third Baptist Church.

Death of Spanked Child Under Investigation

Denver, March 28 (A.P.).—Stephen Sobie, 26, was under arrest today while police investigated his story that Benjamin Aluman, 10, his brother-in-law, was shot through the heart as he was being spanked.

Sobie said the child was killed when a rifle leaning against a wall was kicked over. The accident occurred, he reported, when he scuffled with the child in an attempt to discipline him for coming home late last night. The boy's mother is dead and his father, W. H. Alum, lives in Wichita, Kans. Benjamin had been living with his sister here for several months.

Evermay Club Anniversary Is Cause of Fete

Silver Jubilee Marked by Members in Georgetown.

By JEAN ELIOT.

CELEBRATING its twenty-fifth birthday, the Evermay Club entertained at luncheon yesterday at the Army and Navy Club, there being but few absentees from its membership of approximately 30. Reminiscences of the last quarter century, with pleasantly rambling excursions into history, were featured on a program which included such beguiling subjects as "History of Evermay," "Impressions of Evermay" and "Evermay's Daughter," with the usual greetings and papers on past presidents and past entertainments.

Although it is comparatively young, the Evermay Club belongs very much to old Georgetown. Its members, limited to 35, are for the most part women whose forebears have been residents of Georgetown since the old town looked down upon Washington as an upstart city. Few of the fashionables who have migrated to Georgetown in droves of late years have been asked to join and the newcomer who is invited into the organization counts it as a feather in her cap and a tribute to intellectual attainment and the promise of congeniality.

This club, whose object is the study of the civilized nations, more especially as regards their literature, arts, architecture and handicrafts, and the consideration of current events in politics, history, arts, science and religion, took its name from Evermay, one of the historic estates of Georgetown. The property of Mr. and Mrs. F. Lammot Belin, Evermay is now occupied by Representative Ruth Baker Pratt, but in past years Mrs. William B. Orme was its mistress for a long period and it was in her day that the Evermay Club was organized there. Mrs. Orme is a life member of the club, the only person ever so honored.

A photograph of Evermay as it was in the old days before Mr. and Mrs. Belin remodeled and restored it at great expense and with discriminating taste, decked the souvenir programs for the anniversary luncheon. And there were place cards, the work of Mrs. G. P. DuBose, for each guest, each with an appropriate and original verse. Mrs. J. Bernard Wyckoff presided. Although a comparative newcomer to Georgetown, she is now president of the Evermay Club.

The members of the club, most of whom were present yesterday, are Mrs. Wingrove Bathon, Mrs. T. Janney Brown, Mrs. Frank S. Bright, Miss Mary C. Brush, Mrs. James Courts, Mrs. George P. Du Bose, Miss Nellie Flournoy, Mrs. Christopher Garnett, Mrs. William T. Glover, Mrs. D. Agnes Greenlees, Mrs. J. R. Hildebrand, Mrs. John Ihlder, Mrs. James T. Marshall, Mrs. James McKirdy, Mrs. Willis N. Mills, Miss Emma Nourse, whose family long owned Highlands, now the home of Rear Admiral and Mrs. Cary T. Grayson; Mrs. Lore A. Rogers, Mrs. Alexander R. Shepherd, Mrs. Lloyd P. Shippen, Mrs. Charles G. Shoemaker, Mrs. Alexander S. Stewart, Mrs. N. Streater, Mrs. John Allan Talbot, Miss Edith Trapier, Mrs. F. Bland Tucker, Mrs. Lloyd B. Wight, Mrs. Herbert C. Wilkins, Mrs. Spencer Wood, Miss Henrietta R. Woods, Mrs. Earle O. Whittier and Mrs. Wyckoff.

Mrs. Hoover Motors To Rapidan Camp.

Accompanied by a small group of friends, Mrs. Hoover motored to the President's camp on the Rapidan yesterday, expecting to remain over night and to return to Washington this afternoon.

The Ambassador of Cuba, Senor Don Orestes Ferrara, will return to town tomorrow from New York, where he went to attend the dinner given last night by the Cuban Society of America.

The Ambassador of Germany and Frau von Prittwitz und Gaffron entertained informally at dinner last evening for Dr. and Frau Eckener. Earlier yesterday Dr. and Frau Eckener were guests at luncheon of the Counselor of the German Embassy and Frau Kiep.

The Secretary of War, Mr. Patrick J. Hurley, went to New York yesterday and will remain over the week-end. He attended the supper dance given last night by the New York Newspaper Women's Club and tomorrow he will be guest of honor at a reception to be given by the American-Irish Historical Society.

Nieces Are Visiting Senator McKellar.

Senator Kenneth McKellar is entertaining his nieces, Miss Matilda McKellar and Miss Lucia McKellar, of Louisville, at the Willard Hotel.

Senator and Mrs. Felix Hebert have gone to their home at West Warwick, R. I. They will rejoin their family in their apartment at the Wardman Park Hotel on Monday.

Senator Samuel M. Shortridge, is at Hotel Traymore, Atlantic City, for a week's rest.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald S. Leas have motored to Washington from their home in Haverford, Pa., and are at the Carlton for a few days, accompanied by their daughter, Miss Katharine Leas, and their son, Master Donald Leas.

Mr. and Mrs. Mann Returning to Capital.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac T. Mann are motoring to Washington from Florida, where they have spent most of the winter. Mr. and Mrs. William Mann, who have been occupying Mr. and Mrs. Mann's house in Washington during their absence, are at present in Bermuda.

Sir Michael E. Sadler, of University College, Oxford, and his sister, Mrs. Dewar, of Rugby, are guests at the Powhatan and plan to remain until Tuesday.

British Envoy Will Receive Lacrosse Team

Sir Ronald and Wife Plan to Fete Oxford Athletes.

The British Ambassador, Sir Ronald Lindsay, and Lady Lindsay will hold an informal reception on Tuesday afternoon at the embassy in Connecticut avenue for members of the Cambridge-Oxford Lacrosse team, who are in this country playing a series of matches with American teams. As the embassy is more or less dismantled and Sir Ronald and Lady Lindsay are living at a hotel, this hospitality will be official, not social, in character and afterward the visitors will be entertained at tea in two groups at the residence of Mr. Ronald Ian Campbell, Counselor of the Embassy, and at the home of the Commercial Secretary of the Embassy and Mrs. Leander McCormick-Goodhart.

These festivities will follow a game between the visiting team and the St. John's College Team, holder of the Intercollegiate lacross championship to be held in the Central High School Stadium, Washington, on Tuesday afternoon. The Britishers will arrive in Washington Monday after having been in Philadelphia "getting acclimated" for several days. While in this part of the world they will stay at Maryland University in College Park, Md., and will be guests at the Nu Sigma Omicron Fraternity House. On Monday afternoon the Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority will entertain at tea for the visitors. The morning of Tuesday will be devoted to sightseeing, including a visit to the White House. On Wednesday the lads will inspect the new British Embassy, now abuilding. That afternoon they will go to Chestertown, Md., where they will play Washington College on Thursday.

Composers' Club Plans For Final Musicale.

The Washington Composers Club will close the series of Sunday afternoon musicales at the Congressional Country Club tomorrow.

First performances of compositions by Mr. Edward C. Potter, Mrs. Dorothy Radde Emery, Mr. Ervin J. Stenson, Mr. Siegfried Scharbau and Mr. Jerome Williams will be presented tomorrow. A chamber orchestra from the United States Marine Band Orchestra will play some compositions of Mr. Potter, Mrs. Emery and Mr. Scharbau.

Mrs. Florence Sindell, soprano of the First Church of Christ Scientist, in Washington, and the Eighth Street Temple, will assist Mr. Stenson in an interpretation of his songs, while Mr. Williams will present some of his modern piano compositions.

Maj. and Mrs. Schoolfield Grace have arrived in Washington from their home in Southampton, N. Y., and are staying at the Carlton.

Dr. Paul Schwarz, Acting Consul General of Germany, is a guest at the Willard, having come on from New York for the various entertainments being given in honor of Dr. and Frau Hugo Eckener.

Model Aircraft Tests To Start This Morning

The 1930 District model aircraft tournament will get under way at 9:30 o'clock this morning on Bolling Field, where hundreds of boys are expected to gather for the first event of the season from the Capital and nearby Virginia and Maryland.

The contest will open with a qualification round, which will be followed by tests of scientific planes and gliders. Meets will be held every fortnight until the finals late in August.

Society Plans Presentation Of 'Fur Coat'

Italy-America Group to Give Performance at Hotel.

Rehearsals are now in order for the performance of "The Fur Coat," from the Italian of Dario Niccodemi, which the Italy-America Society is to present at the Mayflower on Thursday evening, April 10, with an all-star cast recruited from the younger group in society. Among those who are to take part are Mrs. John P. Jackson, Miss Alice Morris, of New York, who recently visited Miss Vittoria Catalani; Miss Margaretta Wright, Miss Laura Tuckerman, Miss Elsie Ekengren, Miss Martha Meade, Lieut. Comdr. G. C. Hoover, an aid at the White House, and Maj. Donald Armstrong.

The original intention was to put on a play in Italian, with Senora de Ferrara, wife of the Cuban Ambassador, as a featured member of the cast. But, when Senora de Ferrara withdrew because of mourning and one or two other accomplished Italian scholars drifted away, it was deemed advisable to use a translation. Besides the play the program for the evening of April 10 will include a recital by Giuseppe Bruno and dancing will follow.

Mr. and Mrs. Gluyas Williams, of Boston, Mass., have arrived at the Powhatan and will remain several days.

Mrs. Charles E. Bateson entertained at luncheon in the crystal room at the Willard yesterday, having as her guests Mrs. Clarence Dill, Mrs. Stephen Gambrill, Mrs. Frank Baldwin, Mrs. Ramsey Hoguet, Mrs. Julien Mason, Mrs. Karl Klemm and Mrs. Jones

Gladys Crail To Be Hostess For Birthday

Fete Is Arranged by Her Parents at Hotel Today.

From the pages of "Mother Goose" and from folk tales of other lands will come tiny tots in costume this afternoon to pay obeisance to their "queen." Gladys Crail, small daughter of Representative and Mrs. Joe Crail, whose seventh birthday will be celebrated at the Mayflower, resplendent in a Chinese costume sent by her grandmother, Mrs. George Schmidt, of San Francisco, the little hostess will receive at 3 o'clock, about fifteen friends having been invited to celebrate the day. Fascinating favors and prizes have been received also from the Pacific Coast and an afternoon of games and dancing arranged to crown the all-important event.

Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland is a guest at the Willard, having come from Annapolis to speak at the dinner last evening of the Maryland Utilities Association, convening at the hotel.

BOSTON GRAFT QUIZ DRAGS IN POLICEMEN

High Officials Got $500 and $1,000 Monthly, Witness Charges.

HOTEL PAYMENT CITED

Boston, March 28 (A.P.).—John F. Sheehan, former State representative, today testified that John F. Sullivan, former proprietor of the padlocked Hotel Ritz, had told him that Superintendent Michael H. Crowley and Commissioner Herbert A. Wilson, of the Boston police, had received $500 and $1,000 a month, respectively, from Sullivan. Sheehan was a witness at a hearing on the pensioning of Oliver B. Garrett, former police headquarters liquor raider.

Testimony of actual payment of money to Garrett was given earlier today by Grover R. Moran, of Cochituate, who described himself as an investigator. The sum he named was $65,000.

Moran swore that John F. Sullivan, proprietor of the Ritz Hotel, had told him he had given that much to Garrett over three years.

Moran's testimony came after previous evidence that Garrett had been the recipient of mysterious envelopes from a former Hotel Ritz employe. That testimony was given by Mrs. Mary Butterfield, widow of a former waiter at the establishment, who described Garrett's visits to her home and the unaddressed envelopes she said her husband had given the policeman.

Sheehan in his testimony said Sullivan also told him that "Garrett raided me seven times in six months." Continuing, Sheehan said, "Sullivan told me it cost him $2,000 to fix it up after it (the hotel) had been raided." Sullivan wanted to have his own lawyer in the cases, Sheehan said, but according to the story he told, was informed by Garrett, that he would have to have "Herbie Callahan."

"When he had his own lawyer," Sheehan said Sullivan told him, "he had been raided once or twice a year and it was like having a license fee." Quoting Sullivan, Sheehan said he complained that "now it has cost me $65,000 in three years between grafting policemen and thieving lawyers."

Husband Deserted Bride Of Three Weeks, Charge

"My husband lived with me for three weeks, then took me to Union Station and told me to go home to Cumberland," was the testimony of Mrs. Virginia Harper Volland in a divorce suit pleaded before Judge Albert A. Doub in Circuit Court at Cumberland, Md., yesterday.

The defendant, Robert J. Volland, of Washington, was ordered to pay $1,800 to Mrs. Volland when the court granted them a partial divorce, the money to pay for alimony, counsel fees and court costs. Mrs. Volland denied that she had given any cause for the desertion and abandonment which she said followed her marriage.

Bankrupt Taxicab Firm Petitions For Receiver

The Wardman Park Taxi Co., which on Thursday was adjudicated a bankrupt, yesterday petitioned the District Supreme Court to appoint a receiver to take over the business until after appointment of a trustee in bankruptcy.

Through Edward J. Seiler, secretary-treasurer, the company tells the court that it has 47 taxicabs in operation and that more can be realized if the business is sold as a going concern than if it is permitted to cease operation. If sold as a going concern, the petition states, the business will bring in at least $20,000. Attorneys Wolf & Wolf appear for the company.

Polish Order for Taft Is Presented to Widow

Tytus Filipowicz, Amassador of Poland, yesterday presented to Mrs. William Howard Taft the Grand Cross of the Order of Polonia Restituta, which was conferred upon the late President in 1924 by the Polish government. This decoration could not be presented to Mr. Taft while he was Chief Justice. Because of ill health after his resignation from the Supreme Court bench the cross was not conferred.

The honor was given because of the gratitude of the Polish people to Mr. Taft for his participation in the unveiling of the Pulaski and Kosciuszko monuments in Washington.

Art of Scaling Mountain Peaks Related by Boy, 19

Secrets of scaling sheer rock faces where a slip would mean a fall of hundreds of feet were disclosed to members of the National Geographic Society last night in motion pictures displayed by BBradford Washburn, 19-year-old college student, at the Washington Auditorium. The picture were taken last summer on the peaks of the Mont Blanc Range, near the meeting place of France, Italy and Switzerland.

The most difficult bit of mountain climbing in the range done by Mr. Washburn, was the scaling of the "Green Needle" from its north face, a feat not before accomplished. Motion pictures of this climb were not obtainable because the heavy camera could not be carried. Slides illustrated the difficulty of undertaking.

Street Work Contracts In Capital Are Awarded

Contracts for street repair work were awarded by the District Commissioners yesterday to low bidders as follows:

The Cranford Co., cement concrete sidewalks, $53,650; Corson & Gruman, resurfacing asphalt streets, $182,908; Corson & Gruman, repairing cement roadways and alleys, $45,435; McGuire & Rolfe, Inc., for paving alleys, $122,252.50; Corson & Gruman, bituminous surface treatment, $15,-760. Contracts were let earlier this year in an effort to help the unemployment situation and the recovery of business.

William Neuland Will Is Filed For Probate

William Neuland, president of the National Permanent Building Association, who died March 24, left the bulk of his estate to his widow, Mrs. Auguste M. Neuland, according to his will, which was filed for probate yesterday in District Supreme Court. No indication of the estate's value is disclosed.

Provision is made that upon the death of the widow the estate is to be held in trust until the youngest child reaches the age of 32 years, at which time it will be distributed to all but Henry J. Neuland, a son, whose share is to remain in trust during his life. Mrs. Neuland is named as executrix.

Widow of Houston Wins in Libel Suit

Magazine Ordered to Pay $25,000 for Sketch of Texas Pioneer.

Fort Worth, Tex., March 28 (A.P.).—Judgment of $25,000 today was awarded the widow of Temple Houston, picturesque figure of Oklahoma's prestatehood days and son of Gen. Sam Houston, the "Texas liberator," by a Federal District Court jury, which held that she was damaged to that extent by a biographical sketch of her husband published by Liberty magazine.

Mrs. Houston had asked for $200,000, and suits against Liberty, Inc., by four children, still pending, ask an additional $400,000. The suits charged the characters of both Temple Houston and his father were blackened by the sketch, particularly that part referring to Temple Houston as born of an aboriginal marriage. Attorneys for the magazine announced they would appeal.

The magazine article stated that Temple Houston, one-time Texas State senator, was the son of Sam Houston by an Indian mother. The defense rang in some of the colorful saga of the Texas hero to show Houston's reverence for the Cherokee Indian maiden whom he loved and married by Indian laws.

Rum Seized on Board Ship Used to Hunt Dream Isle

Two Cases Confiscated by Customs Officers as Vessel Returns from Year's Cruise After Vision of Ocean Kingdom Vanishes.

Boston, March 28 (A.P.).—Customs officers boarded the steam yacht Peary, owned by M. F. Bramley, of Cleveland, when she docked today after a year's cruise and seized two cases of choice liquor and wine.

The Peary, which had been used by the explorers, Byrd and MacMillan, in polar expeditions, was fitted out by Bramley to search for a submerged island in the Pacific, which he saw in a dream. She left here a year ago last month. Bramley found his island, or an island, but it was too far beneath the surface and currents were too swift to permit development and he was forced to give up his idea of establishing an island kingdom, independent of all established nations.

Capt. C. V. Griffin, skipper of the Peary, told customs officers he was unaware that the liquor was aboard and that had he known of its presence he could have included it in permits granted the ship. It was the property of the owner, he said, and it was discovered in a clothes press used by him during the voyage.

Capt. Griffin is well-known in maritime circles and was at one time commander of the Wyoming, one of the last six-masters left on the East coast, before she was lost with all hands in a gale some years ago.

Capt. Griffin said Bramley is contemplating an African cruise next fall and that he will remain as skipper.

Marriage Brokers Are Incorporated

Association Plans to Aid Hebrew Couples in Finding Mates.

New York, March 28 (A.P.).—Incorporation of "the Marriage Brokers Association of the United States, Inc.," was approved today in supreme court.

The petition said that the association was incorporated "to perpetuate an old custom among the Hebrew people in which an intermediary is used to introduce two persons of the opposite sex for the honorable purpose of marriage who, because of timidness or unusual modesty, might otherwise remain single; to weed out all persons acting as marriage brokers who are purely mercenary and are lacking in the high principles and notable character required for this kind of work and to encourage men and women of unblemished repute to devote their lives to this high purpose and to educate the people of all denominations and races that it is desirable that this old Hebrew institution of the marriage broker be recognized by law and that a law be passed compelling marriage brokers to be duly licensed in order that the good purpose of the vocation be controlled by legal supervision."

Josephus Daniels Criticizes Raskob

Chairman Should Pay Debt He Created Against Party, He Says.

Raleigh, N. C., March 28 (A.P.).—Charging that John J. Raskob is "more interested in destroying prohibition than in the Democratic party," Josephus Daniels, former Secretary of the Navy, in an editorial for tomorrow's edition of his newspaper, the News and Observer, declares that Mr. Raskob owes it to the party to pay the debt he created against it" and resign his connection with the national Democratic executive committee.

"The Democratic party," he continues, "demands, or the best portion of it does, that the chairman of the committee shall have no alliances that are hurtful to the common good, or that will work injury to party success. As long as he (Raskob) remains, millions of voters will believe the Democratic party is wet."

Mr. Raskob, the editor says, gave money to the Association Against the Eighteenth Amendment and made "advances to the Democratic party."

No campaign, Mr. Daniels writes, "had such costly and unnecessary frills as that of 1928. Mr. Raskob wished them. He adopted them. He should pay for them."

DR. GILBERT H. GROSVENOR, of the Geographic, revealing that Byrd at the South Pole heard Commander Eckener flying over Pennsylvania ought to be a warning to the Pennsylvania senatorial contenders to speak softly when discussing campaign plans.

More than a month ago arrangements were made by Columbia to have a fishing vessel fitted up with the necessary broadcasting equipment in order that the Forty Fathom Trawlers drama might be enacted under actual seagoing conditions. There was much advertising of the first program to be broadcast from the deck of a vessel at sea.

However, while the Europa was racing to New York the NBC got the idea of installing equipment and broadcasting a program from her deck off quarantine. Thus the first program from the deck of a ship anchored off shore was given to the radio audience just 24 hours ahead of the Forty Fathom Trawlers.

ONE of the few persons who has been as conspicuous since he left the Cabinet as he was in it, Will H. Hays, will be presented to the radio audience by Merle Thorpe at 8 o'clock tonight over WRC.

The People's Pulpit Association is reported on good authority to have purchased controlling interest in the recently consolidated Station WHO-WOC, at Des Moines, Iowa. The deal has not yet, however, been brought to the attention of the Radio Commission.

The association, headed by Judge J. F. Rutherford, successor to Pastor Russell, already owns WORD, at Chicago, and WBBR, New York, and in addition puts a religious service on the air every Sunday afternoon over more than 100 other stations. The price of the new purchase is said to be approximately $500,000.

Starting Monday morning, Station WMAL will join the Columbia system at 8 o'clock each morning, an hour earlier than the station usually goes on the air.

THE only ones who thus far have really made history at the naval parley, Frederic William Wile and William Hard, have returned to their native heath covered with glory. Not only are they the first who were ever sent abroad to announce a radio event, but they have held their own against some of the world's greatest statesmen, heard from the other side—Wile even shining in the illustrious presence of Lady Astor.

Their accomplishment has been all the more remarkable because, after all, Wile and Hard are newspaper men and not statesmen or professional orators.

A short-wave broadcast from Schenectady was picked up in Sydney, Australia, recently and rebroadcast to Schenectady. The 20,000-mile distance was covered in one-eighth of a second.

Don't forget to tune in on the Press Club spelling bee at 8:30 o'clock tonight—either WMAL or WRC.

From the New York Evening Post: "A medical expert now comes forward with the statement that the morning radio setting-up exercises are not beneficial and may even be harmful, a discovery we made these many years ago by standing too near a radiator while doing them."

Jane Corbin INTERPRETS the MODE

Collars and cuffs have become works of art this season! (Dah-ray Ideas).

Paris, March 28.

I LIKE 'em.

There is something so delightfully fresh about them, and, if you can bear to hear the word, youthful.

And then, oh, the marvelous variety possibilities! Not that the mere changing of a collar and cuff set is going to enable you to do with one dress for every occasion these days, but by golly, it almost does.

And then the newness of this season's collars and cuffs! Not just a hunk of white material finished with a rolled hem, but a calculated and well-thought-out work of art. Materials one's never suspected in the collar-and-cuff world make their elaborate appearance; collars and cuffs solidly beaded all over by hand, in little dull white beads on voile; pale silver lame (lah-may) collars and cuffs stitched all over in tiny diamonds or circles, which hold the lame in a way that gives it a stiffness that lends itself to very artistic effects.

And the most adorable collars and cuffs of black or pastel-colored horsehair! And some even of softly woven straw. And many other novelties, which certainly lend an air of elegance to the very humble collar and cuff that they never had before.

• • • • •

Wouldn't you like one dark afternoon dress this spring with some very just-from-Paris-looking collars and cuffs that make it look like about six or eight dresses? Well, once we priced one and it was "only thirty-five dollars, Madame."

Well, when any one pulls a line like that on us, it usually makes us mad, so we sat down and outthirty-five-dollared the whole gang of 'em about ten times—I mean, we made ten unusual and very decorative collar and cuffs sets for afternoon and evening wear, besides the very detailed directions of how to make them.

Just a stamped, self-addressed envelope mailed today to the Dare Department of The Washington Post will bring you the illustrated leaflet that tells you how to make all these sets.

• • • • •

Why mention Patou pink when everybody knows about it by now? But you see, we don't just say "Patou shows pink" and let it go at that, not by very much of a long sight. I would say rather that this soft rosy pink is very becoming, flattering and youthful in effect without seeming to make a desperate effort to be so. It is becoming to all blondes and all brunettes, but red-headed ladies must avoid it. And it is especially flattering to grey and white hair.

• • • • •

Don't you want to make a spring bag, and fancy cuffs on your gloves to match it? That's awfully smart, now, for an idea—you know that, or do you? Anyway, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post no later than today, and get back one of the few leaflets that are left telling you how to make this bag and glove set.

• • • • •

Petite Adorable is growing into the age that is rather difficult to dress, so some Mammas think. I'm designing some spring dresses for her, which I'll sketch for you shortly—watch for them.

• • • • •

And tomorrow you should look for the Dare fashion letter in the big Sunday Post.

What Today Means to You

"ARIES."

IF March 29 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8 a. m. to 10 a. m., from 2:30 p. m. to 3:45 p. m. and from 7 p. m. to 8:50 p. m. The danger periods are from 11 a. m. to noon and from 10 p. m. to 11:30 p. m.

The making or marrying of history on this date lies in your hands, as the powers of Fate are not actively indicated. A good time to push personal interests and social affairs.

Children born on this March 29 will make faithful, loyal friends. They will have strong will powers, good mentalities and will be able to grasp any project presented to them, both quickly and accurately. They will be very kind hearted and generous, and they will always give more than they receive.

You are a many-sided being and you have a dozen personalities rolled into one. You seem able to change your whole mentality, and manner at will. A leader you were born to be, and leader you will be, first, always and last. In this respect you are constant. Procrastination is not one of your short-comings. You make snap decisions and if you make mistakes, you manage to wriggle out of them somehow.

You are a born bargainer, and you usually get the best of a bargain. You are essentially cunning, although you so camouflage this trait that it is not self-evident. This cunning you employ indiscriminately—it matters little to you who is the object, or who the tool. Women born on a March 29 are more scrupulous and sympathetic than the men. If you be a man you care not how your gain ends so long as you attain them. You do not go out of your way to hurt; but you do not hesitate to ride over others roughshod if it is essential to the good of yourself and yours to do so. It is understandable that you make many enemies, and bitter ones. You are not given to making excuses, and you waste no time in sorrowful regrets.

Successful people born March 29:
1—John Tayler—Tenth President of the United States.
2—Frank Leslie—Publisher.
3—Elihu Thompson—Electrician and inventor.
4—Stephen Bonsal—Newspaper correspondent.
5—Joseph Cawthorn—Actor.
6—Henry White—Diplomat.

WORK ON BRIDGE

Continuing our consideration of slam invitations made by bidding four of a minor over partner's original three No Trumps, we must have in mind that the three No Trump bid shows four suits stopped, which usually means that the bidder is at least Queen-high in every suit. It may happen occasionally that a "stopped" suit consists of Jack-Ten-x-x, but such a circumstance is so unusual that it is hardly worth considering. In 99 cases out of 100, the three No Trump bidder has an Ace, King or Queen in every suit, so he necessarily will know whether his partner's minor overcall means Ace or King-Queen of the suit named. This is so because four Diamonds or four Clubs called over an original three No Trumps announces that the overcaller has a total count of at least 9, included in which is the King and Queen or the Ace of the suit he is naming. If it be the Ace, he has a count of it at least 5 elsewhere; if it be the King and Queen, he has a count of at least 4 elsewhere.

This slam-invitation bid does not announce or deny length in the minor suit that is named, and of course it is in the category of "forcing" bids and the three No Trumper never should permit the four-of-a-minor to stand. If his No Trump were based on a count of 21, 22 or 23, he should bid four No Trumps to indicate that the partner's slam-invitation is not accepted. But if the No Trump were based on a count of 24, 25 or 26, the proper response is a suit-bid to show an Ace or King-Queen or a bid of five or six No Trumps. The bid of five No Trumps would be a request to the partner to go to six if his jump had been made with more than 9, out not otherwise.

A combined count of 25 in partnership holdings generally will produce three-odd at No Trumps; a combined count of 30 almost invariably will produce four-odd; 33 (generally 32) will produce five; and 35 may be relied upon to produce six-odd—34 is apt to do it.

GOOD NEWS, BRIDGERS.

We are pleased to announce we can now renew the offer of Milton C. Work's great Contract and Auction booklet entitled "THE PLAYING PROBLEMS." Bridgers who received copies from previous offers are most enthusiastic over it.

"PLAYING PROBLEMS" presents eighteen hands, the complete auction and contract bidding for each hand with reasons for each bid, the answers to every question and the reason for each answer in complete detail.

"PLAYING PROBLEMS," which will be of much greater value to the auction and contract player than many high-priced textbooks, is not for sale. It has been prepared exclusively for readers of this newspaper by special arrangement with Mr. Work. One copy will be mailed to you upon request if you send self-addressed stamped return envelope, together with 6 cents in stamps to defray part of the cost of printing and handling this 48-page booklet. Requests not complying with these conditions will be ignored.

Wives of Tomorrow

By FRANCES M'DONALD

"Another Man of Leisure."

DEAR Miss McDonald: I am a constant reader of your column and would like a little advice. I was married when I was 17 to the man I loved. He was wonderful to me for the first year, then baby came along and he has acted terrible ever since. My baby is 4 years old now and a perfect baby, has won several health prizes. My husband thinks an awful lot of the baby, but pays little attention to me, quarrels continually and many times says he is tired of being married and wants to leave. I have offered him his freedom, as I do not love him any more. He has killed all the love I ever had for him by insulting me with his accusations. He always talks of my lover. I have no lover, nor even a friend. He is all I have, all that I ever wanted, but he is cruel and does not respect me or my people. He has not worked for over a year, while I have been working supporting him and my baby. I have done this to help him get a start, but he wants no start. At least he has made it appear so. I am so unhappy. It seems as though he is a failure. I have talked to him, pleaded with him, for my boy's sake, but he takes nothing seriously. He does not run around, so far as I know, for he is home every night, so I do not have that to worry about. Now, Miss McDonald, what shall I do, leave him and try to make something for my baby or must I continue taking his insults? I want to do the right thing by him, but he is just trying to ruin me, it seems. "A MOTHER."

No woman should ever support a man who is able to work. The very fact that he will accept support brands him as the type a woman should put out of her life. It is characteristic of the make-up to add insult to injury, and in accusing you of misconduct he is just running true to form.

Get rid of him. He will become worse as the years go on. You are only 22, and if you continue under the ban of worry and ill-treatment that now shadows you, your whole youth will be thrown away and for what? If there were any hope of ever making a man out of such material then indeed the present misery might be justified. But there is no hope for such a man.

So you are the one to be considered. Do not "offer him his freedom," but divorce him on grounds of nonsupport, and ask support for the child. Ordinarily divorce is about the last thing a young mother should consider. But when a lazy man is concerned the sooner the decks are cleared the better for all. In a few years you will probably find real love, and a man worthy of you. At present you are neither married nor single, and nerve-racked besides.

Love died because manhood died. Face the facts and freedom.

This column is for you! Your experiences, opinions and suggestions will help those who read this page. Express your views and help those in need of advice. You need not sign your name.

Uncle Sam's Home Hints

RICE COOKED IN MILK.

(U. S. Department of Agriculture.)

Rice cooked in milk has a richer flavor than when boiled in water and is particularly nourishing and wholesome for children. It may be served with tomato sauce and grated cheese, as the main dish of the meal, or with maple syrup or crushed fresh fruit as dessert.

One cup of rice will absorb a quart of milk when cooked in a double boiler. First wash the rice thoroughly in several waters so as to remove all loose starch, then drop it slowly into the hot milk and add one teaspoon of salt for each cup of rice. Cook the rice until the grains are soft when pressed between thumb and finger; or for about 30 minutes. Remove the lid of the double boiler during the last part of the cooking, so that the grains will remain separate.

Behind the Screens

With NELSON B. BELL.

It no doubt has occurred to you, too, that:

With five of his executive cabinet opposing his stand in the Halsey, Stuart & Co. and other controversies relating to refinancing, William Fox is not sitting so pretty as he seemed to be at first, and certain "in-laws" high on the pay roll may have something to do with it.

Lent has plenty effect on theater patronage, despite the contention in some quarters that the talking and singing screen, natural-color photography, magnificent playhouses and all the rest of it has brought about such enthusiastic support that nothing can keep the customers away these days—and the nearer Palm and Easter Sundays approach, the more effect it has.

Helen Kane, recently at the Earle in person, deserves the success and big money she has been enjoying the last year, after eleven years of struggle on the stage without so much of either.

The "Spring Carnival" trailers being run on the local Loew screens are masterpieces of monotony, especially if you have to see them twice a week for a month!

The Loew policy of itinerant masters of ceremonies with its touring stage units has resulted in surprisingly few flops, but that Bobby Gillette was one of them, with his brutal mangling of the banjo.

Mr. Breeskin's Orchestra at the Earle is louder, but not better, than the one he used to have at the Metropolitan, and before that at the Rialto, and before that at the Strand.

The only apparent cure for the seat kickers is amputation—of which I would be heartily in favor, except that I caught myself doing it the other day!

After an in-and-out start, Corbin Sheild has brought the sound projection at RKO-Keith's to a point that compares favorably with any in town, which is pretty good, everything considered.

There are no Arlington time signals in Lawrence Tibbett's singing in "The Rogue Song," at the Columbia.

Leon Brusiloff, conductor at the Fox, and Claude Burrows, who succeeded him at the Columbia, have been visible in Washington's orchestra pits for a long time now, dating back to goodness knows when—or maybe farther.

Judging from his loud speaker activities at the Earle, Milton Davis would have made a good radio announcer if he hadn't turned out to be an ace organist and a playin' fool at the pianoforte.

As suggested by Don Reed, who comes to bat when this department goes on its annual two-week outing at Hains Point, the picture theater orchestras in the Capital are particularly blessed in the matter of tympanists and expert percussionists, by which he means trap-drummers.

Nothing has been heard about the local personal appearance of Amos 'n' Andy for so long that Johnny Payette may be doing something about it on the quiet.

This sort of thing could go on forever, with time out to change ribbons.

Fortunately, it won't!

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

ABSENT-MINDED ACCIDENTS.

IT IS known that 90 per cent of accidents are of mental origin and result, not from insanity or continuous mental incompetency, but from thoughtlessness or carelessness. Psychiatry can try to throw some light on the predisposing causes of the carelessness or thoughtlessness (abstraction of mind from the work in hand) which causes 90 per cent of industrial accidents.

"A man at the time he causes an accident is not thinking happily of his work, but is thinking of himself, and of himself emotionally. A man who is comfortable in mind and body, and at ease with himself, adjusted to his work, to his environment and to his home life, whose work record is good and shows longer and longer periods of employment, of better and better kind of employment, thus showing he is neither sick, perplexed nor fatigued, and also showing that he is not misplaced, inadequate nor discontented, is not predisposed to become a causative factor in any accident, provided he has established successful mental habits and practices good mental hygiene."

So said Dr. H. S. Hulbert, in a discussion of "Mental Mechanics in Accident Prevention and Safety," before a meeting of the American Association of Industrial Physicians and Surgeons.

Having gotten this introduction off his mind, Dr. Hulbert proceeded to discuss causes of safety on the one hand, and accidents on the other, such as character, surprise, happiness, fatigue, anger, phantasy of three kinds, discipline versus obedience, example versus negative awards, criticism, forgiveness, fear, anxiety, campaigns, grouping, fascination, respect and self-respect, inferences, morals and the habit of indulging in comparisons.

Speaking of phantasy, he says: "It has been estimated that eleven-twelfths of the thought processes of the average person, excluding the old, are of a certain type. This type is known by various names: phantasy, reverie, day dreams, wishful thinking. He divides phantasy into three types, discussing each: day dreaming, which may lead to dementia preox, worry and retrospective reverie.

If 90 per cent of accidents are of mental origin and eleven-twelfths of thoughts of the average person are phantasies, it is time for employment managers and personnel officers to think about the subject. When the national safety council found itself plumped into the midst of the preventive medicine movement they had in mind faulty machinery as the great cause of compensation losses. They have corrected most of that trouble. They now find that physical disease far outweighs all other causes of loss from absenteeism and from compensation. They are preparing to go into the field of disease prevention on a large scale. However, they still have need to consider "Mental Mechanics" as a cause of accidents.

A booklet based on Dr. Hulbert's paper is now ready. It is the thirteenth of the "How to Live With" series. Send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope for a copy.

FORMER KLAN HEAD IS REFUSED PAROLE

D. C. Stephenson, Serving Life for Slaying Girl, Denied Liberty.

REQUEST IS CRITICIZED

Michigan City, Ind., March 28 (A P.).—The pardon board of the Indiana State Prison today denied the petition of D. C. Stephenson, life term prisoner, for a 90-day temporary parole.

Stephenson, convicted of the murder of an Indianapolis girl in 1925, requested the parole so that he might go to California to obtain evidence he said he would prove that he did not commit the crime.

In denying the plea of the former grand dragon of the Indiana Ku Klux Klan, the board expressed the opinion "that the attempt at this time to assail the character of a woman who is not in position to speak in her defense is an indefensible and unwarranted attack without a single fact worthy of consideration to sustain it."

In asking for the parole, Stephenson's attorney presented an affidavit signed by Dr. Mabel C. Faubes, a former Gary physician, in which she intimated that Miss Madge Oberholtzer, the girl for whose death the former klan leader was held responsible, had submitted to an illegal operation and had died as a result.

On the Rules of Traffic

By WILLIAM ULLMAN

In a moment of bitterness, a motor vehicle official once defined stop signs as "monuments to the ignorance of drivers who have to be told that they must not invade streets or highways carrying a heavy volume of traffic at higher speeds."

The traffic regulations of the District of Columbia are quite explicit on the subject of these "monuments." They require that when a driver approaches one, he must come to a complete stop and wait until he can cross the boulevard without interferring with traffic upon it.

Example: A driver is crossing Sixteenth street on O which is guarded by a stop sign instead of a traffic light. He notices that Sixteenth sreet is momentarily deserted, so he ignores the sign and dashes across as the more convenient thing to do. His act may have endangered no one, but it is in violation of the regulations.

JURY TRIAL IS ASKED IN ERLANGER'S WILL

Common Law Marriage Is Claimed in Affidavit by Charlotte Fiscal.

ATTORNEYS HAVE SPAT

New York, March 28 (A.P.).—Accompanied by such bitter exchanges by opposing counsel that Surrogate James A. Foley several times protested, an application was submitted in surrogate's court today for a jury trial to determine whether Charlotte Fiscal is the common law wife of Abraham L. Erlanger, theater magnate, who died on March 7.

Surrogate Foley reserved decision on the matter, and also on the submission of an affidavit by the woman's attorney, Max D. Steuer, in which she said that on November 3, 1927, in Atlantic City, N. J., Erlanger told her that if there was any doubt about her status of wife he wished to remove it at once.

Thereupon, the affidavit said, she put her arms around him and said, "You are my husband," and he replied, "You are my wife."

This was three weeks after the drafting of the will in which Erlanger said he was unmarried. Miss Fiscal was not mentioned in it, and she now is seeking a widow's share in the estimated $75,000,000 estate.

"If that marriage actually took place in New Jersey as she claims," Steuer said, "she, of course, became the wife of Abraham L. Erlanger and, accordingly, became his widow on his demise, and this relationship revoked the will."

Counsel for the beneficiaries protested that this was an attempt to make "a bilateral marriage out of a unilateral one."

Steuer contends that Miss Fiscal lived with Mr. Erlanger as his wife from 1920 until his death.

Counsel for the beneficiaries demanded a bill of particulars relating to the time, place and circumstances of the alleged marriage. Order was given until April 2 to reply.

One Student Is Killed, Seven Injured in Crash

Hot Springs, Ark., March 28 (A.P.). One youth was killed and seven boys and girls were injured, two seriously, as two automobiles, loaded with high school students, plunged off an embankment into Hot Springs Creek today. The students were out riding during the noon recess.

Bobby Fowler was killed instantly. The two most seriously hurt are Paul Pittman and Fowler Martin. Others injured included Inez Hardwood Ruth Avant, Jean Newkirk, Vera Trammell and Eugene Newkirk. They were taken to a hospital. All occupants of the two cars were injured Cause of the accident has not been determined.

Sally O'Neill's Brother Admits Guilt in Theft

Los Angeles, Calif., March 28 (A.P.). Jack Noonan, brother of Sally O'Neill, film actress, pleaded guilty in Superior Court today to receiving stolen property. The theft involved furs, clothing and jewelry valued at $10,000 taken from the apartment of Ted Lewis, orchestra leader, last July. Noonan, who has been under mental observation since his return here from New York, where he was arrested several months ago, filed an application for probation. A hearing was set for April 11.

Two codefendants, Joseph Burbridge and Sherry Tansey, previously pleaded guilty of burglary charges and were granted probation. Most of the stolen goods were returned.

Mate of Jack London's Daughter Asks Decree

Los Angeles, Calif., March 28 (A.P.). THE GREAT CRUSADE
By J. C. WISE
Col. Infantry, U. S. A., A. E. F.
THE FIRST REAL STORY OF THE 80th DIVISION

THE author of "The Great Crusade" has surpassed any record among American writers, within my knowledge, in painting true pictures of the fighting fronts as they existed in the World War. No one can read this book without experiencing genuine thrills. It should constitute for all time one of the best and most authentic narratives of the battle scenes in which the A. E. F. participated. America should be grateful for this extraordinary story of its greatest crusade.—Maj. Gen. Henry T. Allen, Late Commander of the American Army of Occupation on the Rhine.

THE "Great Crusade" is a strong and interesting story of the Great War, deserving to be a "best seller." It differs from the ordinary war story, and takes us to a higher altitude and gives us a wider view-point.—Rear Admiral William L. Rodgers, formerly member of the General Board of the U. S. Navy.

STOCK PRICE INDICES TOUCH 1930 PEAKS

Index of 90 Issues Gains 2 Points as 5,056,240 Shares Are Sold.

SEARS ROEBUCK LOSES

New York, March 28 (A.P.).—Wholesale speculation for the rise was resumed in the final hour of trading in today's stock market. Utility, rail, amusement, motor and specialty issues were taken in blocks of 1,000 to 10,000 shares, and stock price indices generally recorded new high levels for the year at the close. Total sales aggregated 5,056,240 shares, the largest day's business since December, exceeding Wednesday's turnover by a narrow margin.

The vigorous outburst of buying closely resembled the wild bull rampage that burst upon the market in the late trading on Wednesday. The movement was highly selective and highly professional. Several shares moved against the upward trend, notably the mail order and merchandising shares. The oils were given a breathing spell. The rails were taken in hand for the first time in several weeks, and several were sent to new high levels for the year. The price index of 90 issues gained 2 1-15 points.

The market opened firm in response to the unexpected decline of $21,000,000 in weekly brokers' loans and moved irregularly higher during the early hours of trading. Considerable selling had to be absorbed, and trading quieted down until midafternoon, when the ticker caught up with trading. The selling appeared to have dried up, and with the session well along to be in danger of attracting much profit taking before the close, the bull crowd swamped the trading floor with buying orders.

Business News Unimportant.

The day's news was not of a character to influence trading. The weekly business and trade reviews again reported gradual and irregular gains, pointing out that the seasonal upturn to be expected at this time had been retarded by the blizzard in the Middle West. The surprising decrease in brokers' loans, covering a period in which the index of 90 leading stocks gained nearly 3 points, and in which trading was in good volume, appeared to dominate speculative sentiment.

Among the more bullish theories offered was that investment trusts and other institutions had been withdrawing funds from the call loan market and buying stocks outright. Outright purchases of bonds from dealers by investors was also probably an important factor, in view of the large amount of new offerings of late. Call money continued firm today, renewing at 4 per cent, against 3½ yesterday, and holding at that level, as about $50,000,000 in loans was called, presumably to meet week-end and month-end banking requirements.

American Telephone was a strong feature, rising more than 7 points to a new high for the year at 257½, in response to predictions of an early offering of rights, and some gossip as to a vague possibility of segregating Western Electric through offering the stock as a dividend to A. T. & T. stockholders. Utilities more than recovered yesterday's losses, with the Electric Bond and Share group displaying conspicuous buoyancy. Electric Power & Light and National Power & Light rose more than 5 points to new 1930 highs.

General Electric Features.

General Electric was a feature of the industrials, rising more than 2 points, to 83¾, a record level for the new stock. General Motors was sent up to 51 for the first time this year. Coca-Cola was a buoyant issue, surging up more than 10 points to record levels. Low sugar prices are expected to increase its earnings this year. Hershey Chocolate, on the other hand, tumbled more than 4 points, as low prices for sugar and cocoa are rumored to have resulted in inventory losses, although they may help future earnings. Warner Bros. was an active and strong spot in the amusements, rising 3 points, to above 80 for the first time. The movement in the rail issue was in the face of unsatisfactory February reports for most carriers and based on better prospects later in the year and expectations of favorable merger developments. Alleghany Corporation, Chesapeake & Ohio, Chicago Great Western preferred, Wabash, Western Maryland, and Kansas City Southern rose about 2 to 7 points, to record 1930 prices.

In the merchandising group, Macy dropped about 5 points further to a new 1930 low at 132. Montgomery Ward sold off about 3 points to a new low for the present stock at 35¼, and Sears-Roebuck sold off about 4 points, to 82, only 2 points above the November minimum. Merchandise sales during the first quarter are understood to have been unsatisfactory. Another weak feature was Continental Baking A, which sagged 3 points to a new low for the year, also reflecting reports of a sharp shrinkage in sales.

Commodity markets were firmer. Wheat sold up about 2 cents, with a better market at Liverpool and bullish weather and crop reports. Corn sold up about a cent, and cotton futures closed 10 cents a bale lower to 75 cents higher.

Leading foreign exchange rates rallied, sterling cables ruling ⅛ higher, at $4.85⅝.

BONDS' PRICE TREND IS FIRM; RAILS DROP

UTILITY GROUP STEADY

New York, March 28 (A.P.).—Bond trading had a tendency to mark time today on the expectation that money rates would again ease with the turn of the month early next week. Liquidation of issues that had been heavily bought during the recent rise brought out declines in numerous rails, but buying orders elsewhere tended to even the declines and advances and the list was generally firm.

As in yesterday's session, the convertibles furnished the broadest moves. American Telephone 4½s spared 6¾ points, scoring most of their gain in the final hour as the stock was rushed upward, and closing at 177½. Warner Brothers Pictures 6s, heavily traded, touched 113, a new top, and closed 1¾ higher, at 112¾. Baltimore & Ohio 4½s rose about half a point, also on a large turnover. The volume in these three issues accounted for about $3,600,000 out of the day's total of $14,758,000.

Call money remained at 4 per cent, the renewal rate. There was an easier tone to 30-day loans, but the longer maturities were unchanged. United States Government Liberties and Treasuries firmed appreciably on light dealings.

Rails affected by moderate selling included Nickel Plate 5½s, Soo Line 6½s, Reading 4s, Western Maryland 4s, Union Pacific 4s and 4½s, and Reading general 4½s. On the other hand, such issues as Santa Fe general 4s, Rock Island 4s, Missouri Pacific general 4s, Northern Pacific prior lien 4s, Pennsylvania 4½s and Consolidated 4s and Union Pacific first 4s made small gains.

Both issues of American Telephone debenture 5s displayed little resistance to offerings and averaged about ¾ lower. Other high-grade utilities, however, were well supported and the composite price for ten bonds of this description made a small advance. Industrials were steady. Armour Real Estate 4s, Goodyear Tire 5s, Reading Coal & Iron 5s and Sinclair Pipe Line 8s showed an upward trend.

Numerous Latin-American bonds yielded a point or more. Brazil 6½s, the Colombia Bank issues, Chile Mortgage Bnak 6½s, and Paulo State 6s lost one to two. Belgium 7s of 1958 ceased 1¼, closing a point lower. There was another large turnover in British 4s which rose about ½.

COMMERCE EXPERT GETS NEW POSITION

Schnitman Is Named Chief of Research Unit of F. W. Dodge Co.

HELPED TO EDIT REVIEW

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Appointment of L. Seth Schnitman, Department of Commerce expert, as chief statistician in the division of statistics and research of the F. W. Dodge Corporation, publishers of building periodicals and statistical services, was announced yesterday by its vice president, Thomas S. Holden.

Mr. Schnitman has been expert chief of division of the "Survey of Current Business," in the Department of Commerce for almost seven years, being identified with that publication since its inauguration by Mr. Hoover as one of his first official acts as Secretary of Commerce in 1921. The "Survey of Current Business" has come to be regarded as the handmaid of business stability, and today, as at the time of origin, is still an important governmental adjunct, providing the basic facts on the state of the Nation's business.

Mr. Schnitman is a graduate of Sheffield Scientific School of Yale University and of Georgetown University Law School. In his new assignment he will be associated with Mr. Holden, vice president in charge of statistics, in the enlargement of the statistical research of the F. W. Dodge Corporation, taking up his duties on April 1.

Anacostia Bank Is 20 Years Old.

Anacostia Bank will celebrate its twentieth anniversary in May. The bank was originally the Anacostia branch of the former Union Savings Bank and its organizers bought the interests of the branch, establishing the Anacostia Bank in May, 1910.

George O. Walson, then treasurer of the Union Savings Bank, and now president of Liberty National Bank and Washington Stock Exchange, became the first president of the Anacostia Bank. Maurice Otterback, then manager of the branch and now president of Anacostia Bank, was its original cashier. Dr. M. M. Moffatt being its original vice president.

The first board of directors was composed of Mr. Walson, Dr. Moffatt, Mr. Otterback, Dr. Richard A. Pyles, Adolph Gude, J. Frank Campbell and James A. Glennon. The bank opened for business at 2021 Nichols avenue and in July, 1925, moved to its own building at 2000 Nichols avenue.

Murdock, assistant note teller to note teller; Harry Fleet Harper becomes assistant note teller.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, March 28 (A.P.).—Drought Southwest brought about soaring prices today for wheat. Complaints of excessively dry weather came from Kansas and Oklahoma in particular, with reports current that unless general soaking rains were received farmers were in for a big disappointment in yields from the 1930 harvest of domestic hard winter wheat. There were also advices that damage to soft winter wheat was showing up in Illinois, Indiana and Ohio. At noon wheat was 1¾-1⅞ net higher, and corn ¾-¾ up.

Closing quotations on wheat were strong at the day's top, corn 1⅞ over and oats ⅝ higher than yesterday's finish. Corn closed ¾ to 1⅛ cents up, oats unchanged to ⅝ cent advance, and provisions finished to rise of 7 cents.

Especially during the late transactions, wheat crop news relating to a wide sweep of winter territory south west and east of the Mississippi became increasingly pessimistic. Outstanding as a feature was an official summary from Oklahoma which said moisture was urgently needed throughout the State. Under such circumstances and with word at hand that Roumania, one of the largest of European exporters, also was complaining of lack of moisture, the market here mounted steadily, showing itself sensitive as well as to something of a jump in today's closing prices at Liverpool.

Better buying on the part of millers at Liverpool was announced, and there were indications of export business in domestic hard winter wheat had been done. Cables emphasized that European stocks of wheat were decreasing, and that apparently Argentina had little surplus wheat to ship. On the other hand, the hard freeze predicted for last night in part of the domestic winter belt failed to be fulfilled, and damage, if any, that resulted from low temperatures will only appear after wheat growth is further along.

Corn and oats followed the leadership of wheat, notwithstanding reported purchases of corn to come here from other terminal markets.

Despite downturns in hog values, provisions were somewhat firmer on account of scattered buying.

GETS NEW POST

L. SETH SCHNITMAN,
Commerce Department official, joining the F. W. Dodge Corporation.

ADVICE ON INVESTMENTS

By CHARLES W. STORM.

In making inquiries address Charles W. Storm, financial department of The Washington Post, and inclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply.

Alleghany Corporation Common.

H. F. J.—Will you please advise me relative to the prospects of Alleghany Corporation common stock as an investment?

Answer—Alleghany common can not be considered an investment issue, as it pays no dividends. It is a large holder of railroad stocks figuring in the Van Sweringen railroad properties. While the Alleghany Corporation receives interest and dividends on its stock holdings, it has not yet seen fit to distribute any of this income to stockholders. The stock, however, appears to possess attractiveness from a speculative angle, but not from an investment viewpoint.

Studebaker.

J. F. K.—I have been carrying 100 shares of Studebaker for about a year. I am satisfied with the 5 per cent return, but the stock is down considerably. What is your opinion as to holding on or not?

Answer—There does not appear to be any reason why Studebaker should be sold. Business in the automobile industry is expected to pick up in the second quarter, and, as the company sells a large number of cars, earnings, it would appear, should be satisfactory. As long as you are receiving dividends, the stock may be held.

Houston Natural Gas.

Dr. R. D.—I am thinking of buying Houston Natural Gas Corporation 6 per cent first mortgage gold bonds of 1943. I am satisfied in general, but there is one matter which I am in doubt about and which does not appear in the prospectus of the company, and it is this: What is the outlook for the supply of gas controlled by this company becoming exhausted and is it possible for a bondholder to get any definite information on this subject?

Answer—These bonds are given a good rating and may be bought. As to whether or not the company's supply of natural gas will ever become exhausted is a question which possibly no one can answer.

General Motors and Others.

J. W. L.—What is your opinion of General Motors, Packard and Parmelee Transportation, and several other stocks which I have listed?

Answer—General Motors, Packard and Parmelee appear to have attractiveness for over the long pull. All of them pay dividends and the companies have good sponsorship. Earnings may be regarded as satisfactory for the last few years. The other stocks you mention have a speculative tinge to them, and do not appear suitable for long-term possession.

Schutter Johnson Candy Co.

E. M.—Please tell me what you can of Schutter Johnson Candy Co. stock. I have some of the preferred, for which I paid $25 a share in 1928. What are the latest earnings?

Answer—An initial preferred quarterly dividend of 60 cents a share was paid from October 1, 1927, to October 1, 1928, but none since that time. This company not long ago leased a large building in Long Island for the manufacture of candy. Earnings on the preferred for 1928 were $1.23, as compared with $2.89 in 1927. Earnings of 1929 have not yet been made known. Discontinuance of dividends on the preferred makes the stock a speculation.

British American Consolidated.

N. M. S.—I am writing confident that you will furnish me with some information as to the financial merits of the British American Consolidated Properties, Ltd.

Answer—There is no record of the British American Consolidated Properties, Ltd. You say in your letter farther down that a representative of the company is seeking to have you exchange stock you hold in another company for the British American Consolidated Properties, Ltd., stock.

As a result of that suggestion which does not appear ethical, it would not appear advisable to make the switch. As far as British American Consolidated Properties, Ltd., is concerned, you should banish it from your mind.

BALTIMORE MARKETS.

Baltimore, Md., March 28 (A.P.).—WHEAT—No. 2 red winter, export, spot, 1.08¾; No. 2, red winter, nerlicky, domestic, spot and March, 1.09¾.

WASHINGTON: SATURDAY, MARCH 29, 1930. 17

WHIRLWIND FIVE GAINS DISTRICT TITLE IN TOURNAMENT; RUNYAN, YOUNG JERSEY PRO, NORTH-SOUTH OPEN WINNER

Field of Stars At Pinehurst Trail Youth

Subpar Round of 70 on Last 18 Holes Clinches Prize.

Frank Walsh Second; Armour in Triple Tie for Third.

PINEHURST, N. C., March 28 (A.P.).—With a large crowd billowing about him and stampeding in his path, Paul Runyan, 21-year-old assistant professional from Bloomfield, N. J., today shot near perfect golf for two rounds to win the twenty-eighth annual North and South Open Golf Tournament here.

The young shot-maker, who learned his tricks on the Concordia course in Little Rock, Ark., calmly pounded out rounds of 73 and 70 today to post the winning score of 291 and score a decisive victory over his more experienced rivals.

Runyan, with the exception of a bad second round when he soared to 77, shot steady near par golf throughout the gruelling contest. His four-round scores of 72—77—72—70 show the consistency of his game.

Starts Final Round In Three-Way Tie.

The new champion started the final round tied with two veteran professionals and a stroke behind Whitty Cox, of Brooklyn, the three-quarter mark leader. Realizing that only a subpar card would enable him to win, he started matching perfect figures throughout the nine and cut loose with some brilliant shots on the home nine for a 70, while the veterans blew their lead in that nerve-wracking home stretch.

Here's how Runyan shot the final 36 holes to win:

MORNING.
Par out	4	4	4	3	4	5	3	5	4—36
Runyan, out	4	4	4	2	4	5	3	5	4—35
Par in	4	4	4	4	3	5	3	4	4—35—71
Runyan, in	4	4	4	5	4	3	4	3	4—35—72
AFTERNOON.
Runyan, out	4	4	4	4	4	4	5	4	4—37
Runyan, in	3	4	5	3	4	3	4	3	4—33—70

Two strokes behind the winner, Frank Walsh, ruddy-faced Chicago pro, finished with a brilliant 69 for a gross score of 293. He collected $1,000 second prize money. But for three short putts he missed on his home nine, Walsh would have outstroked Runyan. His four-round score reads 75—72—77—69.

Turnesa Falters on Final Holes.

Joe Turnesa, the Elmswood, N. Y., cash performer; Tommy Armour, Detroit, and Billy Burke, of Greenwich, Conn., were tied for third with cards of 294. Burke climbed into the preferred company by matching Walsh's 69 on the last round. Turnesa was conceded a good chance of heading the field until he blew up on the last few holes.

The low scorers and amount of prize money follow:

Paul Runyan, Bloomfield, N. J., 72, 77, 70—291. $1,500.
Frank Walsh, Chicago, 75, 72, 77, 69—293. $1,000.
Billy Burke, Greenwich, Conn., 78, 75, 72, 69—294. $600.
Joe Turnesa, Elmsford, N. Y., 77, 74, 70, 73—294. $600.
Tommy Armour, Detroit, Mich., 74, 73, 72—294. $600.
Tracy Manero, unattached, 74, 77, 72, 72—295. $300.
Ed Dudley, Wilmington, Del., 76, 74, 71, 75—296. $250.
Horton Smith, Cragston, N. Y., 79, 75, 73, 70—297. $200.
Cyrill Walker, Paramus, N. J., 78, 76, 72, 72—298. $91.67.
Johnny Farrell, Mamaroneck, N. Y., 78, 75, 71, 74—298. $91.67.
James Hines, Hempstead, N. Y., 77, 75, 76, 70—298. $91.67.
Harry Cooper, unattached, 77, 78, 73, 70—298. $91.67.
Bobby Cruickshank, Purchase, N. Y., 74, 77, 72, 75—298. $91.67.
Whitty Cox, Brooklyn, 75, 74, 71, 79—299. $25.
Denny Shute, Columbus, Ohio, 76, 80, 73, 70—299. $25.
Harry Cooper, unattached, 77, 78, 73, 71—299. $91.67.
Bobby Cruickshank, Purchase, N. Y., 74, 77, 72, 75—298. $91.67.
Whitty Cox, Brooklyn, N. Y., 75, 74, 71, 70—299. $25.
Denny Shute, Columbus, Ohio, 76, 80, 73, 70—299. $25.

Fred McLeod Leader Of D. C. Men in Tourney

A total of 155 for the final 36 holes yesterday enabled Fred McLeod, veteran Columbia Country Club pro, to lead the Washington contingent, although Bob Barnett, Chevy Chase professional, was just one stroke behind with 312 after a 154 card yesterday.

Al Houghton, Harper Country Club, also finished with a 154 card and was two strokes behind Barnett with 314. Alex Armour clipped one stroke off his card of yesterday, 162, today to finish with 323. A. B. Thorne, of the Woodmount Club, had less trouble today, shooting 159, to round out a 325 total. W. F. Hall, former Annapolis and Roads professional, and W. C. Madre, the other Washingtonians in the tournament, withdrew after poor first-round cards.

Central Loses Grid Captain When Call of Navy Beckons

George McGinty, 17, Center, Enlists in Sea Service.

GEORGE McGINTY.

THE call of the Navy yesterday lured George McGinty, 17-year-old captain-elect of the Central High School Football Team, to withdraw from his high school course, tender his resignation as the 1930 Central grid leader, and enlist in the sea service, it was learned last night from "Ty". Rauber, coach at Central.

Although no definite reason was given for his action, difficulty in two of his subjects was advanced as the likeliest reason for McGinty's decision. The lad was extremely popular with his classmates and described as a good all-around boy.

One of the outstanding players on last year's Blue and White eleven, McGinty was chosen leader of this year's team in recognition of his splendid work. Although normally a center, Rauber had been planning to groom his as a tackle for next season's work, the stocky youngster being a versatile, as well as capable, performer. The Central mentor described him as one of the most valuable members of the squad on hand for next year and stated that his loss would be severely felt.

The 1929 season was McGinty's first as a regular with the Central team. He would have had two more years on the team, as he was not to have graduated until June, 1931. He was a member of Sigma Delta Fraternity.

Nats Trounce Rookie Giant Team, 10-3

Liska, Burke Yield Only 2 Hits Each in Victory.

Barnes, Bluege and Powell Lead in 11-Hit Attack.

By FRANK H. YOUNG
(Staff Correspondent of The Post).

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., March 28. The Nats turned in their fifth victory of the exhibition season here this afternoon when they easily downed McGraw's second-string Giants, 10 to 3. The New York rookies started off well, but then folded up and it was just a breeze for the American Leaguers after they swung their big berthas into action.

Ad Liska and Bob Burke divided the Washington mound work, each granting but two hits, while the Nationals gathered eleven off the combined offerings of the veteran Jack Scott, Hen Hensel and Roy Kenneth, many of which came at most timely moments and were wrapped around bases on balls and errors.

Barnes, with two singles, led the Nats with the flail although Bluege and Powell made bids for honors. The third baseman emptied the filled bases in the fifth with a double while the rookie fly-chaser tripled with two on. Of the four allen hits, one by Kenneth was the biggest. It was a homer, which saw the ball land on top of the left-field stands.

First Run Off Liska Is Tainted.

Loepp made the best catch for the Nats, while Allen and Leslie did some fancy fielding for the New Yorkers. The embryo Giants rang up an early two-run lead but the Nationals evened the count in the third, jumped in front in the fifth and from then on romped home to an easy victory.

Of the two runs scored against Liska, the first was tainted and was made without the need of a hit. Bluege gave the aliens a start in round two by making a two-base error on Leslie's opening grounder. Cronin was slow trying to force out Leslie at third on Healy's roller and the runner scored on an infield out. The marker made in the third resulted from Scott's opening double, a sacrifice, a base on balls, and Leslie's single to left.

Bluege's Double Brings 3 Home.

In the lower half of this same round, the Nats knotted the count, scoring twice on a walk and singles by Loepp, Barnes and Myer. The Nats waited until the fifth before breaking the deadlock. Then, with two gone, Barnes cracked out a single; Scott filled the bases by passing both Myer and Judge, and Bluege emptied them with a lusty double to left center.

The "lucky" frame saw the Nationals count five times with the need of but three hits, the feature being a triple to deep left by Rookie Jake Powell with two on. Two errors, four passes, a hit batsman, McLeod's double, and Tate's single did the rest of the damage. Henzel, who had relieved Scott in the box at the start of the frame, gave way to Kenneth after being able to get but one out.

Burke granted two hits to the Giants in the eighth, one being Kenneth's opening homer, the first four-base clout in any of the games in which the Nats have played this spring. Bob then struck out the side, and there was no more scoring thereafter.

Chevy Chase Girls Beat Buddies

De Luxe Bows, 31-20, in A. A. U. 145-Lb. Class Finals.

THE Prat's Whirlwinds came from behind to win the District A. A. U. 145-pound class basketball championship last night at the Tech High Gymnasium when they defeated the De Luxe Quintet, 31 to 20. On the same program, the Chevy Chase Sextet gained the junior girl's title by defeating the Knight's Buddies from Alexandria in an exciting battle by an 18-to-15 margin.

In the semifinals of the 115-pound class, the Aztecs staged one of the most courageous rallies in local tournament history to win from the Boys Club Optimists, 24-to-20, and earned the right to meet the Arcadians in the finals next Wednesday night.

Chevy Chase Girls Win Title.

The Chevy Chase girls won their championship in one of the hardest-fought fair sex battles ever staged here when they defeated the Knight's Buddies, 18-15. From the opening minutes it was a point-for-point struggle with the Chevy Chase Team holding a slight edge in the scoring.

The loss of Angela Bell, star forward, at a time when it appeared that the Alexandria Team would gain the lead was a factor in the final result. Miss Bell twisted his knee severely in the last quarter but resumed play to score her sixth basket. On this play she again twisted her knee and had to learn the game. Miss Bell was treated at Casualty Hospital and returned to see the remaining contests.

At the time Miss Bell was forced out of action the Chevy Chase lead had dwindled to one point—16-15. With the resumption of play, Priscilla Woodley, the smallest player on the floor, clinched the game for Chevy Chase with a side-court shot.

The Alexandria girls, who have played boys' rules in some games this season, were guilty of many unintentional fouls which gave Chevy Chase scoring opportunities.

PIRATES WIN FROM CUBS AGAIN

Comorosky's Single in Ninth Climaxes Winning Rally, 9-8.

LOS ANGELES, March 27 (A.P.). The Pittsburgh Pirates made it two straight in exhibition combat with the Chicago Cubs by coming from behind in the ninth to win, 9 to 8.

The Pirates counted four runs in the winning rally, which was featured by Grantham's second home run of the game. Comorosky's single clinched the victory.

Giants Start Long Northward Trek.

San Antonio, Tex., March 28 (A.P.).—Frozen out of their game with a Kelly Field soldiers' team today, the New York Giants broke camp here tonight and began the long trek to the Polo Grounds. The first stop will be Fort Worth, where, weather permitting, the Giants meet the Chicago White Sox tomorrow.

Herman, at Camp, Silent on Salary.

Clearwater, Fla., March 28 (A.P.). Babe Herman, still among the holdouts, arrived in the Brooklyn Robins' training camp today just as the biggest rainstorm of the season deluged Clearwater. Herman communicated by telephone with Frank B. York, club president, but declined to say whether he intended to accept the club's offer of a $15,000 salary.

Cardinals-Phils Rained Out.

Bradenton, Fla., March 28 (A.P.). The Cardinals were rained out this afternoon in their last exhibition game with a major league club in the South. They were to have met Burt Shotton's Phillies.

The necessity of calling off the game was a keen disappointment to Manager Street, of the Cardinals, since he had planned to send Bill Hallahan to the mound. With his veteran pitchers sadly off form so far, Street is banking heavily on Hallahan and he was anxious to see what the southpaw could do against Shotton's sluggers

Shotton Has Two Good Second Basemen.

Bradenton, Fla., March 28 (A.P.).—With the days of spring training drawing to an end, at least one big question remains unsettled for the Philadelphia Nationals.

The question is, Who will play second base?

The Phillies have two good men for the place, Capt. Fresco Thompson and Bernie Friberg, both so good it is difficult to decide between them. Manager Burt Shotten admits he is puzzled, but all that he will say is that "either Thompson or Friberg will play second."

GEORGETOWN NINES DRILL.

The Georgetown Midget and Insect Nines will drill today at 2 o'clock on the West Ellipse diamond. All candidates are asked to report.

BRAVES BEAT ATHLETICS, 15 TO 14

Jack Quinn Yields 12 Runs in First 3 Innings.

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 28 (A.P.).—The champion Athletics ended their spring training in Fort Myers today by dropping a lively 15 to 14 game to the Boston Braves. The victory gave the National Leaguers their third straight win over the A's.

The Braves landed on Jack Quinn for 12 runs in the first three innings. Bill Shores succeeeded Quinn and gave up 3 runs in the last rounds. Berger and Neun, of Boston, hit home runs.

Browns' Batting Disappoints.

West Palm Beach, Fla., March 28 (A.P.).—Today's practice session of the St. Louis Browns was given over almost entirely to batting. Manager Bill Killefer made no secret of the fact that he is disappointed in the punch, or lack of punch, shown by the Browns in their exhibition games.

Killefer today told his charges they "were pretty terrible" because they were able to score only 2 runs against Milwaukee yesterday. Killefer, however, was able to smile when he considered the possibilities of Herman Holhauser, a recruit pitcher from Baltimore. "He'll do," was Bill's verdict.

Yanks Beat Mobile Easily, 11 to 1.

Mobile, Ala., March 28 (A.P.).—The New York Yankees chalked up their seventh victory in fifteen exhibition starts with a 11 to 1 triumph over Mobile, of the Southern Association, today. Van Pelt and Gomez, sharing the work on the mound for the Yanks, held the minor leaguers to two hits, the latter blanking them in the final five rounds and striking out seven batters.

Tigers Say Farewell To Tampa.

Tampa, Fla., March 28 (A.P.).—The Detroit Tigers said their farewells to Tampa tonight and prepared to leave their training headquarters early tomorrow on a journey which, after stops in four States, will take them to their home park, Navin Field. Tomorrow's destination is Orlando, Fla., where the Tigers will meet the Cincinnati Reds in an exhibition game. From there they will go to Jacksonville, then to Macon, Ga., Atlanta, Louisville, Indianapolis, Evansville and Terre Haute, playing at least one game in each place.

Peckinpaugh's Great Need Is Shortstop.

New Orleans, La., March 28 (A.P.). Rain today prevented the Cleveland Indians' exhibition game with the New Orleans Pelicans as well as practice, and while it rained Manager Roger Peckinpaugh told of the principal things his ball club needs.

He said he would like to have a shortstop of known capability and a pitcher whose ability to fool big league batters had been proven. He is uncertain about Carl Lind and Jonah Goldman as shortstops, or Clint Brown, Pinky Stoffner, Belve Bean, Pete Jablonowsky, or Sam Gliatto as pitchers.

Peckinpaugh pointed out that there are few good shortstops to be obtained.

Leland Beats Bracey In Texas Relays Dash

Memorial Stadium, Austin, Tex., March 28 (A.P.).—Cy Leland, of Texas Christian University, beat Claude Bracey, Rice star, by 2 yards in the 100-yard dash, feature event of the sixth annual Texas University relays here today. Leland's time against a fairly stiff wind was 9.6 seconds. Bracey was timed at 9.8. Treps, of Marquette University, was third and Atkinson, of Oklahoma University, fourth.

Doeg and Lott to Meet In South Florida Final

Miami Beach, Fla., March 28 (A.P.). Johnny Doeg, Santa Monica, Calif., advanced today to singles finals of the south Florida tennis championships. Tomorrow he will meet George Lott, of Chicago, for the championship. Lott defeated Jarvis Adams, Montauk Point, L. I., in three sets, 6—1, 6—1, 6—2.

Doeg was extended four sets in his match with Marcel Rainville, Canadian Cup Team star, but won, 4—6, 6—1, 6—0, 6—4.

In doubles play Lott played with Sam Hardy, New York, against a determined pair of Miamians, Oscar Evans and John Nixon, who caused the visitors to extend their tennis to win two sets, 6—4 and 11—9.

Doeg and Jack McKay, Miami Beach, won, 6—3, 6—1, from Harvey Lake, Ocean City, N. J., and Bob McMillan, Oshkosh, Wis.

NEGRO LOSES DECISION TO M'LARNIN

Verdict Is Greeted by Boos After Furious 10-Round Bout.

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor).

NEW YORK, March 28 (A.P.).—The dynamite in Jimmy McLarnin's right hand failed to explode tonight, and the clouting Celt from Vancouver, B. C., was forced to stage a rapid-fire finish to gain a close decision triumph over the hard-hitting Negro welterweight, Young Jack Thompson, of Oakland, Calif., in the ten-round feature of Madison Square Garden's fistic frolic.

Banged and battered, frequently outpunched and outboxed, McLarnin needed all his remarkable courage, generalship and skill to save himself from defeat at the hands of the slim, wiry Negro puncher. A rally in the last three rounds, when he outscored Thompson to gain the unanimous verdict of Referee Jimmy Crowley and the two judges.

A near-capacity crowd of 18,000 was in an uproar throughout most of the fight. Although McLarnin was the popular favorite, Thompson's spectacular but also erratic work won the approval of the crowd, and there was considerable booing when the Irish lad's hand was lifted in victory by Bellerin' Joe Humphries at the finish of the last furious rally.

McLarnin Given Five Rounds, Foe Three.

On the Associated Press score sheet McLarnin was given five rounds, Thompson three, with two rated even. The Irishman was given the first, third, fourth, eighth and ninth; Thompson the second, fifth and seventh, with the sixth and tenth registered even.

Thompson, wary and on the defensive at the start, gathered courage after weathering the first four rounds and had McLarnin in a bad way with a sensational two-fisted drive in the fifth round. This was the most exciting round of the fight. Thompson forced Jimmy around the ring with short, jolting punches to the head, drew blood from the Irish Ad's nose and had his opponent in a bad way. McLarnin, groggy and all but knocked from his feet, needed all his generalship to weather the storm.

The Negro forced most of the fighting throughout the next two rounds, but slowed down and McLarnin, seizing his advantages, again took command of the fight. The Irishman seldom was able to land solidly on the elusive, shifty Negro scrapper, but he out-boxed and out-smarted Thompson at close range.

McLarnin Warned For Low Blows.

Nats to Face Ruffing In Inaugural Game

Pensacola, Fla., March 28 (A.P.).—Charlie Ruffing, Red Sox hard-luck pitcher, probably will hurl the opening game at Washington and attempt to start the season right. A veteran of the mound staff, he is in excellent condition. After dropping his first twelve contests in 1929, he won nine and lost ten of the others with a last place club.

U. S. Pros Now Eligible For British Money Play

Pinehurst, N. C., March 28 (A.P.). Alex Pirie, of Chicago, president of the Professional Golfers Association of America, disclosed today that members of the association in the future will be eligible for money tournaments in Great Britain which heretofore have been closed to them.

Pirie announced he had received a letter from P. T. Perrins, secretary of the Professional Golf Association of Great Britain, which said members of the American Association while in the British Isles would be elected temporary members of the British P. G. A. The action will permit American professionals to compete in British tournaments, which heretofore have been restricted to professionals in good standing in the British organization.

G. U. RALLIES TO GAIN 11-4 VICTORY

Score 7 Runs in Sixth to Beat Franklin-Marshall Nine.

By WILLIAM F. DISMER, JR.

HELD to two hits in the first five innings yesterday on the War College diamond, Georgetown University's Baseball Team uncorked a wild sixth-inning rally, which, with six hits, a walk, and an error, produced seven runs and an 11-4 victory over the Franklin and Marshall Nine from Lancaster, Pa.

With the visitors getting off to a 3-0 lead in the first two innings, aided by several Georgetown miscues, including two passed balls, and their hurler, Smoker, holding the Hilltoppers hitless for the first three rounds, it looked as if the Blue and Gray might go down to defeat in its first home game of the season. Not until the fifth frame did a Georgetown man get a solid bingle, as Donovan's one-base blow through Dorsey's legs at short, was decidedly scratchy. However, in the next frame, Capt Ralph McCarthy poked a tremendous wallop to right field, but heedless of the coach's warning at third base, attempted to stretch it into a homer and died at the plate on a relay.

Score First Run Without Hit.

Georgetown's first run was made without the aid of a hit. McCarthy walking in the third, stealing second and scoring on a passed ball after he had taken third on an infield out.

On the short end of a 3-1 score in the sixth, however, Georgetown's stickmen got busy with a vengeance, and before the side could be retired had scored seven times to put the game safely on ice.

With Scalzi on first as the result of his single and only one out, the trouble started. Smoker unloosed a wild pitch. Mooney walked and almost immediately after worked a double steal with Scalzi. Then in rapid succession came singles by Rapp, Donovan, Poole, and Morris. McCarthy sent an easy one out to right field, but Horst dropped the ball. After Bunn sent an easy roller to the second baseman, McCarthy stole home. Scalzi, up for the second time, got life on Magloff's error. Wholey singled through short and Mooney ended the rally by striking out.

Besides playing a nice game afield,

Boxing Body Moves to Halt "Bunco Acts" of Carnera

CINCINNATI, March 28 (A.P.).—The first step to force Primo Carnera, huge Italian heavyweight, to meet boxers of higher rank was taken today by the National Boxing Association, which announced the continued appearance of the foreigner against inferior opponents within the N. B. A. jurisdiction called for immediate investigation.

Stanley M. Isaacs, N. B. A. president, said fight fans probably were "fed up" reading about third and fourth rate boxers being sacrificed in the ring against the 275-pound invader and that he had appointed a commission of inquiry to report facts of Carnera's "set up" fights to the public.

Isaacs termed Carnera's knockout parade in American rings with unworthy opponents as an "apparent bunco act."

Gen. John V. Clinnin, Chicago; Thomas E. Donohue, Hartford, Conn., and Walter H. Liginer, Milwaukee, were named by Isaacs to investigate the situation and were empowered to recommend disciplinary action if the facts justify the same.

Carnera Would Fight Any Man in World.

Denver, Colo., March 28 (A.P.).—Primo Carnera will meet any man in the world in a prize fight ring, provided the box office arrangements are satisfactory, he said through an interpreter here today when informed that his American "knockout parade" was being investigated by the National Boxing Association.

"You can't expect a man to go up against a world champion for a thousand dollars or so," Carnera was interpreted as saying. "But you can say that Primo Carnera will meet any man in the world in a fight ring providing the arrangements are satisfactory."

Bull Duffy, Carnera's American representative, said the Italian had not had a voice in picking his opponents. The selection, he said, had been left to the promoters in the various cities where the "Ambling Alp" has appeared.

400,000 SEE SHAUN GOILIN WIN IN GRAND NATIONAL

Irish Jumper Neck Ahead In Classic

Beats Out Melleray's Belle in Rousing Finish.

Sir Lindsay, American Owned Favorite, Runs Third.

AINTREE, England, March 28 (A.P.).—Shaun Goilin, a 10-year-old veteran from the "Ould Sod," galloped from obscurity to international fame today by winning the Grand National Steeplechase, classic of the turf, in a sensational finish.

Only a neck separated the Irish-bred jumper from William Wilson's Melleray's Belle; in third place came Sir Lindsay, the American-owned favorite, carrying the colors of the New York sportsman, John Hay Whitney. The triumph was by a narrow margin but enough to achieve the lifelong ambition of W. H. Midwood, English cotton broker, as he saw Shaun Goilin withstand all challenges over the last few hundred yards of the long course.

A crowd variously estimated at from 400,000 to 500,000 witnessed the ninety-first running of one of the most picturesque of all horse races, with a rousing finish to top it all off. The winner, Shaun Goilin, by an obscure sire out of Goldenway, carried 161 pounds, was booted home in a clever ride by Tommy Cullinan and paid off at odds of 100 to 8. Melleray's Belle was quoted at 20 to 1 and Sir Lindsay at 100 to 9.

Only 6 of 41 Starters Finish.

Only 6 of the 41 starters finished the gruelling four and one-half mile test, but in that sextet were two American-owned horses and two which claimed the United States as their home in one way or another.

Following Sir Lindsay across the finish line was Glangesia, which once raced on American soil for R. K. Mellon. Bally Hanwood, which was fifth, carried the colors of M. D. Blair, an American, who has made his home in England for many years. Sixth place went to Victor Emanuel's Royal Arch II.

Gordon Selfridge's Ruddyman and Stephen Sanford's Sandy Hook failed to complete the course, along with Gregalach, the 1929 winner, which never was a contender.

Glangesia Sets All Early Pace.

Glangesia set all the early pace, taking hedges like a cat the first time around the course. As the field approached the difficult Valentine's Brook for the second time, however, he dropped back to fourth position as Melleray's Belle, Sir Lindsay and Shaun Goilin shot out in front in the order named.

Taking stride for stride, Melleray's Belle and the American color bearer cleared the last fence together with Shaun Goilin only a length back. In the final drive, however, Cullinan sent his mount with a determined rush to furnish one of the most thrilling finishes in the history of the steeplechase classic.

Shaun Goilin was timed in 9:40 3-5, only six seconds slower than the best time ever made over the course. Gregalach, in winning the event last year, covered the route in 9:47 2-5.

The victory of Shaun Goilin brought to an end Midwood's search for a Grand National winner. He spent 10,500 guineas ($52,500) for Silvo—the highest price ever paid for a steeplechaser—but Silvo failed. Today's winner came into the cotton broker's possession after changing hands as a 2-year-old for 22 guineas ($110). It was also the first Grand National victory for Jockey Cullinan.

Jockey D. Williams got every bit of speed possible out of the Whitney entry. "I thought Sir Lindsay was going to repeat his great performance at Cheltenham in which he won the National Hunt Cup," said Williams, "but I found that in the last 300 yards he lacked the little bit of speed that made all the difference between victory and defeat.

"Sir Lindsay jumped marvelously and I never had a finer thrill in my life than when he took the water jump in front of the stand."

The American favorite made an amazing leap at that obstacle, landing many feet on the land side of the water.

Grakle, which vied with Sir Lindsay for favor in the betting machines, finished the first lap well up among the leaders, but disappeared somewhere "in the country" on the second round and did not finish.

Gregalach fell at the open beach jump after successfully clearing the hazardous Valentine's Brook on the first turn around the triangular course. He became involved in a tangle with another horse, losing all chance of duplicating his victory of 1929 for Mrs. M. A. Gemmell.

One of the happiest persons in Liverpool tonight was Emily Rome, a shopgirl, whose Cotton Exchange sweepstakes ticket on MeLeray's Belle won her second prize of 5,000 pounds sterling—$25,000. Tomorrow more than $245,000 in sweepstakes prizes will be distributed among lucky ticket holders.

RED SOX PRACTICE.

Bill Jenkins will drill his Red Sox Nine today on No. 1 Fairlawn diamond at 4:30 o'clock, in preparation for tomorrow's fray with the Northern A. C. on Phoenix diamond, at Fourteenth and Neal streets northeast.

STARS ENTER FOR BOWIE INAUGURAL

New Orleans Aces to Be Seen in $5,000 Stake Tuesday.

ALTHOUGH Race Secretary Joseph McLennan doesn't know who will actually start in the $5,000 Inaugural Handicap, 7-furlong feature event of the 11-day spring meeting which opens at Bowie, Tuesday, it is a certainty that the field will be the best to go postward since the event was inaugurated.

McLennan arrived this morning from Lexington, Ky., where he stopped off on his way from New Orleans, announced that he had the entries of Dinah Did Upset, Paul Bunyan, Genuine, Bocaratone, Rapid Transit, Wellet, Inception, Friar Cliff, Searcher, Corporal and Royal Stranger.

When the final tabulation is made it won't be surprising if the names of Night Life, Balko, The Heathen, Her Grace, Rocksilde, Equation, Prometheus, Water Lad, Star o' Morn, Pennant Lass, Ormonbird, Sun Forward, My Sis and Toki are included in the list of eligibles.

The majority of the thoroughbreds named above have been at Bowie for nearly two weeks and have been showing plenty of speed in recent morning trials.

Searcher has been seven-eighths the distance of Tuesday's opening feature in 1:31. Prometheus whirled three-quarters several mornings ago in 1:16, while Star o' Morn buckjumped five-eighths recently in 1:01 2-5.

Pending Has Track Lightning Fast.

Water Lad's most recent work was a half in 0:49 2-5. Pennant Lass traveled six panels in 1:16 3-5 and another morning breezed a mile in company with Rapid Transit in 1:47 2-5.

It is true that Track Superintendent Dick Pending has the course lightning fast. However, the horses working over it are fresh in the majority of instances, and the fast times they are hanging out are not due solely to the condition of the track.

Race Secretary McLannan, after tallying the official list of Inaugural entries today, will set to work tomorrow assigning the weights for the ¼-mile sprint. There is much guessing as to who he will assign top weight, but it is a certainty that Balko, Night Life, The Heathen, Rapid Transit, Searcher and Paul Bunyan will be asked to carry their package.

James Rowe, jr., came down from the H. P. Whitney farm at Red Bank, N. J., to see Freddie Hopkins breeze some of the New York sportsmen's 2-year-olds. Rowe, jr., had plenty of news to carry back to Head Trainer T. J. Healey, as he saw several youngsters, including one called Cheyne, step three-eighths in 0:35 2-5.

It may be that Whitney will show something early in the meeting which will whip Siskin, Prince, D'Amour and other winter sensations.

D. C. PINMEN FACE HUGE TASK TODAY AT WATERBURY

RecordMarks Challenge D. C. Men

100 Invaders From Capital Seek Honors in Tourney.

Scores Thus Far Are Better Than in Previous Years.

By R. J. ATKINSON.

NO trivial tasks confront the regiment of Washington men and women bowlers who advance on the maples in the National Duck Pin Bowling Congress Tournament at Waterbury, Conn., today and tonight.

Two weeks of incessant firing along th edrives of the Northern city has left the Capital contingent several record scores at which to shoot. Only three of the championship winning scores of last year have not been surpassed to date and in several cases sensational totals have been recorded.

News of sensational scores coming from Waterbury have not disturbed the invading Capital City stars who number approximately 100. Twice before they have faced formidable tasks on the final day and night of the national events and have emerged from the bedlam with the lion's share of the spoils.

Returning Pinmen Report Pins Fall Nicely.

Suburban pinmen, returning from the front, have brought heartening news to men and women scheduled to roll today and tonight. "The pins fall pretty nice up there," Brad Mandley opined on his return. Others were of the same opinion, especially Ollie Clark and Hokie Smith, ooth of whom are assured of big shares of the prize money.

At Baltimore in 1928 and at Richmond last year, the Washington stars went into action with big scores confrontnig them. On each occasion they produced better. On neither occasion, however, did they have such sensational totals to top as they have at Waterbury today.

A comparison of the present high scores and the scores of the title winners last year is revealed below:

Singles, Howard Campbell	430
Doubles, Friend & Morgan	775
Fives, Recreation Center	1,812
All events, Sam Benson	1,141
WOMEN.
Singles, Margaret Miltner	374
Doubles, Frere & Bradt	688
Fives, King Pins	1,572
All events, M. Bradt	975
1930.
MEN.
Singles, Jack Otto	432
Doubles, Saunders & Webb	778
Fives, Bethesda	1,805
All events, Red Miller	1,203
WOMEN.
Singles, M. Holiday	350
Doubles, Hassel-Degnan	662
Fives, Recreation, Baltimore	1,638
All events, M. Holiday	1,032

Campbell Seeking Third Title.

Of the large number of Washington bowlers slated for action today, Howard Campbell faces the largest task of all. He is the only bowler to hold an individual title in each of the two past tournaments. At present he holds the singles crown and the year previous copped the all-events title. He will have to top Jack Otto's 432 set to retain his singles crown and better Red Miller's 1,203 to claim the all-events title. The latter task is of Herculean proportions.

G. U. NINE WINNER IN HOME DEBUT, 11-4

GOLF AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT

BALL MAY BE MOVED FROM AN UNPLAYABLE LIE WITH PENALTY

Please explain the rules governing the teeing or placing of a ball in places other than the teeing ground?

In stroke or medal competition, a ball may be lifted from where it lies and placed behind, or as near as possible to its former lie, but not nearer the hole. The penalty for lifting a ball under these conditions is two strokes. In match play, a ball may be lifted from an unplayable lie and taken back to the spot from which it was played, adding one penalty stroke to the score for the hole. In this latter case, however, the ball must be dropped—not placed.

REACH 115-POUND CLASS FINAL

ON THE SIDELINES by BRIAN BELL

ALTHOUGH Lefty O'Doul was officially crowned National League batting champion, another Philadelphia outfielder really led the league in batting. W. Tripp Sigman, a 27-year-old recruit outfielder from Canton, of the Central League, batted .517 for the ten games he played for Burt Shotten and his name leads all the rest in the official averages. O'Doul had to be satisfied with a mere .398.

Sigman, who comes from Thomson, Ga., and formerly played with Nashville in the Southern Association, encouraged Philadelphia fans by his batting in the few games in which he participated last autupin and while they do not expect him to bat for a percentage approaching .500 over a continued stretch, he showed every indication of inflicting enough punishment on visiting pitchers to win a place for himself on William F. Baker's pay-roll.

In 127 games with Canton he batted .310, not such an impressive record for an outfielder, but his home run record stood out. Forty-one times he hit the ball far enough to run around the bases without serious opposition. He played a game almost amounting to "home run or no count" for he had only 11 triples and 18 doubles.

The Georgia Cracker probably can not hope for much luck in seeking to oust O'Doul from left, nor Chuck Klein, the home run champion of the league from right, but he can apply for the other outfield post without subjecting himself to ridicule.

The work of Grover Cleveland Alexander will be followed with interest as he comes to the end of the big league road in the uniform of the Phillies, back where he started. "Old Pete" can still pitch, and beyond question will start some games, but Manager Shotten probably expects to use the man who has won more games than any other National League pitcher as an ace in the hole.

No one who was present at the Yankee Stadium on the afternoon of October 10, 1926, will forget the sight of Alexander striding to the mound from the bull pen to come to the relief of Jess Haines in the seventh inning of the final world series game. The grizzled veteran threw three strikes past Tony Lazzeri and went through the next two innings without yielding a hit.

His arm may have lost some of its cunning in the three years that have passed since that eventful afternoon, but he will come strolling from a Philadelphia bullpen many times during the long hot summer afternoons that are approaching to out smart ambitious batsmen with the winning runs on the bases.

Shotten thinks, too, that "Old Pete" will be a star in the baseball class room. He can teach the young pitchers from a wealth of first-hand experience and Alexander never was one to hesitate to lend a helping hand in the instruction of the willing lads who are uninformed in the ways of major league pitching.

Columbus to Dedicate Golf Clubhouse to Shute

Columbus, Ohio, March 28 (A.P.).—Another indication that young Denny Shute, nationally known professional of the Brookside Country Club here, expects to remain in Columbus for several more years is being found in the intention of club officials to dedicate their new clubhouse to their professional.

Announcement of architect's plans for the structure was made today, and of the dedication plans. There has been much talk of Shute's leaving for a larger or more metropolitan club since his feat of winning the Los Angeles and Texas open tournaments last winter. However, the recent announcement of his engagement to a Columbus girl has strengthened the belief that he expects to remain here indefinitely.

"Big Ed" Walsh Better Following Operation

Meriden, Conn., March 28 (A.P.).—A slight improvement was noted today in the condition of "Big Ed." Walsh, former Chicago White Sox pitching ace, who is seriously ill at the Meriden Hospital, following an operation for appendicitis and peritonitis.

Walsh passed "a fairly good day," it was reported at the hospital. Dr. I. S. tis, his surgeon, said tonight that "everything is very satisfactory so far."

M'LARNIN WINNER IN FURIOUS BATTLE

nearly proved McLarnin's undoing at the height of the most furious part of the fight. At least a half dozen times in the fifth, sixth and seventh rounds, Jimmy's left landed inches below the belt line. He was warned three times by Referee Crowley. The crowd roared disapproval. But Thompson made no protest. They appeared glancing blows and did no damage.

Safely past the critical fifth round, McLarnin forged back into the lead in the eighth and ninth rounds with a well-executed attack. Even so, Jimmy did not seem to have his usual right-hand punch. Whether it was because something was wrong with his hand or whether Thompson's clever blocking and dodging offset its effectiveness, the tenth and final round was a slugfest all the way. The crowd was on its feet as both slugged, toe to toe, in a rousing finish that left little to choose between them.

The official paid attendance was 16,789. The gross receipts, $77,868.21, and the net $66,189.71.

W. & L. BOWS TO DREXEL IN DEBUT

Errors in 1st Inning Send Generals to 3-2 Defeat.

Special to The Washington Post.

LEXINGTON, Va., March 28.—Defeat greeted the Washington and Lee Baseball Team here today in the first game of the 1930 season, when Drexel Institute, of Philadelphia, won a first-inning victory, 3 to 2. The visitors scored all their runs in the first frame off two errors, one hit, one walk and one man hit by pitcher.

All of Drexel's runs were unearned. Washington and Lee scored twice in the second frame. The Generals tallied five hits to two for the victors. Washington and Lee made three errors to one for Drexel. Both of the Washington and Lee runs were earned, two hits and a sacrifice fly bringing Wilson and Mattox across the plate.

Leigh Williams, Washington and Lee captain, acquitted himself well on the mound in his second appearance as a varsity pitcher.

One Pin Separates 72-Year-Old Vets

John Joy, of Hyattsville, yesterday defeated Hank M. Allen, of Bethesda, 500 to 499, in a special duckpin match at the Takoma Park alleys. Each of the rivals is 72 years old. They will meet again next week at Hyattsville. Yesterday's scores follow:

Blick "Dub" Tourney At Arcadia Tonight

A record field is expected to start in the John Blick duckpin sweepstakes for bowlers averaging under 100 at the Arcadia tonight at 7:30 o'clock. Entries will be received until the event gets under way. Combined averages of all leagues in which an entrant competes will govern the entry list. The entry fee is $2.50 with regular alley charges added. The second block will be rolled at Convention Hall next Saturday night.

LEAD IN PIN EVENT.

Frank R. Burton and Wallace Burton, of Branchville, Md., hold top honors to date in the father and son duckpin tournament in progress at the Mount Rainier alleys. Their total is 710, with H. A. Dean and E. J. Dean, of Alexandria, in second place, with 693.

A brother and sister tournament is planned at Mount Rainier during the week of April 7. Entries may be filed at the alleys.

Williams, W. & L. Steps Off Diamond Onto Track

Special to The Washington Post.

Lexington, Va., March 28.—ne sport more or less means little to Leigh Williams, Washington and Lee athlete. All the elongated star of football, basket ball, track and baseball asks is that he be given time for meals in between.

After pitching a baseball game here this afternoon against Drexel Institute, of Philadelphia, the sensational junior hastened to the field house, took a hurried shower and jumped into a waiting automobile to be whisked to Durham, N. C., where he will run for Washington and Lee in dual track meet with Duke tomorrow. He'll run the 220 and the quarter, and, if necessary, he'll step the low hurdles.

But what of it? It's all in the week's run for him. The sport does not matter. Winning is a habit with him.

O'DONOGHUE, ATHLETE, DIES

Former Gonzaga Ace, 23, Loses Fight With Tuberculosis.

PATRICK FRANCIS O'DONOGHUE, hero of many gridiron and court battles when a star athlete at Gonzaga High School, died at the home of his father, Patrick O'Donoghue, 2300 First street northwest, of tuberculosis. His death marked the end of a long fight, extending over the past four years, against the disease which had ended a brilliant athletic career on the threshold of a college career.

O'Donoghue, who was 23 years old, was one of the best back-field men ever developed at Gonzaga, starring when Fee Colliere and Orrell Mitchell were also gaining local recognition with the same elevens. His play with the Purple basket ball teams was as outstanding and in his senior year, 1926, he captained the court team.

The disease which ultimately caused his death halted his athletic career when he entered Georgetown University in the fall of 1926. Although prevented from participating in the sports he loved, O'Donoghue carried on his class work until his senior year, being forced to desert his studies in midyear. He would have graduated from Georgetown in June, 1929.

In addition to his father, O'Donoghue is survived by six sisters and one brother, Martin F. O'Donoghue. The funeral will be held from his late residence Monday morning at 8:30 o'clock. Requiem mass will be said at St. Martin's Catholic Church at 9 o'clock. Interment will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

HOLD SWEEPSTAKES.

The weekly duckpin sweepstakes at the Takoma Park alleys today will be open to all entrants regardless of their respective averages. The event last week was confined to those averaging under 105.

BYNG PLAYS IN OUTFIELD FOR NAVY

D. C. Boy Holds Job; Pitchers Alone Not Veterans.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 29.—Aside from the mound group no new faces will be seen in the line-up of the Naval Academy Baseball Team this season, at least as far as the first game is concerned. While Capt. Jerry Miller of the 1929 team is gone, his position will be filled by Capt.-elect Bill Gentner, who has been moved in from centerfield by Coach Ernest "Kid" Mohler.

Gentner, who is one of the greatest hitters the Navy ever has been able to boast of, is also a great fly chaser, but had some experience at first base in California before coming to the Academy, and in drills to date has held the initial sack job down satisfactorily.

Johnny Byng, Washington boy who played left field last season after Bill Fitzgerald broke his collarbone in a collision with Gentner, will start in center field. For a big fellow Byng is fast, being a varsity wing on the football team. He throws from his portside, and prior to entering the Academy was a first sacker in Washington prep school circles.

Fitzgerald Back Again.

Fitzgerald is back again. His hitting is expected to make it easy for him to retain a berth in the field. The line-up and batting order for the initial game with Franklin and Marshal College Saturday afternoon follows: Fitzgerald, left field; Ashworth, shortstop; O'Toole, second base; Gentner, first base; Byng, center field; Stroh, right field; Lawrence, third base; Gubbins, catcher; Schultz, Moore or Bauer, pitcher.

Mohler, a product of the West Coast, and his assistant, Lieut. Thomas H. Hederman, captain of the 1923 Navy team, are especially pleased with the combination around the keystone sack, Jimmy O'Toole, a Baltimorean, and Tommy Ashworth, of Idaho, played together all last season, and also last summer while the second class was here for aviation instruction. They handle to job nicely. Lawrence at third is also an old hand, while Hack Gubbins behind the plate and Red Stroh in right are the same fixtures. A number of new men are pushing the regulars, Lieut. Commander Elliott B. Nixon, officer in charge of the sport, reveals.

Schultz Shows Form On Mound.

Yesterday the team held a stiff batting practice. Schultz, who did some great hurling for the second classmen last season; Bob Moore, and R. C. Bauer took turns at serving 'em to the swatsmen. Schultz is favored to begin the initial game, Coach Mohler states.

In addition to the aforementioned trio, Hitchcock has been flipping some deceptive curves. Hitchcock is but a youngster. Three southpaws are on the squad, Bell, Coombs and Kaiser, but they do not measure up to varsity caliber. If the somewhat inexperienced mound group produces, Navy should have a most successful campaign.

ALEXANDRIA SPORTS

Special to The Washington Post.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., March 28.—Alexandria High School's Baseball Team won its first practice game yesterday afternoon over the freshmen, 13 to 0. Coach Reynolds used his entire pitching staff, but allowed the remainder of his team to play the entire game.

The St. Mary's Celtics Basket Ball Team will tomorrow night meet the United Typewriter Grays at Armory Hall at 8:30 o'clock and on Sunday will play the French A. C. Five in Schuler's Hall at 3:30 o'clock.

The annual Health Center Sweepstakes will get under way tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. Ten games will be rolled.

The Fairfax County High School Association will open its baseball schedule this afternoon, when six teams from that county meet. The three games scheduled are: Falls Church at Floris, Clifton at Lee-Jackson and Oakton at McLean.

The schedule this season will be extended over a period of seven weeks with each team playing seven games, three games to be played each Friday.

On May 16 the county championship game will be played on the Fairfax County Fair Grounds.

The schedule is as follows: April 4—Clifton at Falls Church, Floris at Lee-Jackson, McLean at Herndon; 11—Floris at Clifton, Herndon at Oakton, Lee-Jackson at Falls Church; 18—Oakton at Lee-Jackson, Falls Church at McLean, Herndon at Floris. 25—Lee-Jackson at Herndon, McLean at Clifton, Floris at Oakton; May 2—Lee-Jackson at McLean, Clifton at Herndon, Falls Church at Oakton; 9—McLean at Floris, Oakton at Clifton, Herndon at Falls Church.

W. & L. Team Crippled For Meet With Duke

Special to The Washington Post.

Lexington, Va., March 28.—A crippled Washington and Lee track team tomorrow will meet Duke in a dual meet at Durham. The Generals, with three stars on the injured list, left here this afternoon to engage in the outdoor season's first meet. Capt. Sandifer, dash man and jumper, and Shepherd, quarter-miler, are suffering with stiff legs, and Finklestein, hurdler, sprained an ankle yesterday on a starting block.

Washington and Lee is conceded the edge in the dashes, quarter and hurdles, but Duke is admittedly stronger in the longer distances and the high and broad jumps. The Generals probably have an advantage in the shot and discus, but the pole vault and javelin are anybody's until they are contested. Duke has participated in one outdoor meet this year, winning from Wake Forest last week. Washington and Lee has been idle since winning the Southern Conference indoor meet held at the University of North Carolina several weeks ago.

41 ATHLETES GAIN V. P. I. LETTERS

10 Basket Ball Men, 2 Wrestlers Given Major Awards.

Special to The Washington Post.

BLACKSBURG, VA., March 28.—Forty-one cadets were named for athletic awards by the athletic council of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute in recognition of outstanding performances during the recent winter sports season. Twenty-three, all told, received varsity monograms in basket ball, wrestling and boxing. Eighteen freshmen earned numerals in the same sports.

For the first time, according to local records, 10 men received varsity awards for basket ball in a single season. Five members of the wrestling team copped minor sport awards, Capt. W. G. Davis, unlimited class, and Colby Graves, 115-pound class, were awarded major monograms in this sport in recognition of undefeated seasons and their new Southern Conference mat titles, recently won in the conference tournament at Virginia Military Institute. Graves is competing this week-end in the National Collegiate wrestling championships at Penn State.

Minor Monograms To 7 Boxers.

Under the provisions of revised rules and regulations drawn up September 5, 1929, seven boxers qualified for minor sport monograms. Five mainstays of the freshman basket ball team, who copped 3 out of 15 games, alone received numerals in this sport. Five boxers and eight wrestlers also qualified for freshman numerals. The awards:

BERLIN CHANCELLOR AVOIDS PARTY LINES

Dr. Heinrich Bruening, Just Apointed, Puts Men Ahead of Politics.

SCHIELE TO BE FARM AID

Berlin, March 28 (A.P.).—Dr. Heinrich Bruening, new chancellor of the reich set about today choosing ministers on a personal basis and without dealing with parties in his efforts to form a cabinet succeeding that of Hermann Mueller.

That was demonstrated when Dr Bruening offered the ministry of agriculture to Martin Schiele, a nationalist leader, who accepted despite the fact that his party earlier declined to participate in the new government and demanded dissolution of the Reichstag and new elections.

The Nationalists decided on their course of opposition even after their fiery leader, Dr. Hugenberg, had been asked by President von Hindenburg to give up opposition at this point for the country's welfare.

Capable Cabinet Asked.

The president also instructed the new chancellor to forget party pettifogging and construct a cabinet which above all could put through the budget and financial reforms. It was after that conference that Dr. Bruening offered the agriculture portfolio to Herr Schiele, who is president of the Federal Farmers Federation and stands high in the regard of agriculturists.

Dr. Bruening is a middle-aged bachelor of simple tastes, widely traveled, a scholar and at the same time a parliamentary tactician uncommonly gifted in the handling of men. He is a pale, bespectacled doctor of philosophy who does not look the part of labor leader. Yet it was he who for several years was executive director of the Federation of Catholic Trade Unions.

The combination is not so unusual, however, when it is remembered that while he studied philosophy, history and political economy at the Universities of Muenchen, Strasbourg and Bonn, he had a good chance to study men during his three years' war service with a machine-gun section on the Western front, where he was wounded and received the Iron Cross.

Known for Firmness in Debate.

Dr. Bruening is known as a man of absolute fairness in debate. He is not an orator, but a speaker of excellent diction and clear argument. As leader of the Centrists, he is naturally a Catholic. However, unlike former Chancellor Marx, who was very active in church affairs as such, Dr. Bruening's chief interest has been in Catholic labor unions.

A frequent traveler about Europe and fluent in French, Dr. Bruening also has been to the United States, both before and after the war, and speaks excellent English. He was one of the first German labor leaders to visit the United States after the war and has keen interest in developments in America.

He has been leader of the Centrist group since December, 1929. He has become prominent since 1928 as the father of an important law dealing with the graduated taxation of earned incomes. In the Reichstag he advocated acceptance of the Young plan.

Bandit Trio Gets $15,000 in Holdup

Bank Staff and Seven Patrons Held at Bay While Robbers Work.

Watertown, Conn., March 28 (A.P.). Three unmasked young men today held up the Watertown Trust Co. in the heart of the town, and escaped with about $15,000.

While one swept a harvest from the counters, the other two stood over the bank's staff and seven depositors who had been driven into the vault and made to lie on the floor. The trio took their time for there was no one to give an alarm, and then left to jump into an automobile at the door.

The holdup was begun so quickly that mechanism which needed only the toe of a teller to sound an alarm could not be touched, and Treasurer W. H. Whay, at his desk in the lobby, looked up to find a gun aimed his way. He shouted to the others not to resist and asked the bandits to lower their guns as shooting would be unnecessary.

Man Asks $54,183 For Loss of Hand

Railroad Is Accused of Breach of Contract in Action Filed Here.

Piem S. Burke, of 224 Thirteenth street southwest, filed suit yesterday in District Supreme Court against the Richmond, Fredericksburg & Potomac Railroad, seeking to recover $54,183 for the loss of his left hand and alleged breach of contract.

Burke states that on December 16, 1922, while a special officer for the railroad at Potomac Yards, he was injured by one of the defendant's cars and lost his left hand. When he recovered, he states, he went back to work, received $400 in cash and the promise of a lifetime job as special officer. In July, 1928, he states, he was forced to submit to another operation on the arm and was unable to work until October. When he returned, he declares, he was told he was no longer employed.

Burke tells the court that he was able to perform his duties when he reported back for work in October and still is able to perform them, but that the company will not permit him to work. He is represented by Attorney Samuel M. Boyd.

Body of Chemist in Love Suicide Is Cremated

Vienna, March 28 (A.P.).—The body of Dr. Hermann Ernst Watzl, Cleveland chemist and inventor, who shot Mary MacGranahan, the wife he married bigamously, and then committed suicide in the Hotel Sacher here Sunday, was cremated today in the presence of members of his family and many of his close friends.

A cable of protest was received by an uncle of Mary MacGranahan from the girl's mother, Eva Horvath, of Cleveland. Mrs. Horvath said that cremation was offensive to her religious sentiments. Her daughter's body accordingly will be consecrated in church and buried tomorrow.

NEWS OF LATEST HAPPENINGS IN MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA

INJUNCTION SOUGHT IN FAIRFAX COUNTY

Order to Restrain Supervisors From Working Private Roads Is Asked.

CHEST CLINIC TO BE HELD

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Vienna, Va.
Phone Vienna 64.

Papers asking an injunction to restrain the Board of Supervisors of Fairfax County and County Engineer F. N. Larkin from unlawfully using the county tools, machinery, equipment and county employes on the improvement of private roads were filed by Attorney Harry Shockey in the clerk's office at Fairfax yesterday as counsel for Thomas P. Johnson. The papers particularly charge the use of the equipment on those roads in the subdivisions of Greenway Downs, near East Falls Church and the roads which are in subdivisions of G. E. Aiken.

The papers filed with the county clerk were accompanied by a petition signed by seventeen taxpayers. Attorney Shockey will appear in the Circuit Court of Fairfax County on May 19 asking that the injunction be granted.

It is learned that this suit is the outgrowth of the meeting of the Merrifield Improvement Association, at which the county officials were criticized for allowing the county engineer to enter into competitive bidding for construction of private roads.

County Engineer Larkin stated last night that the office has done no competitive bidding. Before any work was done in incorporated towns or subdivisions, Mr. Larkin stated, an opinion was given by Commonwealth's Attorney Wilson Farr who had secured an opinion from the attorney general of the State permitting the county supervisors to authorize the work. According to Mr. Larkin there now remain in the county road accounts only funds enough to conduct the routine maintenance work until the new county funds become available in July.

Commonwealth's Attorney Wilson Farr, who will represent the Board of Supervisors and the county engineer in this suit, states that he is confident it will be proved that the county officials are and have been performing their work in accordance with the law.

Sara E. Coleman of the State Health Department is in Fairfax this week making arrangements for a free chest clinic at the Fairfax County Courthouse on April 15. The clinic will be in charge of a specialist from the State Board of Health at Richmond, and will be open to everyone. It is to be conducted by the State in its fight against tuberculosis and other diseases of the chest. The clinic for white persons will be held in the morning and for colored in the afternoon.

The publicity subcommittee of the Young Peoples Interdenominational Rally that is to be held in the Columbia Baptist Church at Falls Church on Palm Sunday have arranged to have the story of the rally explained in every Protestant church in the county tomorrow. The chairman of the publicity committee, Miss Thelma Speer, of Oakton, has appointed a group of leaders in each of the six districts of the county.

In Centerville district the leaders are: Miss Catherine Detwiler, Mrs. J. E. Harrison and Glynn Myers; in Dranesville district, Miss Sara Day and Miss Edith McGuire; in Providence district, E. Shield McCandlish, Ira Miller, Henry Deall, Mack Wiley, Paul Herrell, Herbert Hallman, Deming Shear, Charles Magarity, Fred Loenthal, Talbert Walker, John Rust Bussick, Miss Thelma Speer and Miss Frances Hallman; in Lee district, James Wycoff, E. C. Riggles and Miss Kate Pettit; in Falls Church district, Miss Ellen Fenwick, Miss Maxine Harlowe, Miss Ann Kraemer, Miss Florence M. Carter, Miss Marie Creel, Miss Mary E. Garrison, Pettus Carter and Roger Copeland.

Roy Green and Harry Jackson, colored, of Warrenton, Va., were sentenced to two years each in the Fairfax County circuit court yesterday. They pleaded guilty to breaking into the store of Morris & Usilton at Chantilly and taking merchandise valued at $800.

James Dewey Washington, colored, of Brentwood, Md., was found guilty of driving while drunk and colliding by a jury, which recommended a fine of $100 and costs and 30 days in jail. Washington was arrested March 16 by Traffic Policeman L. L. Finks on the Fort Humphreys road after the car he was driving had collided with a car of E. C. Gillum, of Alexandria.

Albert Greaf pleaded guilty to driving while drunk and was fined $100 and costs and one month in jail. He was discharged on paying the costs, as he had served four months in jail awaiting trial.

Andrew Williams pleaded guilty to possession of intoxicating liquor and was fined $50 and costs and was given a suspended sentence of one month in jail during good behavior.

Annis Woodlawn, colored, of Merrifield, who pleaded guilty Tuesday to a charge of possession of ardent spirits, was fined $50 and costs and one month in jail. The jail sentence was suspended. She was also required to give a bond of $500 that she would not violate the State prohibition law for a period of one year.

The following criminal cases were continued until the May term of court and the bail ordered enlarged in each instance:

The Commonwealth against Charles Ennis, Ernest Hitaffer, G. C. Reedy, E. R. Mansfield, Wade Perry, John T. Cooke, John F. Fletcher, Harry Kreuse, Charles Chinn and Herbert Keys. Most of the above cases were for violation of the State prohibition law. Judge Howard W. Smith ordered a capias issued for the arrest of Harvey Johnson. Aubrey Cook, arrested Thursday evening by Deputy Sheriff W. A. Wheeler for transportation and possession of intoxicating liquor, was brought to the attention of the court by a presentment of Commonwealth Attorney Wilson M. Farr. Cook entered a plea of guilty and was fined $50 and costs and given a suspended jail sentence of one month.

James Herbert Stevens was appointed a special officer for one year yesterday. His jurisdiction is limited to the boundaries of the Hollin Hill farm in Mount Vernon district, which is owned by Mrs. H. P. Wilson. He was required to give a bond at $1,000.

F. H. Creech confessed a judgment yesterday in favor of J. C. Petty. The amount involved was $2,088.52, with interest from October, 1929, and 10 per cent attorney's fees and costs of the suit. A forfeiture of the bond on a distress warrant was made before Deputy Clerk Elton R. Holbrook in the suit of Edith S. Thompson against E. S. Waring, defendant, and O. B. Campbell, his surety. The case was ordered docketed.

The following decisions have been rendered by Judge Howard M. Smith in the Chancery Court: Lenna M. Shirkey was granted a separation from Myley M. Shirkey. Shirkey made provisions for his wife and infant daughter, together with costs and expenses for the suit. The mother was granted custody of the child.

Irene Dodson Clark was granted an absolute divorce from Frank Anderson Clark. She was granted absolute and unconditional custody of the three infant children. He was ordered to pay $50 a month for maintenance of the children, or such amounts as he can during the time he is in the State penitentiary. Clark is now serving a three-year sentence for a criminal assault on his neice.

The bonded commissioners and sureties were discharged by the court in the following cases: Addie Connor against Charles V. Hyson, amount involved, $510; J. White Allan against Anna M. Morris, for $700; Harry Daniels against Frank Daniels, for $950; Crane Co., Inc., against W. A. Hummer, for $4,050. The accounts in the above cases were closed by the comcase of Edward I. Young against Mary missioners prior to the discharge. The K. Young was ordered stricken from the docket when the commissioner in the case reported that he had paid to Napoleon A. Young $923.82, as he had become of age.

Loudoun Budget Provides Bridges

Fund for Children's Home Gains Increase of $50 Per Year.

Special to The Washington Post.

Leesburg, Va., March 28.—The county board of supervisors met here today and adopted a tentative budget for the county. The annual appropriation to the Children's Home was increased from $200 to $250.

The board decided to let a contract for widening the street from the hotel to the intersection of King and Market streets in Leesburg. The sum of $500 was appropriated to build a bridge over a creek near the home of Henry Taylor on the road from Hamilton to the intersection of the Hughesville-Lincoln road. Another bridge was ordered built over the Catoctin Creek near Catoctin Church not to cost more than $1,000. The county school board was authorized to borrow $9,000 for adding to and remodeling the present school building at Round Hill.

Under the Porter-Rhodes bill, Loudoun County is entitled to 19.33 miles of road to be taken into the State highway system. The board selected nine miles of road beginning at the Virginia-Maryland State line and south to the State road at Wheatland, and also the stretch of road beginning near Gilbert's filling station and south 5½ miles to the Loudoun-Prince William County line. The remaining mileage will be considered at another meeting of the board.

FOUR TO KEEP JOBS BY POLITICAL COUP

Annapolis Water Board Retains Them on Eve of Chairman's Deposal.

MAYOR TO FIGHT ACTION

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., March 28.—Four employes of the Annapolis Water Board were saved tonight at a special meeting of that body, called by President Hugh R. Riley, newspaper man, who will go out of office tomorrow.

With Annapolis having its first Republican mayor in years in Walter E. Quenstedt, employes of the water company were almost certain to be deposed in July, as the appointment of the water board president rests with the mayor, and T. Roland Brown, Republican, has been named to succeed Riley, effective April 1. The Republican party will come into majority power on Monday.

Realizing this, the water board on March 6 changed its by-laws, enabling the body to appoint its employes in March instead of July. On March 10 the city council approved of the change.

The water board is composed of five members, namely, the mayor, president, city counselor, a member of the minority, member of the city council and one elective member.

While the new water board, which assumes office on Monday, can again change the company's by-laws, the city council, which is overwhelmingly Democratic, would not likely approve of the change. Under the incorporation laws such appreval is necessary.

Mayor Quenstedt and Alderman Charles Oliver, Republican member of the present board, did not attend tonight's session, President Riley, Counselor George B. Woelfel and G. B. Bright conducting the meeting, which lasted about three minutes and which lacked comment.

The trio reelected the following and adjourned: Secretary and treasurer, Dr. Frank S. Thompson, father of Alderman Thompson; collector, J. Henry Peller; assistant general manager, Thomas H. Stinchcomb, and engineer, William J. Engle.

Mayor Quenstedt has announced that he will contest the action at once and take it to court, on the grounds that amending the by-laws is illegal and requires an act of the Legislature. The act has made the water board a political football, Mayor Quenstedt said.

Twelve years ago five directors were named for the water board to keep it out of politics.

Dry Agent's Automobile Is Blasted by Dynamite

Roanoke, Va., March 28 (A.P.).—Placing a stick of dynamite in the motor of an automobile parked in the garage of Samuel White, Federal prohibition agent, a man early this morning set off an explosion which blew garage and car to pieces and shattered windows in many hotises of the block.

The dynamiter was heard running along the walk a few seconds before the explosion occurred. A woman was hurled out of her bed, furniture overturned and property damaged.

Ordination Service Set.

Purcellville, Va., March 28 (Special).—Ordination services for deacons will be held at the Purcellville Baptist Church Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, following which the ordinance of baptism will be administered. The Rev. C. Wirt Trainham will preach the sermon; the Rev. C. T. Taylor will lead the ordination prayer, and the Rev. Fletcher Ford, of Upperville, will deliver the charge to the deacons. There will be special music.

BUS FARE INCREASE IRKS ALEXANDRIANS

Citizens Confer With May, but No Agreement Is Reached.

RADIO STATION TO OPEN

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
312 S. Washington St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

The committee of citizens selected at a meeting held in the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday to confer yesterday with Robert L. May, owner of the A. B. & W. bus line and the recent purchaser of the Washington-Alexandria Electric Railway, in regard to an adjustment of passenger fares recessed late yesterday afternoon without having reached an agreement, and will meet again at 1 o'clock this afternoon to again discuss the matter.

Before the meeting convened yesterday, announcement was made to several newspaper representatives present that they would not be allowed in the meeting, and at the conclusion of their deliberations the committee would issue a statement containing such facts and figures as they deemed advisable to make public, or as to the form of agreement that has been reached as to the best adjustment of the traffic situation.

The committee which conferred with Mr. May and his auditors, G. R. Snyder and Harrison Embardt, for the bus line and the railway, respectively, is composed of Frank W. Noxon, Harry F. Kennedy, John Barton Phillips, Benedict Weil and George P. Downham, to which the city council added Councilman Carroll Pierce, City Manager Wallace Lawrence and City Attorney Carl Budwesky. At a mass meeting held in the Elks' auditorium Thursday night, the names of J. Fred Birrell, Alexandria delegate to the Virginia General Assembly, and Harry H. Newton, an expert accountant, were added to the committee, but Mr. May is understood to have objected to their inclusion, and they did not meet with the committee.

It is understood that the result of the meeting yesterday was a complete deadlock; that Mr. May and his auditors presented figures and readily answered all questions asked by the committee, but that no common ground was found upon which to base an agreement as to the rates of passenger fare to be charged which would be fair to both the transportation companies and the traveling public.

Mr. May is said to have purchased the Washington-Alexandria Railway, which has been operating at a loss, for $262,000, with the intention of operating that in conjunction with his bus line in such a manner as to earn a profit on the operation. On March 1 the line between Alexandria and Mount Vernon was abandoned, having been sold to the Government as a part of the Mount Vernon Memorial boulevard for a sum understood to be $150,000. Mr. May assumed the operation of the electric line on March 20, and shortly thereafter filed legal notice that he would make application to the State Corporation Commission on April 8 for permission to increase the rates of fare not only between Alexandria and Washington but to intermediate points, the minimum rate to be 10 cents, instead of 5 cents, as at present, and the later proposed to sell eight tokens, good on either the bus or electric line between Alexandria and Washington, for $1.

A storm of protest greeted the announcement of the proposed new rates, and several meetings have been held to formulate plans for fighting the proposed increases before the corporation commission. At the mass meeting Thursday night it was announced that a committee composed of J. Fred Birrell, Harry H. Newton, Harry F. Kennedy, D. C. Book, Frank T. Quinn, Mrs. Charles M. Shepperson, John Barton Phillips and C. Aubrey Callahan would go to Richmond April 8 to appear before the corporation commission in opposition to the proposed increases.

The names of the 28 members of the Chamber of Commerce receiving the highest number of votes for membership on the new board of directors were announced yesterday by J. T. Preston, secretary of that body. These 28 names will be placed on a ballot which will be mailed out to the membership, probably tomorrow, and each member will strike out 14 and deposit the ballot in the box at the rooms of the chamber. The ballot box will be opened April 3, and the 14 members receiving the highest number of votes will be declared elected to the board of directors, the first seven to serve for two years, and the second seven for one year.

The new directors meet on April 7 and elect officers for the ensuing year.

The 28 names selected by the membership as nominees, in alphabetical order rather than according to votes received are D. C. Book, Gardner L. Boothe, Robert G. Carter, George F. Downham, L. H. Dudley, Francis H. Fannon, H. E. Gentry, Fred C. Goodnow, John G. Graham, Harry Hammond, A. W. Higgins, Elliott F. Hoffman, O. H. Hullings, Robert S. Jones, Robert L. Kane, Charles W. King, F. Clinton Knight, Clyde C. Lamond, J. William May, Frank W. Noxon, John Barton Phillips, Carroll Pierce, W. A. Smoot, C. Page Waller, J. A. Ward, Benedict Weil and George E. Warfield.

The ballot box will be opened at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning and closed at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Radio Station WJSV, which recently established a studio in the Doniphan Building, King and Columbus streets, will have its official opening today, with a program arranged by Station Director James P. McGrath, and several citizens have been invited to make short talks after 6:30 o'clock.

The station is owned and operated by the Independent Publishing Co., and James S. Vance is president. Other officials are Col. Charles I. Stengle, general counsel; Charles D. Shackelford, chairman of advisory committee; J. P. McGrath, station director, and Miss Lucille Watford, secretary.

City Manager Wallace Lawrence has ordered repairs made to the city's section of the lower road. The city authorities had intended starting work on this road after the completion of the widening and resurfacing in the county by the State Highway Commission, but the work is progressing so slowly that repairs will have to be made at once.

George Norman Davis, 34 years old, of 107 Prince street, died yesterday morning at the Alexandria Hospital. The deceased was an ironworker. He was the son of the late Capt. George Davis. Besides his wife he is survived by five children.

The funeral of Mrs. Mollie V. Shuman, who died on Tuesday, was held yesterday from St. Mary's Catholic Church, conducted by the Rev. M. J. Cannon, formerly assistant pastor of the local church, but now of Manassas. Pallbearers were C. Page Waller, John G. Graham, B. Weil, John Hough, Francis Fannon and Edgar Warfield, jr.

Funeral services for John T. DeVaughan, who died Thursday, will be conducted at the home of his brother, Samuel D. DeVaughan, 1018 Mount Vernon avenue, Potomac, by the Rev. D. L. Snyder, pastor of the M. E. Church South, and interment will be in the Southern Methodist Cemetery.

Daily O'Currences

By JOHN DALY

LUELLA was frantically searching through a lot of old newspapers.

"What's the matter now?" I asked. "What're you looking for, an ad, or something."

She ignored me.

"If I were you, Luella, I certainly wouldn't bother with those old newspapers, you know——"

"I know," she said, "I ought to have my secretary do it—but I haven't got a secretary——"

"You'll catch the 'flu' if you don't stop stooping over that way, breathing——"

* * * *

SHE stood up, levelled a cool, calculating glance in my direction.

"Why don't you go downtown to one of the newspaper offices and look over the files——?" I asked.

"The files? Whattuh they do with files in newspaper offices? You must mean carpenter shops—files and saws."

"Tell me what it is you're looking for, and I'll search the files for you," I agreed, magnanimously, "when I go downtown——"

"You'll search the files?"

"Certainly, look 'em over—the want ads, or the society columns, or whatever it is interests you. Are you reading a continued story, or something like that?"

* * * *

CAUGHT off her guard, the secret popped out.

"I'm reading the life of——"

"No!"

"Yes," she admitted, "I am, and I missed the third installment. So——"

"So, you expect me to go searching through the files for that, eh? Well, *..:!%! well, *..:!%!"

Luella walked up to me like an elephant charging the Prince of Wales. She waved a newspaper as she advanced.

"Who asked you to go searching through any files?" she shot, defiantly. "I've found what I want. Here it is."

Sure enough, she had the missing installment. Before I could say another word she was slumped in the only occasional chair handy, reading the love life of her favorite hero.

Quietly, gently, I shut the door, put on my hat and coat, and slipped downtown to the club.

$800,000 BUDGET SIGNED BY COUNTY

Tax Rate in Prince Georges Reduced to $1.35 for Each $100.

TEACHERS WILL MEET

The Prince Georges County commissioners yesterday signed the annual levy for the county and announced a reduction of 1 cent in the tax rate. The tax rate for the new fiscal year will be $1.35 per each $100 real and personal property.

The reduction climaxes a year of studied economy and budget paring by the county commissioners, who had the reduction in mind since the beginning of the last year and have worked steadily toward that end.

The reduction was accomplished in spite of the fact that the budget carries approximately $60,000 more in appropriations than last year when the rate was fixed at $1.36 per $100. This was made possible by the fact that surplus funds have accumulated in the past year, making the reduction possible. The budget for this year is slightly in excess of $800,000. The budget for 1929 totaled $787,000.

Items which make the budget larger include $23,000 for interest on lateral road bonds and $13,000 additional for the school budget. Two items which had been recommended by the board of education, high school bus lines and an addition to the Beltsville School, were disapproved by the commissioners. It was said that the addition probably will be provided for at a later date if its erection is found to be absolutely necessary. The estimated cost of the addition was $8,000.

The four bus lines disapproved were: Mitchellville to Marlboro, Accokeek to Oxon Hill School, Youngs Store to Marlboro Colored High School and Fort Foot to Oxon Hill. It had been estimated that these routes would cost approximately $3,500.

Meetings will be held Monday by the principals of the county high schools and the first, second and third grade teachers of the graded schools. It was announced yesterday by Nicholas Orem, superintendent of schools.

The high school principals will meet Monday evening at the Capitol Park Hotel in Washington for dinner and a discussion of school problems. The graded school teachers will meet Monday morning at the Spencer Street Elementary School, Hyattsville. Miss I. Jewel Simpson, assistant State superintendent of schools, will address the gathering at 11 o'clock. The meeting was called by Miss Mary Kemp, county graded schools supervisor, and details of the meeting are being arranged by Mrs. H. M. Sturgis, supervising principal of the Hyattsville elementary schools.

Christian Endeavor societies of the various Prince Georges County churches will meet Friday in the First Presbyterian Church at Hyattsville. The meeting will begin at 8 o'clock in the evening. Mrs. D. Hobart Evans and Miss Angela Peter are in charge of the program. Mrs. Evans is wife of the pastor of the church in which the meeting is to be held.

Hidden Money Awarded To Heirs of Woman

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., March 28.—A jury in the Pittsylvania Circuit Court at Chatham has recorded its verdict in the double claim laid on $6,000, recently found secreted in three tin cans in a closet at the home of the late Robert Layne, farmer.

The issue in court was whether the hoard of money belonged to the estate of Layne or to Miss Annie Susan Dalton, a relative, who had lived with the family for many years and who is also dead. The jury found that the money was hers and her heirs, numbering 25, will divide the amount. No appeal was taken.

MARYLAND BANDITS SOUGHT IN CAPITAL

Baltimore Watchman Foils Attempt of Armed Trio to Rob Bank.

THUGS ELUDE POLICE

A sensational attempt by five armed bandits to hold up the Citizens Savings Bank, in downtown Baltimore, at noon yesterday led Washington police to guard all roads from nearby Maryland in order to trap the gunmen, who last were seen streaking toward this city in an automobile bearing a Virginia license plate.

While every effort was exerted by police, principally in the outlying precincts, to obtain a trace of the machine, no car resembling its description had been sighted during the vigil, which began a few minutes after Baltimore authorities had telephoned that the bandits apparently, in their wild dash from the bank had slipped through the cordon thrown out by Baltimore police.

Entering the bank quietly at noon while only three or four patrons were transacting business, the five thugs walked to the center of the lobby floor where one of their number suddenly leaped on a marble counter, whipped out a .45-caliber revolver and covered two of the bank's employes. As the four others sprang forward, an elderly watchman, John Simms, ran from a spot in the rear and floored one of the thugs with a blackjack as the man started to vault over a counter. Simms ducked behind a vault door as the man jumped to his feet and fired a charge from a sawed-off shotgun which splattered against the vault door without injuring Simms.

The watchman slid across the floor beneath a desk ledge and pressed a button sounding off a street alarm. The stick-up men halted in their tracks, then turned to walk leisurely out the front door and into a machine, with motor humming, at the curb. The car disappeared around the corner at Baltimore and Eutaw streets a few moments before police reached the scene.

School Building Offered To Danville by Board

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., March 28.—The city school board has offered to the municipal authorities the R. E. Lee School for conversion into a market, auditorium and city auditorium. The board desires to abandon the school because of the steady encroachment on it of business property.

Today a local committee representing the militia companies was in Petersburg and Richmond inspecting armory facilities in both places.

ZONING IS OPPOSED BY WOMEN VOTERS

Delegation Plans to Call Upon Arlington County Chiefs Today.

LYON VILLAGE ACTIVITIES

ARLINGTON COUNTY.
BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Having adopted resolutions opposing changes which have been made to the zoning ordinance prior to its adoption, the Organized Women Voters of Arlington County will be represented at the regular meeting of the county board of supervisors today by a large delegation which will voice the sentiments of the organization.

The organization opposes the changes which have been made by the board in reference to the property along the Lee Highway from the Key Bridge and extending and including the Greathouse property, which has been zoned heavy industrial from light industrial, and in the vicinity of the Highway Bridge, which has been changed from residential B to light industrial.

Another delegation is interested in efforts to have the county board of supervisors provide for erection of a new county jail.

It is understood that the board will today consider the tentative budget which as been prepared and make arrangements for holding a special hearing.

Attention of the taxpayers of Arlington County is called to the fact that all poll taxes must be paid on or before May 5 in order that persons otherwise qualified to vote can take part in the Democratic primary which will be held in August for selection of a Democratic candidate for Congress.

In the 1928 presidential election the total vote exceeded 6,000. If all persons who are otherwise qualified vote; the total vote this year will reach close to the 10,000 mark.

Sheriff Howard B. Fields yesterday turned over to Assistant Attorney General of Virginia E. H. Gibson and State Prohibition Inspector J. N. Wood 250 quarts of liquor.

The liquor, which was taken to Richmond in an automobile, had been stored in the county jail for more than a year.

The County Health Department yesterday gave out the following list of five-point health children, by schools: Cherrydale—Grade 1, Francis Van Doren, Gordon Zimmerman; Grade 2, Anne Hathaway, William Ward and Ernest Davis; Grade 3, Robert Herman, William King, Marion Bunch, and Dora Addison; Grade 4, Madine Davis, Robert Brenman and Robert Thomas; Grade 5, Alan Beall, Curtis Dye, William Pardoe, Dorothy Rollins, Russell Harrison and Lola Mangum; Grade 6, Audrey Williams, Eleanor Stewart, Hazel Spates, Mary Smith, Edna Stewart, Forest Wiseman, Kenneth Peck, Eva Miller, Cleland Reid, Polly Wetzel, Elizabeth Doe and Richard Bennett.

Barcroft School—Grade 1, Catherine Culbert, Viola Rhine, Sherley Morgan, Joseph Reynolds; Grade 2, Melvin Howard, Margaret Sheck, Jane Watts, and Evelyn Conner; Grade 4, Hattie Tillett; Grade 5, Eyre Damer, Leverett Payne, Charles Tillett, Frances Kent, Elizabeth Maupin; Grade 6, Earl Soper.

The monthly meeting of the Arlington County Civic Federation will be held Tuesday night in the Lyon Park Community House at 8 o'clock.

Final arrangements for the annual banquet to be given Saturday night at Arlington Hall will be completed.

The executive committee of the Lyon Village Citizens Association met last night at the home of the president, Robert F. Freer, and voted to work for erection of a community house in the near future. It was reported that a portion of the funds necessary has already been raised and the remainder needed to carry out the project will be raised by means of donations, entertainments and carnivals.

The committee voted to hold its annual carnival this year during the week of July 4. The proceeds will apply on the community house fund. The carnival will be conducted under the supervision of the community house committee, of which Louis C. Carl is the chairman. He will be assisted by C. W. Clever, C. B. Long, C. D. James, J. N. Rice, C. [illegible] Harris, and P. Griffin, together with members of the executive committee.

The president announces the appointment of the following standing committees for the year: Roads and sidewalks, William Medley, chairman; I. C. Buchanan, Harold E. Stelle; community house, Louis C. Carl, chairman; S. Groome Eareckson, Mrs. Robert Freer and C. W. Clever; entertainment, Mrs. Joseph Haley, chairman; Charles Hiller, Mrs. Henry Young, J. K. Marshall, Mrs. I. C. Buchanan, Mrs. Robert Freer and Mrs. William Medley; law and legislation, Robert N. Anderson, chairman; William Medley, Henry Young and Walter U. Varney; public utilities, Henry Young, chairman; I. C. Buchanan and Joseph Haley; city planning and zoning, Monroe H. Stockett, chairman; G. L. Pecore, C. B. Long, A. A. Vaughan and William Goodrick; publicity, I. C. Buchanan, chairman; P. P. Morgan, Rex Collier and A. M. Wawson; public health, A. A. Vaughan, chairman; Louis C. Carl, Clarence Croft and Mrs. Harold E. Stelle; membership, H. P. Smith, chairman; Monroe H. Stockett, Mrs. H. P. Smith, Mrs. Louis C. Carl, Mrs. Joseph Haley, C. W. Clever and J. N. Rice; constitution and by-laws, Walter U. Varney, chairman; Robert N. Anderson and William Medley; recreation, S. Groome Eareckson, jr., chairman; S. Groome Eareckson, sr., and F. Steig; education, Joseph Haley, chairman; Mrs. Joseph Haley, Mrs. Monroe H. Stockett, the Rev. Perry L. Mitchell and Mrs. M. N. McKnight.

Henry Actie and Leon Harris, both giving their address as Washington, arrested yesterday by Officers Ray Cobean and Deputy Sheriff Harry L. Woodyard on charges of transporting alleged liquor, will be given a hearing today before Justice of the Peace Bryan Gordon.

Police Judge Harry R. Thomas, who, for the past week, has been confined to his home, was reported last night as greatly improved and hopes to be at his office next week.

The ladies of the Ballston Presbyterian Church announce they will serve a chicken dinner at the church Thursday night from 5 to 7:30 o'clock.

Services at St. George's Episcopal Church tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock will be conducted by the rector, the Rev. Henry J. Miller. In the evening the choir, with the rector, will go to the Church of the Holy Comforter, at Vienna, where the evening service will be conducted. The choir will sing the cantata, "Penitence, Pardon and Peace," by Maunder.

There will be a meeting of the Ladies Guild of St. George's Episcopal Church at the Rectory Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The Brotherhood of St. Andrews of Grace Episcopal Church will meet at the church tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock with H. C. Roberts as director.

One Casket Holds Four Gas Victims

Girls Killed by Gas While in Frederick to Be Buried Today.

Special to The Washington Post.

Frederick, Md., March 28.—In a single casket, the bodies of the four small sisters whose lives were snuffed out here yesterday by gas will be buried at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in Mount Olivet Cemetery in services to be conducted at its chapel by the Rev. William C. Royal, pastor of the First Baptist Church.

The girls, the children of Lester and Mrs. LeRue Shields, of Boyds, Montgomery County, are Mary Lucille, 8 years old; Myrtle Estelle, 5 years old; Elsie Yvonne, 3 years old, and Helen, 16 months old. The four sisters were asphyxiated here while playing with a gas kitchen range in a home where they had been taken by their mother yesterday after she had been engaged in a quarrel with her husband at Boyds.

Although Justice of the Peace Sherman P. Bowers, as acting coroner, announced that the deaths were accidental and that no inquest would be necessary, he declared that Frederick police desired to question Shields briefly. Shields visited Frederick for a short while today to view the bodies and said he would return for the funeral tomorrow, but he was not summoned by police.

BIBLE CONFERENCE PROGRAM OUTLINED

Series of Nine Periods Seen for Annual Massanetta Springs Session.

NOTED SPEAKERS LISTED

Special to The Washington Post.

Harrisonburg, Va., March 28.—A series of nine periods is provided on the program of the annual Massanetta Springs Summer Bible Conference, operated at the former summer resort 4 miles east of here, it is announced by Dr. William E. Hudson, conference manager.

The conference season opens on June 30 with the intermediate boys and girls camp. Young peoples' conferences of three denominations then follow—the Methodist, July 7-13; the Presbyterian, July 15-21; and the Lutheran, July 23-29.

Then comes the annual meeting of the Synodical of Virginia, the Presbyterian woman's organization, July 30-August 1, followed by the auxiliary training school and the school of church music, August 1-10. The men's conference, August 8-12, precedes the Bible conference proper, which is in session the final two weeks of the program, August 11 to 24.

Among those who will appear on the Bible conference program are Dr. John A. Hutton, editor of the British Weekly, and formerly pastor of Westminister Chapel; Dr. Lionel Fletcher, of Australia, recently called to head a youth movement in London; Dr. John Stuart Holden, of the China Inland Mission; Dr. Charles E. Jefferson, pastor of the Broadway Tabernacle, New York; Dr. Robert E. Speer, secretary of foreign missions of the Northern Presbyterian Church; Dr. Arthur Moore, Birmingham, and Rev. William H. Leach, editor of Church Management.

The conference grounds are being improved with the installation of a sewer system, which will facilitate erection of additional cottages, an ornamental wall and the widening of the driveway which leads off the Spotswood Trail to the grounds.

Father Driving Truck Causes His Son's Death

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., March 28.—John Russell Hearton, 5 years old, son of Thomas J. Hearton, Wiley Ford, 1 mile below Cumberland, was killed today at his father's garage when he was caught between a truck and the building.

Mr. Hearton had brought in a truck load of coal and had warned the boy to keep out of the way. While backing the machine to dump it, the lad, unknown to the father, ran behind and was caught. The father found him when he went back to dump the coal. The boy's skull was fractured.

VIRGINIA FARMERS PLAN CROP INCREASE

Gains Intended in Corn, Oats, Barley, Tobacco and Potatoes Report Shows.

DECREASE IN PEANUTS

Richmond, Va., March 28 (A.P.).—Intended acreage of the principal crops in Virginia as reported by nearly 1,000 farmers to the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service shows an increase this year over last year in the acreage of corn, oats, barley, tobacco, potatoes, sweet potatoes, cowpeas, soybeans and tame hay, a considerable decrease in the acreage of peanuts and a slight decrease in flue-cured tobacco, it was announced here tonight in a statement by Henry M. Taylor, agricultural statistician.

The acreage actually planted will be largely determined by weather conditions and prices, and therefore may be somewhat different from present intentions, said the statement. Potatoes and tobacco, the two most important money crops in the State, show a slight increase as compared with 1929, and while the total acreage of tobacco will be increased, the statemnet pointed out, the flue-cured growers plan to make a slight reduction due to unsatisfactory prices received for the 1929 crop.

Corn Acreage Increase Shown.

Continuing, the statement said:

"Virginia farmers report an intended acreage of corn of about 2 per cent larger than last year. Such an increase would give an acreage of 1,552,000, which is smaller than the acreage two years ago. Weather conditions during the winter and spring were generally favorable for plowing, so farmers have been able to prepare most of the land intended for corn.

"The early potato acreage is reported to be 7 per cent above the 1929 acreage but still below the large acreage of 1928. Farmers plan to increase the late crop about 14 per cent which would give a total acreage of 145,000, compared with 132,000 last year and 151,000 in 1928.

"Virginia growers plan to increase the sweet potato acreage about 5 per cent, but most of the increase will be in the noncommercial section.

Prices Are Controlling Factor.

"Virginia tobacco growers appear to have been influenced by prices recevied for last
